Company F. Twenty-second infantry en route to the front—Brest to Argonne forest. They are cramped in the typical railroad car—forty men, eight horses.

Presented above are the fourth pictures chosen from those submitted for The Indianapolis Times war picture contest. More are being accepted and The Times will pay for suitable photos.

This is important: Pictures submitted must be of Indiana troops, taken either overseas, at home or in training camp. It will be useless to submit general war scenes of unidentified troops.

To insure return, each picture must have on the back the name and address of the sender and to have a chance of acceptance, the persons or scenes shown by the pictures must be identified.

Several pictures will be used each day and $1 will be paid for each one used. Best of the day will draw $2 and best of the week $10.

Look through your scrapbooks and souvenir collections and see if you can find photographs which answer requirements. Remember they must be of Indiana troops and be good enough to reproduce properly.

Mail them to the War Picture Editor.
