HOLD RITES FOR SLAIN WOMAN

Wounding of Man Still Puzzle to Police in Lackey Case.

Funeral services for Mrs. Grace Lackey, rooming house operator, whose body with two bullet wounds in the head, was found in a house on Carson avenue Wednesday night, were to be held at 2 today in the Blasengym mortuary. Burial will be in Crown Hill.

Charles Chapman, who was found in the same house, nearly frozen and with a bullet wound in his head, still is in critical condition at city hospital.

While holding to the theory of murder and a suicide attempt, officials were puzzled over the fact that the only weapon found was an automatic pistol under the seat of Chapman's car, in which the body of Mrs. Lackey was seated. The garage is located in the basement of the house.

Mrs. Lackey had been shot three times, and only three exploded cartridges were found. The house was being searched for the weapon which inflicted the wound in Chapman's head.

A printed note indicating the couple had entered into a suicide pact, signed with the names of both, was found on a table in the house, but Deputy Coroner E. R. Wilson said this inference was questionable.

Mme. Jeritza, however, allowed some 500 women who were turned away from a morning concert yesterday their disappointment without any accusations of failure to appreciate her.

The Viennese prima donna failed to appear at an 11 a. m. recital for which many social leaders and opera lovers had driven to her hotel from suburban points. Most of them organized informal bridge games and remained at the hotel to talk it over.

A Cut-Up

Sea Flier Tries Shaving; Lip Slashed.

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 12.—Lieutenant John Perry of Greenville, S. C., pilot of the 10P-5, which was separated for several hours from its five companions in the flight from California, thought so little of his predicament that he turned the controls over to an assistant and shaved before his arrival.

Lieutenant Perry donned a fresh navy jacket and stepped from his plane to the concrete ramp. His natty appearance was somewhat marred by a cut lip. He was asked how he hurt his lip.

"Why," drawled the lieutenant, "I cut that while shaving this morning."

"I didn't have a mirror or a bowl, so I used a tomato can for a bowl and the lid for a mirror. I just was about to shave my lip when the plane hit a bump and I cut myself."

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12.—Fay Webb Vallee will ask for $7,400 a month temporary alimony from Rudy Vallee when they open their court battle next Wednesday.

The amount is exactly $7,000 more than she is receiving at present under terms of a property settlement they reached at the time of their separation last year. Vallee's attorneys derided the higher claim as excessive.

Vallee's wife, who filed suit for separate maintenance early this week, estimated his earnings at $50,000 a month.

EXPULSED OHIO STUDENTS DEFY MILITARY BAN

Will Attend Classes, Say Seven Ousted for Refusal to Attend Drill.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 12.—Seven Ohio State university students who claimed they were "conscientious objectors" to military training and were expelled by President George W. Rightmire, said today they would defy authorities and attend regular classes.

Their announcement brought to a crisis a situation that has been brewing at the university for a week. Among thirty-one students who protested against military training on "conscientious" grounds, the seven still refused to participate after their objections were overruled.

The board of trustees left their case in the hands of President Rightmire and he ordered them to leave the university at once.

University authorities had not commented this morning on the students' announcement that they would continue attending classes. No indication was given as to what means would be taken to enforce the expulsion order.

Meanwhile, a group of Columbus pastors who have interested themselves in the students' cause planned a meeting at noon.

The solidity of the objectors' case was shattered when two sympathizers with the seven chief objectors capitulated and agreed to begin military training today. It was understood the university told the students that the expulsion order would be rescinded automatically if they agreed to attend drill.

The seven students are Donald Leach, Douglas Dobson, and Paul Sutley, all of Columbus; Richard Baumgardner, Kimbolton, Va.; Robert Hare, Paris, France; David Telfair, Sabina, O., and Robert Ralph, Cleveland.

On instructions from Washington, Val Nolan, United States district attorney, has halted proceedings to condemn a site for a new postoffice in Hartford City.
