

ROUGH SURFACE NEW STYLE IN STATE ROADS

Smooth Concrete Paving Is Eliminated as Safe
Driving Aid.

No more smooth surface concrete pavement will be laid in Indiana, it was announced today by the state highway commission.

A new rule, effective on all future contracts, has been adopted by the commissioners, which provides that brooms must be used to sweep a rough surface on the concrete. This is expected to give it a nonskid quality which will prevent skidding during wet weather, it was pointed out by Chairman James D. Adams of the commission.

The rougher surface also will lessen the glare of reflected lights on the pavement, he said.

Other safety measures recently put into force by the highway commission include widening of shoulders, elimination of dangerous curves and crossings, marking of dangerous sections and constant maintenance, Mr. Adams asserted.
