MAN BEATEN WITH HAMMER IN THEFT DIES

Murder Charges May Be Filed Against Pair Under Arrest.

John Lagel, 55, who was beaten with a claw-hammer in his room at the Cicero hotel, Nov. 2, in an alleged attack by a man and woman, died at hospital today.

According to Captain Herbert Fletcher of the detective bureau, charges of murder will be filed against Howard Harding, 24, and his wife Emma, 24, held under $20,000 bonds, following alleged admissions that they attacked Mr. Lagel in an attempt to rob him.

Although, in his purported admission to detectives, Harding insists that he went to Mr. Lagel's room alone, Mrs. Harding's alleged statement, according to detectives, declares she accompanied her husband and attempted to gag Mr. Lagel when he resisted the attack.

Mr. Lagel was beaten and robbed of $40 in his room at the hotel Nov. 2.

According to detectives, the Hardings occupied the room next to his. Late at night, according to police, Harding came to visit Mr. Lagel and repay a quarter he had borrowed previously.

As Mr. Lagel accepted the money,

$100 Vote

Lone Ballot in District Cast by N. Y. Rabbi.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Dr. Nathan Wolf, rabbi at the Times Square Center synagogue and the only registered voter in the fortieth assembly district, cast a $100 vote in the municipal election.

The board of elections paid $35 to rent the polling place. Four inspectors were present to count the rabbi's vote, at a cost of $11 each, or $44.

Another $2 was paid out for trucking. A policeman was present to see that there was no attempt at intimidation.

And the cost to the city, altogether was about $100.

Harding is alleged to have attempted to gag the older man. When Mr. Lagel resisted, according to the police, Harding beat him over the head with a claw hammer, which he previously had taken from the toolbox of the hotel.

Mr. Lagel suffered a fractured skull, which caused his death, according to the police. Trial of the Hardings was continued to municipal court yesterday until Nov. 17, to await the outcome of Mr. Lagel's condition.
