

DENY BOYCOTT IS PROPOSED IN NRA CAMPAIGN

Merely 'Asking Support of Stores That Are Putting Pledge in Effect.'

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Official interpretations of additional questions raised in connection with President Roosevelt's voluntary re-employment agreements:

Q—Is the government asking a boycott of stores which do not display the NRA blue eagle?
A—No. The NRA is asking support of stores which put the agreements into effect. At the same time it is asking consideration for small employers, who may not be able to make the necessary adjustments immediately.

Q—Will a blue eagle be accorded simply on a promise to "conform" to the agreement?

A—No. The blue eagle will be bestowed only upon compliance with the agreement.

What of "Chiselers"?

Q—How will the government be able to tell the difference between "chiselers" and persons who honestly put the agreement into effect?

A—Through results of a questionnaire now in process of preparation.

Q—What allowance is made for small manufacturers, who financially are unable to put increased wages into effect?

A—The NRA is committed to a flexible administration. Action of banks in pleading a sympathetic attitude toward loan applications would tend to air plants and business houses to "take up the slack" between increased costs and improved business.

Q—How has this "flexible" administration been illustrated?

A—In modifications granted retail stores, banks, electrical manufacturers and others, permitting them to operate under modified conditions of wages and hours until their own costs are approved.

About Part-Time Worker

Q—Will stores accustomed to make seasonal reductions in hours be forced to conform with the fifty-two-hour minimum specified in Paragraph 2?

A—No. The hours may be reduced if the reduction is in accordance with past practices and does not result in reduction of the weekly pay of employees.

Q—Do boys and girls in curb service stores come under the minimum wage provision?

A—Yes. The workers also must be at least 16 years old to work more than three hours a day, after Aug. 31. This, according to the generally accepted interpretation, may count as part of the pay.

Q—Must a part-time worker be paid the minimum pay as if he worked a full week?

A—The minimum wage for a part-time worker is a wage such that if the employee worked at that wage for a full week of forty hours he would receive the minimum weekly wage.

U. S. MAKES CLAIM ON A. R. ERSKINE ESTATE

Collection of $285,604.37 Delinquent Income Tax Sought in Suit.

By United Press

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 3.—A claim for $285,604.37 in delinquent federal income tax payments was on file in St. Joseph county superior court today against the estate of Albert R. Erskine, former president of the Studebaker Corporation who recently committed suicide.

The claim was filed by the internal revenue department and asks for the tax an interest for 1925, 1926 and 1932.

The United States board of tax appeals in May, 1932, ordered Erskine to pay a deficiency of $732,000. An agreement was reached shortly before Erskine's death whereby he was to make yearly payments of $70,000 each for ten years.

Erskine's fortune at one time was estimated at $15,000,000, but when he died it was believed to have dwindled to $100,000.

POSTAL RECEIPTS DROP

July Decrease of 6.57 Per Cent Under 1932 Is Shown in City.

Total receipts of the Indianapolis postoffice for July were 6.57 per cent below the figure for July, 1932, Leslie Clancy, postmaster, said today.

Last month's receipts were $286,541.50, compared with $306,710.47 a year ago. The decrease was due largely to the 1-cent stamp increase, said Clancy.

The 2-cent intra-city rate has failed to increase stamp sales, he declared.

FEDERAL AIDS NAMED

Two Are Appointed to Posts in U. S. Revenue Department.

Two appointments in the internal revenue department have been announced by William H. Smith, collector of internal revenue.

Charles L. McDorman will serve as chief of the field division and William F. Kiley will head the audit division.

McDorman succeeds Charles A. Lloyd and Kiley takes the place of Otis McGaughey.

Gone, but Not Forgotten

Automobiles reported to police as stolen belong to:

Ray D. Haase, 1425 Udel street, Ford sedan found at Madison avenue and Twenty-ninth street.

James Langford, 459 North Rural street, Plymouth sedan, found at 3200 Orchard avenue, stripped of battery, spare tire, door handle and tail light.

NINE DAYS' CAPTIVITY 'A LIFETIME'

"It seemed a lifetime," sighed Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire, as he discussed with his wife the nine days' captivity from which kidnapers had just released him when the above picture was made in his Oklahoma City home.

Yea, Nira!

NRA Gives Hope to Women Waiting Back Support Now.

THE women are giving another little lady called NIRA a great big hand at the juvenile support window in the Marion county courthouse.

NIRA, and her pay-raising efforts under the blue eagle, is turning disgruntled matrons who sit on the support room's benches and hope that their husbands have "support money this week" into smiles.

"We're feeling the national recovery act, or at least those who depend on this office for monetary support are feeling it. And we believe it'll show more and more later on," says Miss Mabel Mather and Mrs. Katherine DeMiller, in charge of the juvenile support room.

Men back on support payments are expected to begin payments of money allotted wives following divorce suits or juvenile maintenance orders.

125 FLORISTS IN PICNIC

State Event Is Held Wednesday at Broad Ripple Park.

Indiana florists attended the picnic given by the Allied Florists of Indianapolis in Broad Ripple park Wednesday. More than 125 persons attended.

Games and contests were held in the afternoon. There was a basket dinner at night. In charge of the arrangements were Miss Rose Brandelett, chairman; William E. Morris, E. A. Nelson, Mrs. Laura Greene, Fred Ross and Clara Benson.

CLUB TO HEAR LECTURE

Talk on Birds to Be Given Before Nature Study Group.

Samuel E. Perkins will give an illustrated lecture on birds before the Nature Study club at "Haverway," the home of Mrs. J. N. Carey, Eighty-sixth street and Williams creek, Saturday afternoon.

Trees, flowers, butterflies and birds will be studied at the summer outing of the club. After an outdoor supper, Perkins will show lantern slides of birds he has photographed and studied at the Haverway estate.

ONWARD WITH CHURCH; TIMES TO TELL STORY

Series of Articles to Show Why Attendance Here Is Growing.

mon on a Sunday as well as conducts the work of one church in this city.

Onward into the church moves nearly 5,000 young people enacting annually the scenes from Bible history on modern stages in modern churches.

Onward into the great vested men and boy choirs of the Episcopal churches march hundreds of others engaged in the "ministry of music." Onward into the great choir of St. Peter and Paul Cathedral move singers who not only have city, but national fame.

Onward into a church moves a congregation to music played by a great blind organist who has memorized thousands of hymns.

Onward and ever onward march all congregations, pastors, priests and teachers as a determined army for the successful operation of the national industrial act.

Onward to the greatest church attendance Marion county ever has had in face of a vote which added to the vote for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Why? Indianapolis leaders in many churches have not only an explanation but an answer.

Onward march thousands into millions of non-taxable church and school properties.

Church days in Indianapolis have changed. How? Even during the depression has the "wolf" been from the steps of the church by a determined church membership, but kept away from the collection plate.

How was all this accomplished? The answers will be found in this church series in The Times.

Next—Church Cavalcade of Indianapolis.

Contract Bridge

BY W. E. M'KENNEY

Secretary American Bridge League

IS psychic bidding still used by the better players at contract bridge? Yes, but of course not nearly so much as it was a year or so ago.

Then, psychic bids were made to throw the opponents off the track—to stop them from reaching game—to keep them from getting into the right suit. But with modern bidding methods perfected as they are, it is seldom that a psychic bid will deceive a good player.

However, there are certain types of psychic bids that pay large dividends when used at the proper time.

Take for example the following hand which came up during a recent tournament at Erie, Pa. East and West were using the constructive one over one system, while North and South were not. North and South were vulnerable—East and West were not.

South opened the bidding with one spade, West passed. North bid two clubs. From East's diamond holding, it certainly looked to him as though the hand was not going to be played at no trump.

West had not doubted the one spade which would show heart strength, therefore East felt that his partner's strength was concentrated in spades and diamonds.

What could he do to stop the opponents from successfully making a game, or possibly a slam?

East finally decided to bid two no trump. This was purely a psychic bid, made not to deceive the opponents, but rather to try to direct a lead from his partner. South, with his club holding, immediately and jumped to four spades, which bought the contract.

♠ 5	♥ K-7-3-2	♦ 8-6-5	♣ A-Q-8-6-5-3
♠ A-9-8	♥ Q-9-8	♦ A-9-3-2	♣ 10-7-4
♠ 10-7-4	♥ 10-6-5	♦ K-Q-10-7-5-4	♣ 9
♠ K-Q-J-10-7-2	♥ A-J-4	♦ J	♣ K-J-2

West was in the lead. His partner had bid two no trump over clubs—there must have been a reason for this. Therefore, West selected the club opening, which South won with the jack.

South led the king of spades. West went right in with his ace and led another club, which East trumped with the four of spades. The king of diamonds was returned, and West overtook with the ace in order to lead another club, giving his partner another ruff. This was the trick that defeated the contract.

Without the psychic bid it is doubtful that West would have led a club, and without the club lead five odd can easily be made.

PHONE SYSTEM ALTERATION IS NEARING FINISH

Southport, Beech Grove Being Shifted Under Drexel Exchange.

Within three weeks, the Indiana Bell Telephone Company will have completed the transfer of all Southport and Beech Grove telephone subscribers to the Drexel exchange, it was learned today.

Work on the project has been under way for some time, and the Southport transfer was completed a week ago. Work now is completed partially in Beech Grove and will be finished in about two or three weeks, it was said by the phone officials.

The work is being done line by line, and phone numbers changed as each "cut-over" is made. Both Southport and Beech Grove previously have been operated from exchanges in the two communities, via the suburban exchange.

It is believed possible that in the next two years, the telephone company successfully may effect the transfer of all suburban lines to city exchanges.
