

STATE FOREST ARMY TO GET TURKEY DINNER

C. C. C. Men Permitted to Visit Homes on Thanksgiving Day.

Thanksgiving day in all civilian conservation corps camps will be observed with a turkey dinner served in the mess halls, according to Major Clifford Bluemel, executive officer of the Indiana division. Men will be permitted to spend the day at their homes if they desire.

Newly constructed barracks have been completed and occupied in all Indiana camps. Other construction is being pushed and will be completed in a few weeks, Major Bluemel said.

New companies, organized at Ft. Knox, Ky., are being moved into the state and by Dec. 5 there will be a total of thirty companies, with an approximate strength of six thousand men.

Washington will receive a company today from Ft. Knox with Lieutenant W. N. Tinsley, United States navy, in command. Captain C. D. Parmelee, on duty last year with the Shortridge high school R. O. T. C. unit, will bring a company to Winslow today from Ft. Knox.

New Companies Formed

Captain C. M. Innis, Eleventh infantry, Ft. Harrison, arrived at Shalamak state park yesterday with a new company, while Captain Thomas D. Weaver, a reserve officer, arrived at Dunes state park near Chesterton with a company for the winter.

Two new companies, one to Clark county state forest near Henryville, and commanded by Lieutenant E. H. Burger, Eleventh infantry, Ft. Harrison, and one to McCormick's Creek Canyon state park near Spencer, commanded by Lieutenant M. J. Conlon, United States navy, will arrive Thanksgiving day.

A camp for Negro enrollees and commanded by Captain Samuel B. Wiener, Tenth infantry, Ft. Thomas, Ky., has been established at Jasper-Pulaski state game preserve. Captain Wallace C. Steiger, First mechanized cavalry, Ft. Knox, commands a new company located at Clifty Falls state park near Madison.

Marion Camp Moved

The C. C. C. camp, located at Marion since June, has been moved to Freetown and Lieutenant E. M. Quigley, Third field artillery, is in command, having exchanged camps with Captain John Enoch, reserve officer, who has gone to West Virginia.

The Angola camp, commanded by Captain A. E. Armstrong, reserve, has moved to Rising Sun. The camp at Huntington, with Lieutenant J. S. Spertl, reserve, in command will be moved to Milan, Dec. 3.

The organization of the new C. C. C. district in Indiana will go into effect Dec. 1, according to Major Bluemel.

Major Chapman Grant, Eleventh infantry, Fort Harrison, will command the northern district; Major John V. Stark, whose permanent station is with the organized reserves in Indianapolis, will command the central district; Major Howard Donnell, Eleventh infantry, Fort Harrison, the eastern district, and Captain George E. Kraul, whose normal assignment is instructor with the One hundred and fifty-first infantry, Indiana national guard, will command the western district.

Liquor Permit Needless, Judge Tells Defendant.

If Walter Smith takes the advice of Criminal Judge Frank P. Baker, then Marion county and vicinity may have another beer importer.

Today Smith appeared before Judge Baker on a case appealed from municipal court in which he was fined $100 and costs for possession of alcohol without a permit from the state excise director.

Examining the affidavit against Smith, Judge Baker said:

"This is an improper affidavit in that it does not mention that Smith was not an importer."

Turning to Smith he said: "If you're going to sell beer and alcohol you might as well set yourself up as an importer. You don't have to have a license from those people over at the statehouse."

The judge has intimated in other cases of a similar nature that the setting up of importers in districts in the state is the creation of an unjust monopoly. Smith's case was continued.

GURNEY HILL, FAMOUS ROSE GROWER, DEAD

Richmond Man Nationally Known for Flower Culture.

By United Press
RICHMOND, Ind., Nov. 28.—E. Gurney Hill, 86, nationally prominent rose grower, died late last night at his home here after a long illness. He was famed for his "forcing" of new varieties of roses and his greenhouses here were the largest of their kind in Indiana.

Among varieties of roses developed by Mr. Hill were the Columbia, Butterfly and Premier. From the Ophelia rose, which he brought here from Paris, France, in 1912, he developed the General McArthur, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Richmond, Rhea Reid and Robin Hood.

Mr. Hill was born in England and came to the United States with his father in 1852. They settled in Geneva, Ill., where the son learned rose culture as an employee of a nursery there. He started business here in 1881.

Among Mr. Hill's prized possessions were gold medals awarded him by the city of Paris, the city of Portland, Ore., and the National Rose Society of America for his varieties of roses.

HUCKSTER CASE IS WON BY CITY

Ordinance Fixing $200 Fee Is Valid, Decision of Judge Williams.

Upholding the constitutionality of a city ordinance fixing a $200 license fee for non-resident poultry and produce dealers, Judge Joseph R. Williams of superior court two, yesterday denied a temporary injunction against Mayor Reginald H. Sullivan and other city officials to halt enforcing the ordinance. The decision of Judge Williams may be appealed by Edward Haerle, attorney for the non-resident poultry and produce dealers, to the supreme court.

In declaring the ordinance constitutional Judge Williams said: "It comes under the police powers to regulate the sale of food where the health of the general public is concerned. There is nothing more perishable than poultry, butter and eggs. It is the city's duty to be vigilant to protect the public."

Local poultry and egg dealers declare the ordinance is needed by the city while clients of Mr. Haerle assert that the ordinance has built a tax wall around the city and is discriminatory.
