

U. S. AGENTS AWAIT INSULL IN PORT SAID

No Sign of Greek Freighter on Which Magnate Fled Athens.

By United Press
PORT SAID, Egypt, March 21.—Two American detectives watched all incoming vessels today for Samuel Insull, who is seeking a refuge from extradition efforts of the United States government. The detectives arrived here by airplane from Athens, where the Chicago utilities man eluded arrest by embarking for a secret destination in the specially chartered little freight steamship Maiotis.

There had been no sign of the Maiotis here today. Egyptian authorities were watching ships, along with the Americans, to make sure that Insull did not land secretly.

May Reach Monte Carlo
It was rumored here, without more foundation than has supported countless other rumors, that Insull had altered his destination and was bound for Monte Carlo, the little Riviera principality under French suzerainty.

Egypt's attitude seemed to be open, and there had been no word of American policy in event that Insull sought merely to pass through the canal—under the Greek flag—on his way to a Red sea destination such as Abyssinia.

Abyssinian authorities had informed the United Press Addis Ababa correspondent that they did not want Insull and would not permit him to land because they did not wish to be involved in legal arguments with the United States government.

Reports that the United States had asked all nations bordering on the Mediterranean, and perhaps along the shores of the narrow Red sea, at the other end of the Suez canal, to arrest Insull on sight could not be verified.

Believe Alternatives Plotted
Officials believed that Insull's lawyers, in consultation with his agents at London, had plotted four plans, with alternatives, for his immediate future. They were cognizant of the inhospitable attitude assumed officially by all nations mentioned as a possible refuge, while United States and other officials necessarily worked in darkness as

'NRA Sheriff' Tosses Hat in G. O. P. Race

Slash Salaries, Put More
Deputies to Work,
Candidate's Goal.

The first "NRA sheriff" to enter the lists in the melee for the Republican candidacy as high police officer of Marion county tossed his hat in the ring today with a blue eagle perched atop it.

He is Clyde E. (Dusty) Rhoades, 3847 English avenue. "I'm for cutting the sheriff's salary and also those of his deputies and employing more persons just as the NRA is trying to do. I'll go farther and use the money for the cuts to put on a road patrol so that the county at large will be protected against the Dillingers and the Pierponts," Rhoades promises.

The biggest plank in his platform and one by which he's going to guard against "whittling" is "No wooden guns in the Marion county jail. No broomsticks except the one I'll use to clean house."

Mr. Rhoades was born May 21, at Wabash, Ind. He has been deputy constable in Marion county, captain of a private patrol agency in Chicago, saw service in the World war, served two terms as chief deputy sheriff of Newton county. He is owner of the State Adjustment Bureau and is a member of the Eagles lodge and the Presbyterian church.

they sought to guess his whereabouts and his destination.

Rumania, Turkey and other nations to which his ship might go without passing through Suez were closed to him. He was forbidden to land at any British or French colonial port.

There was no word here as to alternatives to a Mediterranean or Red Sea destination, other than those of his lawyers before he left Athens, which were that they had selected as possible destinations a "number" of small nations with which the United States had no extradition treaty.

his energy
came right back!"

DR. HANS JANUSCHKE

"The Treatment of Constipation," reports
the case below

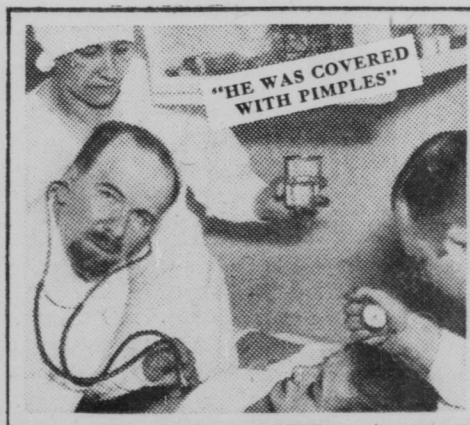

ARE you feeling fit, tiptop? If not, compare your troubles with those of the patient Dr. Januschke tells about! If you're run-down, get tired easily, don't look your best, have stomach distress, irregular bowel movements, consider what Dr. Januschke says:

elimination isn't what it should be. Cathartics are often irritating. Yeast, on the other hand, is gentle, natural.

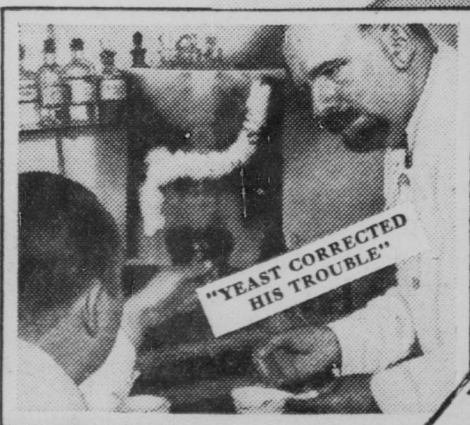

"In stubborn digestive troubles, yeast is my first thought. I advise it, too, as a blood purifier for people with pimples, boils and acne."

"Run-down people suffering from headaches, colds, bad breath should eat yeast regularly."

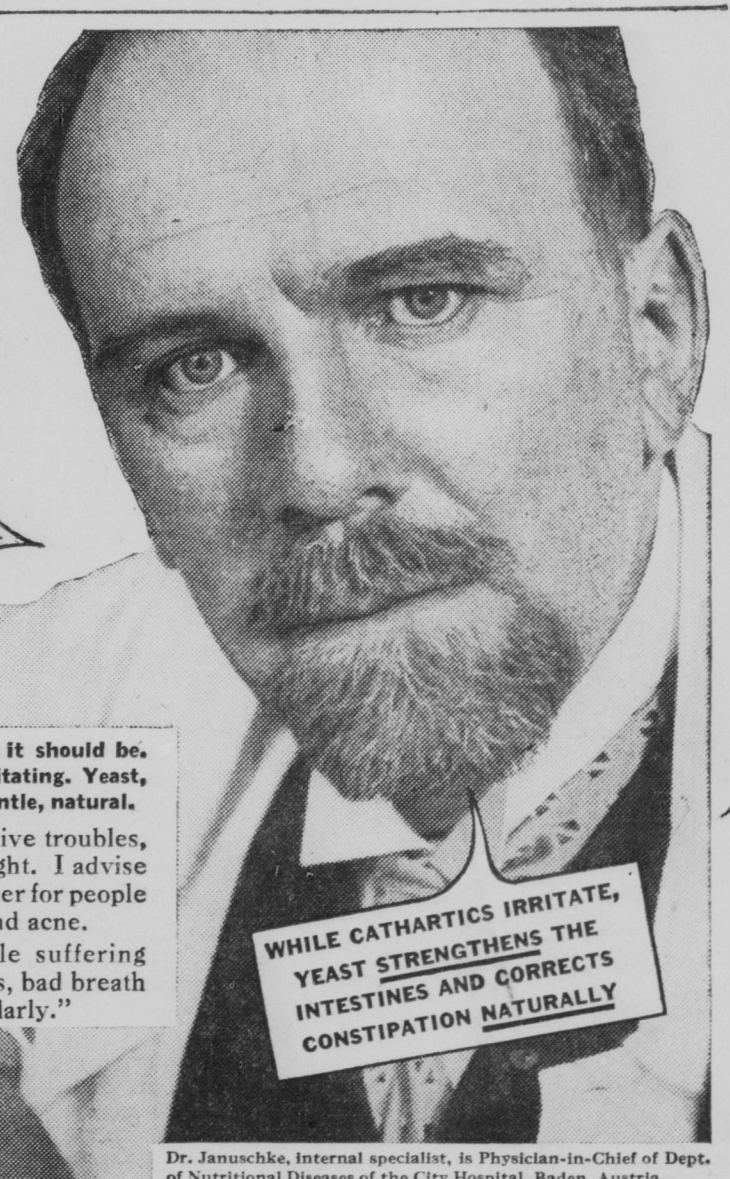

"Many diseases result from constipation. Yet so few people are aware their

"THE PATIENT." Dr. Januschke relates, "was a young man of 26, overweight and suffering from chronic constipation. He had pimples all over his face, back and chest. I prescribed yeast," Dr. Januschke adds, "to be eaten before each meal. After the second week, results were splendid..."

"HIS ELIMINATION was regular. The pimples were greatly reduced. His energy came right back. He was soon in better physical condition than in years." (X-ray picture shows intestine in healthy condition. The result of eating yeast.)

Dr. Januschke, internal specialist, is Physician-in-Chief of Dept. of Nutritional Diseases of the City Hospital, Baden, Austria.

LITERALLY MILLIONS of people have benefited by Fleischmann's Yeast, and it is easy to understand why. This great corrective food makes stomach juices flow more freely.
