

MOVE TO END POLLUTION OF SYLVAN LAKE

State Aids Local Officials in Effort to Save Beauty Spot.

First steps toward saving beautiful Sylvan lake from the ravages of stream pollution were taken Monday by the state health department, in co-operation with local authorities.

The lake, shown by The Times survey to be polluted badly, is located in the heart of the Limberlost country made famous in the tales of the late Mrs. Gene Stratton Porter.

Dr. Verne K. Harvey, director of the state health department, received a wire from the mayor of Kendallville asking that the engineering department aid in a survey for a sewage disposal plant there. The city at present dumps all sewage into Sylvan lake.

Louis Geupel, chief engineer of the state health department, today dispatched an assistant engineer, Albert Ellis, to Kendallville so that the survey can get under way at once.

Plant Will Aid

An adequate sewage disposal plant in that city will aid greatly in clearing the lake, Geupel said.

Meanwhile, the statewide drive against stream pollution will continue, he declared.

Upon invitation of the president and the city council of Muncie, Geupel will address them regarding their sewage disposal problem Tuesday night. The state health department has had an order for Muncie to build a plant for years, but thus far little progress has been made.

More Action Planned

Other orders upon which enforcement is to be pushed more vigorously soon are pending at Ft. Wayne and Lawrenceburg, Geupel said.

Paul Kleiser, an assistant to Geupel, appeared before the Elkhardt county council to discuss sewage disposal plans that had already been voted down.

Stream pollution also was discussed at a meeting of the state conservation commission this morning and considerable progress in combating it was reported.

Cities, towns and manufacturers are co-operating in the work, it was said by officials.

'Jimmy' Delaney in Race for Sheriff Nomination

Deputy of 'Buck' Sumner First Democrat to Announce.

First candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Marion county sheriff in the 1934 primary was announced today by Patrick (Jimmy) Delaney, 2724 North Illinois street, a deputy under Sheriff Charles (Buck) Sumner.

Delaney has been active in Democratic political circles for a number of years, and formerly served as committeeman in the Fourth precinct of the old Fifth ward.

In 1914 he was campaign manager for his brother, Tom Delaney, who was elected justice of the peace. In 1920 Delaney was on the Democratic ticket for the legislature, but lost when the county ticket followed James Cox, presidential candidate, to defeat by former President Warren G. Harding.

Delaney's police experience includes four years' service with the local police and detective departments and five years with the Pennsylvania railroad.

He formerly was a linotype operator and is a member of the typographical union. He is a member of Elks lodge. Delaney was educated in local parochial schools and graduated from old St. John's high school.

RAVENSWOOD BOARD FAVERED BY COURT

Chance Remains to Win in Stump Case.

From all indications, the town board of Ravenswood is "stumped" on a legal question.

Temporarily, at least, the board was saved from default of a $265 judgment Monday through intervention of Superior Judge Clarence E. Weir.

The board is being sued for that amount by Marie C. Kay, who alleged when her automobile was damaged when it hit a stump in the road in Ravenswood, June 30.

Russell Duncan, local attorney, filed an appearance on behalf of the board as town attorney, but when no summary of the forthcoming, withdrew from the case.

Paul Schaeffer, attorney, for the plaintiff, asked for a default judgment Monday, but was overruled by Weir, who ordered each member of the town board notified of the impending default by registered mail.

Members of the board are Charles Ford, William Hugg and William Aaron.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETINGS DRAW LARGE AUDIENCE

Representatives at County Session From Thirty Congregations.

Meetings of the Marion County Christian Sunday School Association, which opened in the Olive Branch Christian church Monday night, are being attended by more than 300 persons representing thirty churches.

Progress made in Sunday school work during the last 100 years was traced by Dr. H. L. Pickrell, regional director of religious education for the Disciples of Christ, Monday night. He stressed the necessity and importance of supervision in modern school work.

H. B. Holloway, business manager of the United Christian Missionary Society, spoke on plans for the international convention of the Disciples of Christ in Pittsburgh, Oct. 11 to 16.

The West Side Christian Mission children's choir of sixty voices sang and the Rev. and Mrs. Virgil P. Brock sang several numbers on the night program.

The Rev. E. H. Lowe, pastor of the local church, who has a graded Sunday school building composed of eight rooms, took the guests on a tour of inspection at the close of the meeting.

The West Side Christian Mission was awarded first prize in attendance and the Vernon Place Christian church was second.

The Rev. E. H. Lowe, pastor of the local church, who has a graded

EARLY INCOME TAX PAYERS SEND CHECKS

Returns Made for July, August Instead of 3-Month Period.

Early taxpayers are sending checks for the second installment of their income tax covering receipts for July and August, instead of the three-month period, it was stated today at the office of Clarence A. Jackson, collector.

First payment was for May and June because the tax just had become effective, Jackson pointed out. But all quarterly payments, including the one due in October, must be for a three-month period, he explained.

October checks must cover July, August and September income.
