HOLIDAY preparations mean more than gift buying for the parents who have sons and daughters away at school. To them it means planning diversions, to make the vacation festive and gay for their children. Oftentimes preparations must be made for guests, whose homes are too far away from school to permit spending Christmas with their own parents.

Miss Dorothy Young, who attends Monticello seminary at Godfrey, Ill., will be one of the first of the young people to return for the holidays. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Young, expect her arrival Dec. 15. Miss Joan Auferheide, who is studying at Vassar college, will return the next day to spend the vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Auferheide. Girls enrolled at Smith college are expected on Dec. 17 and 18. Miss Betti L. Kahn will bring guests with her to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Ferdinand Kahn. Others who will come from Smith include Miss Helen Moxley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Moxley; Miss Elinor Frantz, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George A. Frantz; Miss Margaret Zimmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Edgar Zimmer; and Miss Betty Tharp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Tharp.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Myers expect their daughter, Miss Katharine Myers, on Dec. 22 from Smith. Miss Willmetta Warnock, a freshman at Ward-Belmont at Nashville, Tenn., will entertain Miss Martha Rucker of Columbus during her visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Warnock. Miss Warnock will arrive Dec. 15 with Miss Margaret Jane Hetherington, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Hetherington. On the week-end of Dec. 20 Miss Warnock will be hostess to Miss Carol Gounouf, Greencastle.

Classmates to Be Guests

During the holidays, while Miss Dorothy Lower will be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Lower, she will be visited by two classmates at Western College for Women at Oxford, O., Misses Virginia Gardner, Columbus, O., and Margaret Jane Eastwood, Cleveland. Miss Laura Rebecca Prescott, also a student at Western, will come to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Prescott. Miss Lower and Miss Prescott will arrive Dec. 21.

From St. Mary of the Lake will come Miss Mary Louise Noonan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Noonan; Miss Isabel McNerry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McNerry; Miss Dorothy Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thad Brown; Miss Elinor Kirby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Kirby, and Miss Dorothy Shiel Dugan, granddaughter of Mrs. R. R. Shiel. This group will return to Indianapolis Dec. 19.

Others to Return

Students at St. Mary of the Woods will return the same day. Miss Bernice Brennan will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brennan. Miss Ruth Marks will come from Wellesley college Dec. 18 to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Benjamin Marks. Miss Charlotte Twinty's holiday at Goucher college in Baltimore, Md., will begin Dec. 21, when she will return to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Twinty.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Petri will welcome their daughter, Miss Helene Petri, on Dec. 22. She is a student at Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y.

Women's Dislike of Some Forms of Athletics Lasts Even With 'Emancipation'

Feminine Sex Can Go Anywhere Today, But There Are Still Several Places Likely to Be Shunned

BY HELEN WELSHIMER
SEA Service Writer

WOMEN, so some feminists announce every so often, may now go anywhere that men go. Perhaps so, but there are still a few places where they don't want to go!

The national bicycle races, for example, which are a feature of the November program at Madison Square Garden, New York. For a week men raced "round and round the circle." The idea is to see how fast the riders can go, or, in other words, who can get nowhere first. Nearly 17,000 men and a few—a very few—women watched the circular speed chase.

The expressions on the men's faces were as beatific as those of a small boy with his first bicycle. Men sat by the hour and watched while women, wearied in a few minutes, turned away.

Mexican and Spanish Women Stay at Home

PERHAPS men of the sporting world are glad to know that their prize fights, bull fights, bicycle races and like events are still theirs. But it may lessen their joy of possession to know that they hold the lease merely because women don't want entrance. We have invaded their barber shops, their offices and the voting booths, which are sacred to masculine ballots.

But we have looked over their sports, according to the popular count, and decided that we don't want any. At least, not often.

In Mexico and Spain the men leave their women at home when they go out to celebrate. After all, they reason, woman has no place at a bull fight. Far better it is for her to sit on her balcony and make lace and give her lord and master the pleasure of telling her the bloody details of the sports event.

They love it, too, these dark-eyed señoritas. They like being treated as something fragile that must be protected. Deep down in their hearts they don't want to sit in the sun and watch two bulls charge at each other.

American women have the same reaction as their Latin sisters. Instinctively they know that it is slightly difficult, when the lights are low, for a man to grow romantic over a woman whose interest can outlast his at a physical endurance contest.

Some Strictly Masculine Centers Remain

MEN and women are still as different in their personal reactions as they were back in the days when only men were gardenias in their buttonholes. Women didn't always faint just because it was a helpless gesture in the petticoat days. They had their limp moments because they experienced honest fright. Fortunately, contact with the economic world has helped us to learn self-control.

If women should suddenly insist that they must accompany their husbands and sons and sweethearts to every place of entertainment, the good old Spanish custom of locking up the feminine element of the household might develop.

Men stay away from sewing societies and quilting bees and fashion teas and cooking schools and book review clubs. Not because we ask them to—because they couldn't be coaxed to come. For the same reason we let them go "round in circles when the bicycles get on the track. We don't call it fun. At least, the great majority of women don't.

Yes, there are still corners of life that belong to men. And others that are dedicated to women.
