DENISON RAZING TO BE STARTED IN THIRTY DAYS

Filling Station, Terminal to Occupy Site of Old Hostelry.

Work of razing the old Denison hotel, Indianapolis' leading hostelry in the gay 90s, will start within thirty days. Norman A. Perry, co-owner, advised the zoning commission Monday, when permission was given to remove the building, and erect a temporary parking bus, and filling station on the site.

Permission to remove the structure because it was unable to pay taxes by more than $11,000 a year, and that because fire rate on the 'conflagration block' was $2.36 per $100, while other hotels in the downtown area paid only 31 cents," was asked in the petition, filed by Franz W. Fackler.

The zoning board also granted permission for erection of a filling station at Capitol avenue and Maple Road boulevard. This is a direct reversal of previous action by the board as all other attempts to erect filling stations on boulevards have met with defeat.

The Linwood Christian church was granted permission to lease part of its property at Linwood avenue and East Michigan street for a filling station following its promise to the board to pay taxes on the leased ground.

Chester L. Pollitt obtained permission to build seven chicken houses on the rear of his lot at 2121-29 North Sherman drive. Installation of three gasoline pumps in the rear of the northeast corner of Belle Vue place and Tenth street was granted to Frank Kersey.

Permission for the Standard Grocery Company to build two drive-in parking markets also was granted by the board. One market will be built at 1009 North Dearborn street, and the other at 6226 Bellefontaine street.
