NEW WAR MINISTER APPOINTED IN JAPAN

General Senjuro Hayashi Succeeds Araki.

TOKIO, Jan. 22.—General Senjuro Hayashi today succeeded Lieutenant-General Sadao Araki, Japan's most intense militarist, as war minister in the cabinet of Premier Saigo.

General Araki, the scraggly mustached ascetic who directed the Japanese campaigns in Manchoukuo and Shanghai, resigned because of ill health. He consented, however, to continue as a member of the war council.

General Hayashi formerly was superintendent of military education. His formal acceptance of the new post was announced within a few hours after General Araki had submitted his resignation.

General Araki rose from an obscure farm to the most prominent place in the military life of the Nippon empire. He went to a military school because the tuition was free. After graduation in 1898, he saw service in the Russo-Japanese and the World wars. He was inspector-general of military education in 1931 when he was called to the cabinet.

He remained in the Saigo coalition cabinet after the assassination of Premier Inukai and saw his star soar as the well-equipped Japanese army subjugated Manchoukuo and broke a Chinese trade boycott at Shanghai.

BYRD RECLAIMS LITTLE AMERICA FROM ICE PACK

Crew Finds Everything in Order: 5-Year-Old Victuals Eaten.

By United Press
S. S. JACOB RUPPERT, (Byrd of Whale), Antarctica, Jan. 19.—Delayed—(Via MacKay Radio)—The task of reclaiming the buried winter city of Little America is going forward. The buildings have been discovered and found intact.

William G. Haines, meteorologist, dug into the administration building. Three feet down he broke through a layer of hard ice, through the roof of the weather station. Then, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd leading, the rest plunged in after him.

It was dark in the big room, but where the hard ice was packed against the windows there was a bright blue fluorescence. Then Admiral Byrd found a fruit jar half full of kerosene which had been his reading lamp.

Carl Peterson idly flipped a switch and suddenly the lights of the building went on. He pressed the telephone connection. In the administration building, Dr. Poulter, flabbergasted, picked up the phone. After four years everything worked. "This is getting uncanny," Bill Haines remarked. "In a moment I'll expect to see all the old gang bustling in the door."

Before the night was out, Hump Cragh, the cook, went out into the food cache and collected whale meat, a side of beef, a slab of bacon and other meats that had lain there for five years, thawed them out and produced a mulligan stew.

SICK VETERANS AIDED BY ORDER OF PRESIDENT

John H. Ale, U. S. Hospital Chief, Recounts Benefits That Will Accrue.

President Roosevelt's opening of the government purse to war veterans will enable Indiana ex-servicemen to obtain thousands of dollars in increased pensions and give aid to the indigent veteran ill with a non-service connected disease.

John H. Ale, manager of the United States Veterans hospital on Cold Spring road, said today that the President's edict would permit the Indianapolis hospital to take cases of non-service illness, providing beds were vacant, where the illness was severe and protracted, or of an emergency nature.

"We've been crowded with patients, but under the President's order we can, wherever possible, accept patients who are unable to pay for medical treatment, providing we have the beds," Mr. Ale said.

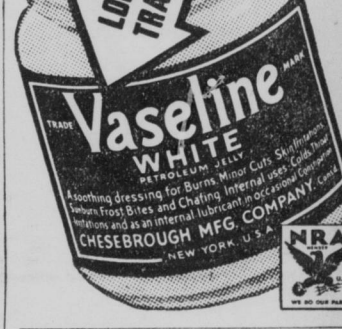

The President's order will not change the ratings of individual compensation cases, Mr. Ale said. "It will be merely a matter of book work to adjust the compensations to conform with the increased compensation rates under the President's regulations," Mr. Ale said.

The regional manager could not estimate, off-hand, the amount of monetary good accruing to Indiana veterans through liberalization of the economy act.

Joseph and Steven Montgolfier, on June 5, 1783, gave the first public demonstration of balloon flight. Their balloon was made of paper and was inflated with hot air.
