

Sleds Put to Use on City Hills

Coasting and Road Trips With Autos Pulling Attract Many.

BY BEATRICE BURGAN
Times Woman's Page Editor

SNOWY hillsides and snow-packed roads are the joy of the outdoor devotees, who could trade a lounge chair beside a fireplace for a rollicking romp in the snow. These reports from upon the sun that threatens to clear the roads and hills of the snow. They laugh as we less hardy individuals complain when a stray snowflake slips down our necks.

The cold wave, with its snow and ice, has provided us with a chance to indulge in the sports which are more frequently the pleasure of those who live farther north.

Ted Severin's front yard slopes down to the canal where it runs through Golden Hill. Last week he called some of his friends, "Come on out for a coasting," he shouted in his eagerness to go sliding down his snow-packed hill. His friends came dashing over. Down they scudded over the hill and across the canal. Misses Mary Adelaide Roads, Eradyne Hibben and Mrs. George Denny, wrapped up in wool scarfs, mittens and breeches coasted over the hill with Bill Kennedy, Bob Eaglesfield and Mr. Denny.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sullivan bundled up their children, Tom, Bumps and Peggy, and join Mr. and Mrs. Luther Brooks and their son Everett, for coasting at Fairview. Everett is only 3 years old, but he uses a heap of persuasion to keep his father from taking him home.

Friends of Mayborn Landgraf have been enjoying his bobsled, which holds ten riders. From his home at Seventy-fourth and Meridian streets, they drive over to Pennsylvania and Illinois streets.

The coasters take turns driving the car that pulls the bobsleds over the roads. "A curve," shouts the leader, "to the right." The coasters in unison lean to the right; the sled kept to the road.

Marbe had a party last week. Misses Eunice Mae Howell, Polly Puring, Albert Alexander, Tom, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Robbins, Edward and William Raffensperger and Urban K. Wilde trooped out in their breeches, boots and leather jackets for an evening of fun.

"I don't know which is the best—coasting or this," says George M. Pierson said between yawns as the party waited for the coffee to boil at the host's home after the coasting.

With activities of the Traders Point Hunt discontinued until spring, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Bailey are taking advantage of the hills and artificial lake near their home in Traders Point for another sport. Their quaint white house with blue shingles sits on a hill, which slopes down into the lake. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and their children enjoy coasting and ice skating.

SHOWER PARTY

GIVEN BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Augusta Bowerman was honor guest at a surprise personal shower Friday night given by the Indiana Beta chapter of Delta Sigma sorority, at the home of Mrs. Julius Caesar, 4181 Guilford avenue.

The marriage of Miss Bowerman and J. Wilson Cull will take place March 4. Mrs. William C. McCrory will entertain at her home, 3365 North Meridian street, Thursday night for the bride-elect.

The serving table at Miss Bowerman's party was laid with a lavender cloth and lighted with pink tapers in lavender holders. A cake formed the centerpiece.

Card Parties

Parent-Teacher Association of School 22 will sponsor a card party at 8 tonight at Druids hall, 1317 South Meridian street.

Film to Be Shown

Council of the Irvington Union of Clubs will meet at 2 tomorrow in Graham chapel, United Christian Missionary building, Miller Hamilton will present "Behind the Water Front," a motion picture, and scenes of Yellowstone park. The executive board met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Willard Bolt, 243 Downey avenue.

PERMANENTS

A Limited Time Only
Experienced operators, only the finest materials are used. Any style desired, complete.....
Shampoo and Set.....25c
Both or Set.....35c

Croquignole Wave

The Complete Price
Bring a Friend—
2 Hollywood $2.00 Waves.....$2.00
2 Paris $1.50 Waves.....$1.50
2 Alvetta Marie $6.50 Waves.....$6.50
2 Warner Waves.....$1.00
Shampoo and Set Extra With the Wave.

@Rue

PERMANENT WAVE SYSTEM
NO WAITING
OPEN EVERY EVENING

Madame Recamier, Living Only for Beauty, Refused to Obey Napoleon

Madame Recamier—A reproduction of the famous painting by Jacques Louis David.

Married at 15 to a banker three times her age, patroness of a Paris salon that attracted the greatest minds of France, so ravishingly a beauty that people lined the streets to glimpse her, banished by Napoleon, immortalized in painting and sculpture.

These are the dramatic high spots in the remarkable career of the lovely Madame Recamier, a woman whose history is told in a series of articles on "The Woman in the Painting."

BY ALICE ROHE
Written for NEA Service

IF MADAME RECAMIER lived today she might be called beautiful but dumb.

This would be an injustice to the lovely creature whose name is inevitably associated with complexions beautifiers.

Madame Recamier was not so dumb as to believe the old adage, "Beauty is its own reward." She wanted more—and got it.

When she was fifteen she married a rich banker three times her age and feathered her nest with bank notes. The nest became one of the historic salons of Paris in spite of the fact that its mistress possessed not one of the essentials.

Wit and wisdom, intellect and political astuteness were absolute requirements for the establishing of a salon.

Yet in Madame Recamier's court of beauty the great of France foregathered. The most brilliant minds paid tribute to that "lovely face unmarred by thought."

Madame Recamier was not so dumb as to think that beauty alone was enough for a salon. She succeeded in surrounding herself with brains. Her beauty salon became an intellectual center. Yet not a single clever saying nor a single clever line of hers survives to justify her place among the famous salonieres.

She had the gift of silence. She was tactful and she knew how to time her smiles. No wonder great men fell in love with her! Benjamin Constant, Bernadotte, even Napoleon as well as his brother Lucien, is credited with entering the lists.

Prince August of Prussia begged her to divorce her husband and marry him. The brilliant Chateaubriand's love was an epic of brain's devotion to beauty up to the hour of his death.

THE most ingenious press agent could not think up a better beauty promotion story than the one Madame Recamier lived.

From the day she was able to sit up and take notice a looking glass was thrust into her baby hands. The first thing she learned was that she was beautiful.

From babyhood the conviction that beauty was the only thing worth while was instilled into her mind. Even at the convent her mother saw that she acquired only such accomplishments—singing and playing the harp—as exhibited her charms. And she was taught never to mar her beautiful face by excitement or emotion.

Dear Jane Jordan—I am a girl of 20 and I have been having dates with a fellow 21. He is a very nice fellow in his third year of college. There are many things about him that I admire. Then, too, there are some things I don't like.

My family approves of him to the utmost because he is a very ambitious young man. He comes from a family of high standing which has always had money. He isn't my ideal in looks, and when he makes love it makes me shiver.

I enjoy sitting and talking to him to some extent, but when it comes to making love I am dead so far as he is concerned. But the folks think that even though he isn't handsome I should stick to him because he will at least make a living for me when he is through college. I can't make up my mind. Please help me decide.

AN UNDECIDED GIRL.
Answer—The time has come and gone when parents chose a husband for their girls. You have a right to make your own choice. Regarding the fellow you are talking to, he is as a provider, you should give heed to the motional "no" over which you have no intellectual control.

With the best intentions in the world your parents are trying to marry you to a check book. I resent this as much for the young man's sake as for yours. You have no right to marry a man whom you know beforehand that you will starve emotionally.

In the old days many a girl sold out for a good living, but that was before she found out she could earn her own. Now she can afford to wait until she finds a mate who is as emotionally attractive as he is economically stable.

Personals

Misses Marcia Reiser and Rosalind Cohn spent last week end in Bloomington where they attended the Jewish Union convale and dance.

Miss Reiser was the guest of her sister, Miss Katherine Reiser. Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Kirshbaum are visiting in Hollywood, Fla.

Mrs. Charles Guy Bolte, New York, formerly of Indianapolis, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Kinnaird, 207 West Forty-fourth street.

Miss I. Hilda Stewart, principal of Tudor Hall, has returned from Cleveland, where she attended a meeting of the National Association of Principals of Schools for Girls from Wednesday through Saturday. Miss Stewart will return to Cleveland Wednesday to attend the convention of the Progressive Education Association, which will close March 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilton U. Brown are visiting in New York.

'FILL IN' ENSEMBLES

HELP WARDROBES

New "fill-in" ensembles, designed to brighten winter wardrobes and give a hint of coming spring styles, are being shown now.

They combine a frock with a coat which varies from hip-length to hem-length and are made of soft wools in such intriguing tones as prunelle (grayed hyacinth), copper brown, blue-gray and greige.

NISLEY

Arch Comfort Styles $4.45
44 N. P. St.

Due to more costly methods of construction, now...

POSITIVELY LAST WEEK ONLY

ON THIS WONDERFUL SPECIAL!

OUR FAMOUS LIVE STEAM

PERMANENT WAVE

BRING A FRIEND—SPLIT THE COST
2 PERMANENTS $1.01
Croquignole Effect.
Plenty of Curl.
New Pads. • Fresh Solution.
• Expert Operators.
• 2-25 Oil Waves, $2.01
• 2-35 Oil Waves, $3.01
• 2-45 Oil Waves, $4.01

Enclosed find 15 cents for which send me pattern No. 155.

Name.....
Street.....
City..... State.....

Smart and simply made, you'll like the attractive frock the Chic twins are showing today. It's designed in six sizes, 14, 16, 18 and 20, with corresponding bust measures of 32, 34, 36 and 38, and also in 40 and 42. Size 18 requires 4 1/2 yards of 32-inch material, or 3 1/2 of 35-inch material without the skirt front flounce.

To obtain a pattern and simple sewing chart of this model, tear out the coupon and mail it to Julia Boyd, The Indianapolis Times, 214 West Maryland street, Indianapolis, together with 15 cents in coin.

Coronet Braid

Winds Way to Fashion Peak

By United Press
NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The tiara is one thing, but listen to the story of the coronet braid in a nutshell. While all the little girls were going Alice in Wonderland—tiara, saucer eyes, Phil Dunning's daughter, Virginia, tugged her hair in to braids long enough to hoop over the top of her head, and in a piquant way, represented the newest hair fashion.

There are no rules to this new game. If you aren't a Virginia with coronet braids of your own, just buy one and pin it on. Not even necessary to wear all the time, as the idea is simply not to be a total abstainer.

Look "little-girl" and don't worry about being accused of a mental dis- and not tomorrow, according to the smart young set.

Sororities

Gamma Phi Rho sorority will meet at 8 tonight with Miss Marie Hunt, 812 North Rural street.

Miss Sue Chaplin will be hostess for a meeting of Gamma chapter, Rho Delta sorority, at her home, 1902 Koehne avenue, tomorrow night. Miss Edna Mae Penton is the newly appointed chaplain. A white elephant sale will be held.

Special Permanent Wave

(Originally $3)
49c
Shampoo and Set Not Included
ALL SHOPS—Wednesday, Thursday All Week—Downtown and Mass. Ave. Shops.
Personality Permanent Wave
Including Double Shampoo, Rinse, Blow Dry, Finger Wave and Ringlet Ends.
$1.40
Two for $5
Shampoo, Finger Wave, Rinse and Ringlet Ends. Blow Dry ALL 4 for.....25c
Wednesday, Thursday Only
Friday and Saturday Except for Patrons Presenting Courtesy Cards.....35c

McMICKLE'S

BEAUTY SHOPS ALL OVER TOWN

City Group Will Attend Conference

University Women Will Meet April 20 in Cincinnati.

"The University Women's Opportunity in a Changing World" will be the theme of a biennial conference of the northeast central section of the American Association of University Women in Cincinnati, April 20 to 21. Mrs. Walter P. Morton, president of the Indianapolis branch, will be chief speaker at a banquet Friday night, April 20. Dr. Kathryn McHale, national director, will describe means of college women furthering the national recovery program.

Dr. Esther Brunauer, secretary of the international relations committee, who recently returned from research work in Germany will talk, and Dr. Helen White of the University of Wisconsin will describe college women's opportunities through the proper use of leisure.

Miss Ruby Davis, Richmond, is a member of the committee on fellowships. Chairman of the committee of survey of study groups and communal activities is Mrs. Harry Dickey, Terre Haute.

Color Contrasts Given Spotlight in Style Center

PARIS, Feb. 27.—The world being generally up-side-down has shaken a lot of old ideas out of a lot of people's heads and given them something new to think about. Colors, for instance.

One of our "best people" around the Palace hotel at St. Moritz who, for years, has adhered to conservative and unified colorings in suits for active sports, is blossoming forth in two and even three color costumes.

With her blue ski suit, Princess Violet of Montenegro, sister of the queen of Italy, wears a slip-on jacket of gray broadcloth.

Suzanne Lenglen has a gray whipcord suit which she varies with a bright green windbreaker, accompanied by green accessories.

Mrs. Violet Breasted of London, not only appears in a black corduroy suit with golden yellow sweater and accessories, but in gray flannel pants with a sweater of vivid red.

Miss Pamela Murray accompanies her husband with a black her plain plaid trousers, or a white peccary windbreaker, or a military olive drab jacket with brass buttons.

In other words—color contrasts are the thing; wine with beige; wine red with dull orange; chamois yellow with flame gray with blue and plum green. These are a few of the many suggestions that might be offered. They are all sponsored by the elite so, help yourself!

Today's Pattern

The Chic Twins in gingham frocks—You will like the snappy new lines—Easy To Make—Pattern 155

City Group Will Attend Conference

University Women Will Meet April 20 in Cincinnati.

"The University Women's Opportunity in a Changing World" will be the theme of a biennial conference of the northeast central section of the American Association of University Women in Cincinnati, April 20 to 21. Mrs. Walter P. Morton, president of the Indianapolis branch, will be chief speaker at a banquet Friday night, April 20. Dr. Kathryn McHale, national director, will describe means of college women furthering the national recovery program.

Dr. Esther Brunauer, secretary of the international relations committee, who recently returned from research work in Germany will talk, and Dr. Helen White of the University of Wisconsin will describe college women's opportunities through the proper use of leisure.

Miss Ruby Davis, Richmond, is a member of the committee on fellowships. Chairman of the committee of survey of study groups and communal activities is Mrs. Harry Dickey, Terre Haute.

Hospital Group Board Members Will Entertain

Executive board of the White Cross Center of the Methodist hospital will meet at 10 tomorrow morning in the headquarters at the nurses' home. Officers of the newly organized Rockville M. E. church White Cross Guild will be guests at the meeting and luncheon to follow.

Mrs. Felix T. McWhirter will preside and appoint a nominating committee to report candidates for election at the next meeting. A memorial service will be held for Mrs. Thomas R. Kackley, who was treasurer of the center at one time.

A White Cross Guild was formed Saturday by a group of high school girls. They met at the home of Mrs. George Hoagland Jr., 2605 Broadway, sponsor of the new guild. Mrs. Arthur E. Behling of the White Cross Children's Cheer Guild, will be in direct charge of the group, which will meet the fourth Saturday in each month.

Miss Mary Catherine Ashton was elected president; Cornelia Conner, vice-president; Martha Bullock, secretary; and Betty McManama, treasurer. Other charter members include Harriet Wilder, Jeanne Tudor, Florence Mary Harrison, Madge McConnell, Grace Brooks and Ruth Higgins.

Velvet Scarfs Decorate Coats Paris Approves

By United Press
PARIS, Feb. 27.—Any little extra scraps of velvet lying around the house? If so, why not use it as Worth does on a wool coat or dress headed resortwear?

A small, standup bow at the throat and a three-inch to start with and an inch to end with jabot cascading down the front from neck to waist. That's all there is, but just that touch of trimming is sufficient to give the costume a very rich effect.

Maybe you'd like a Paray idea better. It deals with white pique as a blouse made very geometrically with a series of pique triangles, bases at the throat and shoulders and points at the waist.

The blouse is worn with a blue wool ensemble of plain, straight skirt and a waist length jacket with a pleated wool roll around the bottom, right at the beltline, and two others buttoned on at the shoulders and standing out like the eaves of a roof.

Philippe et Gaston contribute a southern climate costume of bluish gray wool—two pieces—and trimmed with brown caracul. The short and close-fitting jacket dips downward in the back and flares at the same time.

The sleeves are made in one piece with the back of the coat and are tight from the elbow to the wrist. The fur assumes the collar responsibility and does it in a large and adequate way, standing high in the back and tapering to the waist in front.

Coronet Braid Winds Way to Fashion Peak

By United Press
NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The tiara is one thing, but listen to the story of the coronet braid in a nutshell. While all the little girls were going Alice in Wonderland—tiara, saucer eyes, Phil Dunning's daughter, Virginia, tugged her hair in to braids long enough to hoop over the top of her head, and in a piquant way, represented the newest hair fashion.

There are no rules to this new game. If you aren't a Virginia with coronet braids of your own, just buy one and pin it on. Not even necessary to wear all the time, as the idea is simply not to be a total abstainer.

Look "little-girl" and don't worry about being accused of a mental dis- and not tomorrow, according to the smart young set.

Sororities

Gamma Phi Rho sorority will meet at 8 tonight with Miss Marie Hunt, 812 North Rural street.

Miss Sue Chaplin will be hostess for a meeting of Gamma chapter, Rho Delta sorority, at her home, 1902 Koehne avenue, tomorrow night. Miss Edna Mae Penton is the newly appointed chaplain. A white elephant sale will be held.

Special Permanent Wave

(Originally $3)
49c
Shampoo and Set Not Included
ALL SHOPS—Wednesday, Thursday All Week—Downtown and Mass. Ave. Shops.
Personality Permanent Wave
Including Double Shampoo, Rinse, Blow Dry, Finger Wave and Ringlet Ends.
$1.40
Two for $5
Shampoo, Finger Wave, Rinse and Ringlet Ends. Blow Dry ALL 4 for.....25c
Wednesday, Thursday Only
Friday and Saturday Except for Patrons Presenting Courtesy Cards.....35c

McMICKLE'S

BEAUTY SHOPS ALL OVER TOWN

City Sub-Debs Approve Fully of Gladys Parker Attire Offered by Ayres

Clever Young Cartoonist Knows Every Whim of Girls From 11 to 17; Pert Names Please.

BY HELEN LINDSAY
MAYBE Gladys Parker, clever young newspaper cartoonist, uses herself as the model for the drawings which she makes of the smartly dressed young sub-deb. It isn't hard to believe that, after seeing Miss Parker's photographs, for they substantiate the acclaim given her by a feminine admirer, a fashion writer, who says:

"Gladys Parker is the perfect sub-deb. Young, slim as a reed, she has a saucy independence of spirit typical of our younger generation."

That saucy independence is seen not only in the designs of the clothing which Gladys Parker creates for the 11-to-17-year-old girl, but in the captivating and pert names, which she gives each of her individual models.

Under such cleverly conceived names as "Stuffed Shirt," "Pickaninny" and "My Beau," she has introduced wearable, individual costumes for every type of young girl. She has taken into consideration the plump youngster, and the willowy type, and made for them clothing which is young, sleek and sophisticated.

Proof that she understands the clientele of which she is a part, is the sales records in the Collegienne shop at Ayres, where Gladys Parker dresses are shown exclusively in Indianapolis. Although the clothes were introduced here only recently, Indianapolis sub-debs have bought them quickly, and are clamoring for more.

The latest arrival of these smart young clothes includes Gladys Parker's salute to the windway silhouette. It is a suit, named "Breezy," and is shown at Ayres in a black ribbed wool material, with plaid red and white taffeta blouse.

The blouse is made with short puffed sleeves, and a full frill down the front, which gives the effect of being blown by a "sou'wester." The short jacket is open at the front, cut with square appearing lapels, and buttons to the blouse with large round buttons.

Brown Crepe Used for 'Ruff Neck' Dress

"RUFF NECK" is a practical, wearable dress, shown in the Collegienne shop in brown silk crepe. The front of the blouse is shown with a set-in vest of pleated yellow taffeta, and a pleated ruff around the neck is of the same taffeta, as are the pleated cuffs.

Bright red silk pique is used for the frock which Gladys Parker calls "Any Time Annie." It is cut high in the neck, and the blouse has inverted tucks down the front, to give it youthful fullness, fastened with loops, one on one side, one on the other.

MISS BURKETT WILL WED MARCH 17.

Miss Anna Louise Burkett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Burkett, has announced the date for her marriage to Edwin Dugal Cree, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dugal Cree, Chicago.

The ceremony will take place Saturday, March 17. Mrs. Douglas C. Hoskins will entertain at her home, 3637 Carrollton avenue, tomorrow in Miss Burkett's honor.

Hospital Group Board Members Will Entertain

Executive board of the White Cross Center of the Methodist hospital will meet at 10 tomorrow morning in the headquarters at the nurses' home. Officers of the newly organized Rockville M. E. church White Cross Guild will be guests at the meeting and luncheon to follow.

Mrs. Felix T. McWhirter will preside and appoint a nominating committee to report candidates for election at the next meeting. A memorial service will be held for Mrs. Thomas R. Kackley, who was treasurer of the center at one time.

A White Cross Guild was formed Saturday by a group of high school girls. They met at the home of Mrs. George Hoagland Jr., 2605 Broadway, sponsor of the new guild. Mrs. Arthur E. Behling of the White Cross Children's Cheer Guild, will be in direct charge of the group, which will meet the fourth Saturday in each month.

Miss Mary Catherine Ashton was elected president; Cornelia Conner, vice-president; Martha Bullock, secretary; and Betty McManama, treasurer. Other charter members include Harriet Wilder, Jeanne Tudor, Florence Mary Harrison, Madge McConnell, Grace Brooks and Ruth Higgins.

Velvet Scarfs Decorate Coats Paris Approves

By United Press
PARIS, Feb. 27.—Any little extra scraps of velvet lying around the house? If so, why not use it as Worth does on a wool coat or dress headed resortwear?

A small, standup bow at the throat and a three-inch to start with and an inch to end with jabot cascading down the front from neck to waist. That's all there is, but just that touch of trimming is sufficient to give the costume a very rich effect.

Maybe you'd like a Paray idea better. It deals with white pique as a blouse made very geometrically with a series of pique triangles, bases at the throat and shoulders and points at the waist.

The blouse is worn with a blue wool ensemble of plain, straight skirt and a waist length jacket with a pleated wool roll around the bottom, right at the beltline, and two others buttoned on at the shoulders and standing out like the eaves of a roof.

Philippe et Gaston contribute a southern climate costume of bluish gray wool—two pieces—and trimmed with brown caracul. The short and close-fitting jacket dips downward in the back and flares at the same time.

The sleeves are made in one piece with the back of the coat and are tight from the elbow to the wrist. The fur assumes the collar responsibility and does it in a large and adequate way, standing high in the back and tapering to the waist in front.

Coronet Braid Winds Way to Fashion Peak

By United Press
NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The tiara is one thing, but listen to the story of the coronet braid in a nutshell. While all the little girls were going Alice in Wonderland—tiara, saucer eyes, Phil Dunning's daughter, Virginia, tugged her hair in to braids long enough to hoop over the top of her head, and in a piquant way, represented the newest hair fashion.

There are no rules to this new game. If you aren't a Virginia with coronet braids of your own, just buy one and pin it on. Not even necessary to wear all the time, as the idea is simply not to be a total abstainer.

Look "little-girl" and don't worry about being accused of a mental dis- and not tomorrow, according to the smart young set.

Sororities

Gamma Phi Rho sorority will meet at 8 tonight with Miss Marie Hunt, 812 North Rural street.

Miss Sue Chaplin will be hostess for a meeting of Gamma chapter, Rho Delta sorority, at her home, 1902 Koehne avenue, tomorrow night. Miss Edna Mae Penton is the newly appointed chaplain. A white elephant sale will be held.

Special Permanent Wave

(Originally $3)
49c
Shampoo and Set Not Included
ALL SHOPS—Wednesday, Thursday All Week—Downtown and Mass. Ave. Shops.
Personality Permanent Wave
Including Double Shampoo, Rinse, Blow Dry, Finger Wave and Ringlet Ends.
$1.40
Two for $5
Shampoo, Finger Wave, Rinse and Ringlet Ends. Blow Dry ALL 4 for.....25c
Wednesday, Thursday Only
Friday and Saturday Except for Patrons Presenting Courtesy Cards.....35c

McMICKLE'S

BEAUTY SHOPS ALL OVER TOWN

City Sub-Debs Approve Fully of Gladys Parker Attire Offered by Ayres

Clever Young Cartoonist Knows Every Whim of Girls From 11 to 17; Pert Names Please.

BY HELEN LINDSAY
MAYBE Gladys Parker, clever young newspaper cartoonist, uses herself as the model for the drawings which she makes of the smartly dressed young sub-deb. It isn't hard to believe that, after seeing Miss Parker's photographs, for they substantiate the acclaim given her by a feminine admirer, a fashion writer, who says:

"Gladys Parker is the perfect sub-deb. Young, slim as a reed, she has a saucy independence of spirit typical of our younger generation."

That saucy independence is seen not only in the designs of the clothing which Gladys Parker creates for the 11-to-17-year-old girl, but in the captivating and pert names, which she gives each of her individual models.

Under such cleverly conceived names as "Stuffed Shirt," "Pickaninny" and "My Beau," she has introduced wearable, individual costumes for every type of young girl. She has taken into consideration the plump youngster, and the willowy type, and made for them clothing which is young, sleek and sophisticated.

Proof that she understands the clientele of which she is a part, is the sales records in the Collegienne shop at Ayres, where Gladys Parker dresses are shown exclusively in Indianapolis. Although the clothes were introduced here only recently, Indianapolis sub-debs have bought them quickly, and are clamoring for more.

The latest arrival of these smart young clothes includes Gladys Parker's salute to the windway silhouette. It is a suit, named "Breezy," and is shown at Ayres in a black ribbed wool material, with plaid red and white taffeta blouse.

The blouse is made with short puffed sleeves, and a full frill down the front, which gives the effect of being blown by a "sou'wester." The short jacket is open at the front, cut with square appearing lapels, and buttons to the blouse with large round buttons.

Brown Crepe Used for 'Ruff Neck' Dress