TRIAL OF ROBBERY SUSPECT CONTINUES

Evidence in Previous Trial of Parker Barred.

Barred from introducing record of a previous trial, the defense case of Stanley Parker, on trial for robbery before a criminal court jury, will continue today.

Andrew Jacobs, defense attorney, made a strenuous effort Saturday to place in evidence the record of the Shelby county trial of Parker on a murder charge, which resulted in his acquittal.

Parker is being tried before Special Judge Alex G. Cavins on the robbery indictment, which was returned after the murder acquittal. The state charges Parker with being one of the two holdup men who attempted to rob Jack Werner, an Indiana avenue pawnbroker, who was killed in a gun battle with the bandits.

Police officers and sheriff's deputies mingled with a mob which formed quickly outside the San Jose (Cal.) jail when news leaked out that two men held as suspects in the kidnaping of Brooke Hart, son of a wealthy family, had confessed the kidnaping and subsequent slaying of the youth. Threat of violence and "String them up" were muttered by the mob. Sheriff Emig of Santa Clara county, indicated by arrow, marshaled his forces to prevent a demonstration.

Poisons Wife, 3 Children; Ends Own Life With Gun

Two of Youngsters Dead,
Mother and Other Critically Ill.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 20.—When his wife and three children asked for water, Jesse Kearney, 36, bakery truck driver, gave them poisoned ginger ale, then shot himself to death today.

Two of the children died; the mother and the other child were in critical condition.

Breaking of a big water main on Cleveland's west side left the Kearney household without water, police reported, climaxing a day in which Kearney and his wife had been quarreling.

At midnight, Mrs. Kearney and the children asked for water. The truck driver finally agreed to take them out to obtain a drink. Alone for a moment in the kitchen, Kearney poured four drinks of ginger ale into glasses, and added to each from a bottle wrapped in brown paper which he took from his pocket.

When the family entered the room, he offered them the ginger ale. He ordered John, 16, the eldest son, to take the paper packet to the basement and burn it.

The two younger children, Robert, 13, and Ethel, 11, gulped their drinks. The mother and John, however, noticed something wrong with the ginger ale, and refused to drink the entire contents of their glasses.

Kearney ran from the house and to a confectionary a few blocks away where he called police. The officers were at the home when he returned. The husband and wife, police said, began to accuse each other of poisoning the children. The younger son and daughter already were in convulsions.

Suddenly Kearney started toward a rear door of the house. A policeman followed, but was unable to restrain the truck driver when he drew a gun from his pocket and shot himself through the head.

PRISON BREAK FOILED; GUARDS USE RIOT GUNS

Convicts Attempt to Scale Walls of Prison at Philadelphia.

By United Press
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 20.—In the face of a dozen armed guards, a small band of convicts made a desperate bid for freedom today at the Eastern penitentiary here.

While more than 600 men were in the small exercise yard within the forty-foot walls, a group of five or six rushed a forty-foot ladder from the carpenter shop where it had been secreted.

The ladder was placed against the wall and the men started to climb. Recovering from their surprise, the guards, redoubled since the recent riots, opened fire with riot guns.

Whether any of the prisoners was struck was not disclosed, but the plotters fell back as their comrades set up a howl against the guards that could be heard by residents outside the walls.

The identity of the gang that tried the break was not made known. Guards said most of them joined the throng in the yard before they could be identified.

STATE FOOD TESTS ANNOUNCED BY FRY

Institutional Grocery Bids to Be Examined.

Paul Fry, state excise director and purchasing agent, will have foods tested in the state health board laboratories beginning with the quarterly institutional grocery purchase in December, it was announced at his office today.

Mr. Fry was criticized for buying the highest priced oleomargarine recently, when four standard brands submitted lower bids than the St. Louis firm from whom the purchase was made.

The tests will be used to combat criticism when the low bid does not prevail, it was pointed out. No test data was made public by Mr. Fry in the oleomargarine deal, however.

In a Lather Finds Man Shaving Be- fore Ex-Wife—Bang!

WATCHING a man shaving in the home of his ex-wife and hearing him call her "honey" was just too much for Harry Stack, 42, of 2263 North Dearborn street, he told Judge Dewey Meyers of municipal court three, today and that's why he went berserk.

Police officers testified that Stack tried to give the visitor a trimming of the fistic kind as he interrupted the marital ablutions.

"I went to see my two children and there he was shaving. I just couldn't stand it, judge, when he called her 'honey,'" testified Stack.

Stack was fined $1 and costs on a charge of drunkenness and the fine suspended but a former sentence on a similar charge, of $10 and costs, was revoked.
