

LACK OF RAIN, SNOW HINDERS STATE HUNTERS

Quail Seekers Report Bad Luck in Fields; Birds Returns Heavy.

BY LEFTY LEE
Times Hunting Editor

The hunters of the state are busy praying for a snow, or at least a heavy rain because the dry weather of the last few weeks has made it almost impossible for the dogs to work in the field with any degree of success. Wardens in all parts of the state tell that the game is plentiful and nimrods are getting quite a few rabbits, but the boys who love to hunt for quail with a good dog have had some very disappointing trips. According to Wardens Sican and Hay, this condition has not bothered the hunters in Marshall and Stark counties, their reports showing many instances of bag limits of birds and rabbits. Warden Thompson's report from Seymour states that there are more duck on the river this year than there have been for many seasons. He also reports that the quail are plentiful, but agrees that the weather has been too dry for the best results. At Kendallville the hunters have been frightened by the report of several cases of rabbit fever and have not been trying to shoot the bunnies. The hunters were plentiful in southern Indiana, especially around Thanksgiving time, and some nice bags were checked in by the wardens working this territory. One pleasing report from this section was the lack of violators, all of the hunters having their licenses in good order and their bags within the limit.

At Logansport the trappers have been busy and they are bringing in some nice fur. The rabbit and quail hunting has not been so good in this section, however, and fishing is at a standstill.

While the fishing season is closed as far as most of the fishermen are concerned, the anglers who are braving the elements are being rewarded with some fine catches. At Barbee lake Stan Morgan took the limit of bass in two hours. Four anglers from Anderson also tried their luck on Barbee and came in at dusk with twenty-two bass, just two short of the limit for the entire party. Several of these bass passed the four-pound mark and the three-pounders were plentiful.

Another spot where the fish are biting fast and furious is Mill creek at Owen Park. A letter from Ed Shortridge, who keeps his resort open all winter, tells of a catch made by two Indianapolis anglers, E. E. Hale and F. H. Swathart of 1603 Shelby street. These anglers caught thirty-five large crappies at one drift. Swathart was the champion this time, taking twenty-three to Hale's twelve. Shortridge also took a shot at the bass and landed two beauties. Later in the letter, this friend of ours invites Lefty down to shoot into two covey of quail and plenty of rabbits that have not been shot at this season. An invitation of this kind is hard to turn down and it looks like a trip to Owen park for yours truly next week-end.

See what you shoot at or your friend may be a "dear" departed.

The best conservation laws are graven upon the hunter's conscience.

Set your own bag limits below that of the law. Give the game a break.

Last week's match of the Central Indiana Rifle League, shoulder to shoulder, resulted in a win for the Hoosier Rifle and Pistol Club over the Greenfield Rifle Club, 458 to 450. The Pennsylvania R. R. Rifle Club had an easy time taking the Indianapolis Rifle Club, 430 to 385. Shelbyville Rifle Club defeated the El Lilly Rifle Club, 455 to 445, as the Plainfield Rifle Club defeated the Eleventh infantry team in the best match of the night, 461 to 458. In the correspondence division only one match was reported, Tippecanoe Rifle Club defeating Vincennes Rifle Club, 450 to 449. The league will hold its weekly match again tonight. The shoulder to shoulder section is shooting at the range in the basement at Tomlinson hall. The general public is invited to attend this match. There is no charge.

Woodmen Will Elect
Both Marion camp, No. 3558, and its women's club camp will hold the regular meeting and election of officers for 1934 Tuesday night, at Woodmen hall, 322 East New York street. David M. Killian, the outgoing consul, will preside.
