Contract Bridge

Today's Contract Problem

The following hand presents a good example of a new weapon in contract bridge. Study the hand carefully. Then decide what action you would take, if you were West, when South opened the contracting with one heart.

Solution to Previous Contract Problem

BY W. E. MCKENNEY
Secretary American Bridge League

WHILE it generally pays to ruff losing cards, there are times when this play must be avoided. I believe the following hand, which

Riley Hospital Worker to Be Guest at Tea

Card Section to Meet

Mrs. Sylvester Kasberg will be contracted this afternoon at a meeting of the 500 section of the Hoosier Athletic Club.

was played in the recent Pennsylvania State Championship Tournament, to be a very good example of this play.

South and West passed. North opening the contract with one club, South bid one heart. West bid two diamonds. North passed. East passed, and South bid two spades. West passed, and North bid three clubs. South bid three hearts, and North went to four hearts.

The opening lead was the king of diamonds. West next led a small heart which was won in the dummy with the eight. The queen of clubs was returned, and when East put on the king, South trumped with the nine of hearts.

NOW, instead of ruffing a diamond, the declarer led the ten of trump and won in dummy with the king. He next played the jack of clubs and discarded the eight of diamonds.

West won with the ace and cashed his ace of diamonds. He led another diamond which declarer won with the queen.

His only chance to make the contract was to find the hearts divided so he swung the ace and dropped the queen and seven.

Now all he had to do was to play to the dummy's king and discard the two losing spades on the good clubs.

If he had tried to ruff a diamond, he could not have made the hand. Copyright, 1933, by NEA Service, Inc.
