

PURCHASE AUTO LICENSES NOW, WARNS FINNEY

No Extensions Granted in 1934, Asserts State Commissioner.

Motorists today were warned again by Frank Finney, state auto license commissioner, to purchase automobile license plates at once, as Dec. 31 will be the deadline for 1933 plates.

In past years, several extensions have been granted, but it is planned to grant no extensions this year. Mr. Finney said, Sale of the new 1934 plates was started yesterday. Mr. Finney announced plates would be available at a number of branch offices, including: Jones & Moley, Inc., 2421 East Washington street; Smith & Moore, Inc., 528 South Meridian street; Marker's pharmacy, 801 Virginia avenue; Meridian Service Company, 2421 North Meridian street; city hall, Room 102; West Side Chevrolet Company, 2419 West Washington street; Morgan Super Service, 5404 East Washington street; Broad Ripple Auto Company, 821 East Sixty-third street; Drivers' Sales Company, 3815 East Tenth street; Hyland Hardware Company, 2911 Clifton street; Rose Tire Company, 930 North Meridian street; Duffin Service Company, 475 North Warman avenue; Sears Roebuck & Co., 355 North Alabama street; Central Buick Company, 2917 Central avenue; Statehouse, Room 301; office of auditor, Room 102, city hall, and Rettig Hardware Company, 2358 Station street, and 2 East Market street, operated by Bruce P. Robison post, American Legion.

Buck Jones

The ace of Western stars, Buck Jones, comes to the Alamo today for three days in "The Thrill Hunter." Buck this time is cast as a pre-arranging westerner, who arrives in Hollywood and, through a motion picture contract, is forced to make good his wild boasts before the camera.

The director calls for him to ride a horse on to a race track, jump off in front of a high-powered racing car, knock the villain out of it, then stage a sensational race with a number of dare devil drivers.

Instead, Buck demolishes the race car and nearly wrecks the speedway. In another sequence he is scheduled to do stunt flying in a plane, but his false claims show up when he loses control of the ship and nearly kills himself.

In the meantime, he has been boasting to a movie actress about his ability as a general sportsman, and she believes in him until she discovers he is the world's greatest liar.

On the same bill will be a comedy, news events and a new chapter of Tarzan the Fearless.

At Ambassador

The Ambassador tomorrow and Monday will offer a double feature program with a first showing of "Flaming Gold," starring William Boyd, Mae Clark, Pat O'Brien and Helen Ware, a story of romance and adventure in the Mexican oil fields.

The love theme centers about a unique triangle which threatens to destroy the friendship of the men who are teamed to defy the might of a great oil company.

The extra added picture is "East of Fifth Avenue," heralded as the "Grand Hotel" of a New York rooming house.

The cast includes Wallace Ford, Dorothy Tree, Mary Carlisle, Walter Connolly and Walter Byron. Flip the Frog will be seen in a comedy cartoon entitled, "The Soda Squirt."

Did You Know That—

Warner Baxter is the film colony's top-notch tennis player and one of its most expert fishermen?

Will James, author and cowboy, attains the unique distinction of playing himself in Fox Film's production of his story, "Smoky"?

Walter Catlett, before he became an actor, was a prizefighter and suffered but one knockout in 116 ring engagements?

Malcolm St. Clair, who directed El Brendel in "Olsen's Big Moment," was, at one time, a cartoonist on a Los Angeles newspaper and lost his job when he demanded a $2 raise?

George O'Brien lives outdoors and when he is indoors reads stories of the outdoors?

The early ambition of Lew Ayres was to become a hobo, go places and see things?

Sid Silvers, on three different occasions, bought steamship tickets to go abroad, but just as many times got cold feet when sailing time came and has never been out of the United States, except for trips to Mexico and Canada?

HERE TOMORROW

Beverly Bayne

Tomorrow night at English's "Dangerous Corner" will open a four-day engagement with Beverly Bayne, movie star, in the cast.
