

Aids Chosen for Indiana Art Exhibit

Mrs. Sylvester Johnson Jr. Announces Personnel of Committee.

Arts and interests committee of the Indianapolis Junior League will open its second downtown exhibition of paintings by Indiana artists next Monday in the L. S. Ayres & Co. galleries. Mrs. Sylvester Johnson Jr., chairman, has selected twenty league members to assist as ushers.

The purpose of the exhibit, according to Mrs. Johnson, is to give artists an opportunity to show their best current work and to familiarize the public with these paintings.

Liberal Policy Followed

Admission of pictures is by invitation only but without jury sanction or entrance fee. This method was devised, Mrs. Johnson explains, so that artists may display, according to their own judgment, their best current work.

Last year more than 200 pictures were exhibited, with some artists showing two works. The committee, this year, has limited entrants to one picture in order to show a smaller number of pictures to better advantage.

Exhibit Group Chosen

Mrs. Johnson's exhibit committee is composed of Misses Rosamond Van Camp and Edna Levey and Mesdames Ward Hackleman, Elsa Pantzer Haerle, Charles Latham, Robert Winslow, Noble Dean, John D. Gould, George Ziegler, Stanley Shipnes, Charles Greathouse, Evans Woolen Jr., Kurt Pantzer and T. Harvey Cox.

Members of the arts and interests committee include: Mrs. Elias C. Atkins, ex-officio; Miss Jean Camp, chairman; Mrs. Shipnes, assistant chairman; Mrs. Haerle, symphony chairman; Mrs. Paul Fisher, glee club chairman; Mrs. Ziegler, civic theater chairman; Mrs. Robert Winslow, Children's theater chairman; Mrs. Woolen, art institute chairman; Mrs. Cox, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Robert A. Adams, advisory chairman.
