Deaths of Grandmother and Child Bring 1933 Toll in County to 113.

Two persons were killed and twenty-three injured in a series of motor car accidents over the week-end. The dead are Mrs. Mary Tucker, 51, and her granddaughter, Mary Regala, 9, both of R. R. 4, Box 101.

The grandmother and child were injured fatally Saturday night when they were struck by a car driven by Mrs. Martha Welch, 34, Greenwood, in front of 2742 Madison avenue. Their deaths brought to 113 the traffic toll in Marion county since Jan. 1.

The car driver was exonerated. Witnesses say the grandmother and child were walking with their back to the north traffic stream. Mrs. Welch was blinded by lights of other cars and did not see the pedestrians.

Mrs. Tucker is survived by three sons and two daughters. Last rites for the grandmother and child will be held Wednesday morning at 10 in St. Roch's Catholic church. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

CHASE ENDS IN ARREST
Police Charge Negro Attempted to Shoot Them in Pursuit.

After eluding a heavy cordon of police early yesterday, Thomas Smartt, 24, Negro, 1500 block North Meridian street, was arrested in connection with attempts to enter two garages on Northwestern avenue.

While police were investigating the garage breaking complaints, Smartt drove through an alley at high speed in a stolen car, officers said. A pursuit followed, in which officers said Smartt escaped, after attempting to shoot policemen.

Later he was captured by Sergeant Martin Fahey and squad, in the 1700 block North Illinois street, when he again attempted to shoot at officers, it was charged.

Indiana in Brief

Lively Spots in the State's Happenings Put Together 'Short and Sweet.'

By United Press
SHELBYVILLE, Nov. 27.—Charging henchmen of Governor Paul V. McNutt interfered in operation of Shelby county public works program, W. O. Cribbs, works administrator and two of his aids, John D. DePrez and Hicks Curry, have resigned.

Mr. Cribbs, asserting he had sole authority to issue work cards to men taken from poor aid rolls and given employment, charged that Fred Deitzer, said to be county contact man for Pleas Greenlee, patronage secretary for the Governor, had put eleven men to work without cards.

After serving three days, certifying officers for the works administration, Mr. Deitzer resigned, in what was announced a move for harmony. He held the position on appointment of William H. Book, state work administrator. Mrs. Morris Drake has been appointed successor to Mr. Deitzer, and Mrs. Harry Moberly has taken the place of Mr. Cribbs.

While the controversy raged, Mr. Cribbs was appointed county re-employment chairman by Martin F. Carpenter, of Indianapolis, state representative of the national re-employment service.

With the appointment, Mr. Cribbs received instruction that after one-half of Shelby county's quota is placed, he will issue all labor slips and his selections will be final.

Prisoner Dies
MARTINSVILLE, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Flossie Pike, mother of two children, who is serving a term in the Indiana woman's prison, is a widow. Her husband, Roscoe Pike, died at the state penal farm of meningitis.

The couple was sentenced following conviction of stealing corn, each receiving a ninety-day term.

$500 Damages Won
LEBANON, Nov. 27.—A Boone circuit court jury awarded $500 to Margaret Harter, Indianapolis, in her $17,000 damage suit against the Red Cab Company, Indianapolis.

In the suit, which was tried here on a change of venue, plaintiff sought damages for injuries incurred when she was struck by one of the company's cabs.

'Made Worker' Loses
ANDERSON, Nov. 27.—Peter Belbot, father of six children, who incurred injuries while engaged in "made work," has failed in his effort to obtain damages from Madison county.

He was struck by a truck while working on the Moss Island project, employment having been given him by the Central Relief Bureau of Anderson.

His $5,000 damage suit was dismissed after a jury had been impaneled in Madison superior court. County officials in an answer disclaimed responsibility and asserted the accident was due to the plaintiff's negligence.

SMART ACTING PUTS COMEDY IN REAL HIT CLASS

'There's Always Juliet' Featured by Brilliant Performance.

BY WALTER D. HICKMAN
Jolly, brilliant acting. That's what is revealed by four people in John Van Druten's comedy, "There's Always Juliet."

Most of this splendid work is done by Violet Heming as Lenora Perry-cote, who was always looking for excitement but afraid to grab it, and by Lester Vail as Dwight Houston, the American excitement in Lenora's life.

Acting comparable to some of the high comedy work one expects from Ina Claire is presented by Miss Heming.

This star is gifted with a smart talking voice and she is endowed with a gift of talent which permits her to toss a delicious comedy scene all over the stage with the least possible effort.

Here is a three-act play with only four people in the cast and one is a domestic maid to Lenora. In the first act, the excitement arrives in Lenora's life. Vampish petting is indulged in by Lenora and by Dwight. It is brazenly silly but nice fun. The love bug becomes busy in the second act. This is followed by remorse when Lenora learns that Dwight has a divorced wife and she can not see her way clear to marry him.

Dwight is ordered to return to America on business. In the third act she is trying to be jolly with a typical English chap, Peter Walmesley, played very properly by John Graham Spacey. Peter is a very dull substitute and doesn't last long because Dwight pops in again.

There's a saucy ending with Lenora sitting on Dwight's lap as she breaks the news of her coming marriage to Dwight over long distance to her mother.

Here is a lot of small talk made into little gems by the expert acting of only four people. Miss Heming is a picture of loveliness in many smart frocks.

There are few women of the stage today who know how to use their hands for comedy effect. Miss Claire and Miss Heming are two who are gifted that way.

Miss Heming gives one of the best five comedy performances I have seen since the depression started. It is a lovely little bit of nothing which caused last night's audience at English's to laugh, as well as applaud, in favor of the light fun made brilliant by really big acting.

If you have been waiting for a sophisticated conversational dish, then "There's Always Juliet" is made to order.

The players are filled with charm. In fact, the entire performance is charm itself.

This is the third production of
