ticularly vital, and even some of which were not taken up frankly at the London conference.

"It has been announced, for example, by Senators Thomas and Pittman, that the congress of the United States, at its next session, will take up thoroughly the problem of bimetallism. It would not, therefore, be either extraordinary or impossible to discuss at Montevideo the establishment of a general system of bimetallism for countries of the Pan-American union.

"To cite another example—at London, inter-governmental debts were proscribed frankly as a subject of discussion. But in accord with the express declaration of Mr. Chamberlin, the financial and monetary subcommittee, which continues to function, is dealing with foreign obligations contracted with private creditors, including certain state loans contracted in foreign markets.

"Neither then, would it be illogical or exceptional to introduce in the economic agenda at Montevideo certain points or concrete themes relative to the foreign debts of this continent, although naturally not referring to debts owed one government by another."

"These ideas are by no means exclusively Mexican's. We know that many other Latin American governments are preparing to suggest the addition of new themes in the agenda's economic chapter. If the tendency in this direction continues to grow, Mexico will add its effort to that of other interested countries to procure such modification of the agenda.

"But, we insist, we will do nothing which is not compatible with the sentiment, the thoughts or the general interest of Latin America."

DIESEL TO AFFECT TAX

Increased Use of Engine Studied at Gasoline Conference.

Diversions in gasoline tax revenue and the developments which may be expected from increased use of the Diesel engine with a non-taxable fuel under present laws, were the chief points discussed at the North American gasoline tax conference Wednesday at the Sevenir.

The meeting was to close today with election of officers. A tour of the state fair featured the afternoon program Wednesday.

Possibilities of the Diesel engine were discussed by Walter Reddy, chief of the Michigan law enforcement department, and Frank E. Packard, attorney, spoke on gasoline taxation.
