

GREENLEE IS RUINING PARTY, CRIES DRULEY

Disaster for Democrats Is Forecast by Senator in Letter.

Disaster for the Democratic party unless it gets rid of Pleas Greenlee, executive secretary of Governor Paul V. McNutt, was predicted today by State Senator Thollie W. Druley, Boston, Ind.

The senate, leader of the "rump session" last week, launched another attack on Mr. Greenlee, who has been charged with "insulting" senators calling on the Governor.

First public attack on Mr. Greenlee was made by Senator Druley at the "rump session," where he demanded immediate dismissal of the secretary.

Greenlee Hurls Charge
The chief patronage dispenser retaliated with the charge that Senator Druley, in calling the meeting, was acting at the direction of R. Earl Peters, state Democratic chairman, who is playing the role of Brutus to Governor McNutt's Caesar.

This statement, above all others, apparently is very, very much resented by Senator Druley, who is nothing if not an individualist.

"I am not a 'puppet,' nor will I permit you or any one else to slip a straight-jacket over me or put a gag in my mouth," is his answer to Mr. Greenlee, through the letter.

Denies Seeking Job
Continuing to exercise his cherished freedom of thought and speech, the frate senator denied that he sought a statehouse job and failed, which would list him in the category of "disappointed patronage seekers."

"It was my conviction that not one legislator would receive any kind of a job under the new reorganization law," Senator Druley wrote. "They built a fine public crib, and then proceeded to poke their own greedy claws inside and yank out the contents."

It is apparent from the letter that the Druley-Greenlee controversy is one not to be quieted easily, especially when the senator states "Greenlee's wings should have been clipped long ago, and the party might have been spared a lot of censure and humiliation."

"It doesn't require a man of wisdom to visualize what will be the fate of the party under such leadership," is the senator's parting shot. "When the blind lead the blind, they both will fall into the ditch."

Second Kroger Drive-In Market Formally Opened

Ernest C. Ropkey, City Council President, Aids Ceremony.

Formal ceremonies marked opening today of the second Kroger drive-in market at East Tenth street and Drexel avenue.

Ernest C. Ropkey, city council president, spoke, with Arthur W. Metzger, Indianapolis branch manager for the company, presiding.

The new market is almost identical with the first drive-in market opened by Kroger at Forty-sixth street and College avenue just a year ago. This was the first such market in the country, Kroger officials said.

One of the most attractive features of the new markets is the ample parking space provided, only a few steps from the grocery door.

First anniversary will be observed by the College avenue store starting tomorrow.

BRITAIN LAUNCHES NEW DREADNAUGHT OF AIR

Britannia, ruler of the waves, began a move to rule the airways, too, by launching at Brough, Yorkshire, England, the world's first flying battleship for her Royal Air Force.

Standing nearly 26 feet high, with a wing span of 97 feet, the giant ship (pictured below in side view) is the first plane to carry a gun capable of firing shells.

Captain Pynches is shown above at the ship's prow, manning the formidable gun which can deal 100 rounds of one-and-one-half-pound shells a minute. The aerial dreadnaught has a speed of 132 miles an hour.

Customs Agents Watch for Hitler Propaganda

Federal Men Join Hunt to Prevent Departure of Nazi Aid.

By United Press
NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—While federal agents kept close watch at metropolitan airports to prevent his departure, Heinz Spanknoebel's alleged activities as head of the German Nazi party's propaganda organization in the United States were being investigated by a federal grand jury today.

At the same time it became known that another federal agency—the customs office—has established a close surveillance over incoming vessels from German ports, to prevent the smuggling of Nazi literature into the country.

Spanknoebel, whose activities have been under sharp fire from both federal and municipal officials, disappeared several days ago, a short time before a federal warrant was issued for his arrest.

Spanknoebel, following his disappearance, was reported to have mailed a letter to associates, declaring he was leaving this country for good, and charging that he could not expect to obtain justice on the federal charge from "Jewish judges."

Meanwhile Representative Samuel Dickstein (Dem., N. Y.) is preparing data for his proposed congressional investigation of Nazi propaganda in the United States.

DAILEY CHOICE OF BAR GROUP FOR PRESIDENT

Nomination of Former U. S. Attorney Announced at Dinner.

The Indianapolis Bar Association will be headed by Frank C. Dailey, city safety board member, and former United States district attorney, as result of action at a joint dinner meeting last night of the bar association and the Lawyers Association of Indianapolis.

Mr. Dailey headed the list reported at the meeting by the nominating committee. Only one ticket is in the running for the committee and the official election will be in December.

In an address, George H. Batchelor attacked the NRA and alleged infringement by the national administration on state police powers.

Other names on the list reported at the meeting by the nominating committee included Chairman Paul G. Davis, Earl R. Conder, Telford B. Orison, Joseph G. Woods and Alan W. Boyd.

New members elected were James R. Chase, Alexander G. Cavins, Edward Galligan, L. W. Hornung, Robert A. Hendrickson, Louis E. Marine, L. W. Shoppe, Kelso Elliott, Carl E. Stillwell, Don H. Joss and Paul Devault.

Mr. Dailey will succeed Homer Elliott as president.
