

EAST CHICAGO AROUSED OVER ARMORY LOSS

Charge of 'Politics' Hurled as Protests Deluge General Straub.

Adjutant-General Elmer F. Straub has been deluged with protests from East Chicago citizens aroused and irate over his orders to remove national guard units and abandon the armory there.

General Straub today denied vehemently that any politics entered into his new guard reorganization plans. Changes were made for "geographical and military," and not political, reasons, he said.

The abandonment of the East Chicago units he explained on grounds of economy, saying it will save $2,400 a year in armory rental there.

The tumultuous protest at East Chicago has added greatly to the anti-administration sentiment that long has been rampant in Lake county, it was reported.

Claims Armory Condemned

General Straub pointed out that the federal government had condemned the East Chicago armory and new quarters would have had to be obtained.

Instead, he moved headquarters of the Second battalion. One hundred thirteenth engineers and the medical detachment of the same regiment to Gary.

In the general shifting about, the guard units at Shelbyville were increased. This being the home town of Pius Greenlee, McMillan's patronage secretary, the move added name to the fire built by those who have long contended that politics is being played in the Hoosier guard.

They point out that Brigadier-General D. Wm. De Prez, Shelbyville, is on Mr. Greenlee's side in the bitter Democratic factional warfare being carried on there. Leader of the Greenlee opposition is John Day De Prez, Shelbyville editor and relative of the general.

Greenlee Denies Responsibility

Mr. Greenlee denied that he had anything to do with the guard shifts, admitted that he had talked it over with the adjutant-general before they were made, but declared:

"Abandoning those armories was ordered by the federal government."

General Straub has a military map in his office showing why each move was made. The Shelbyville setup gives the city more units but less actual troops, he pointed out. It merely concentrates General De Prez' headquarters there, he explained.

Last year when General Straub ordered a wholesale shakeup of officer personnel and several commissions were revoked, the same charge of "politics" was hurled.

Way Back in the Days of Long Ago

This is the third of a series of pictures of scenes and people depicting "the good old days" in Indianapolis. Others will recall sites and people belonging to the past. The Times will pay readers $1 for each picture accepted to run in this series.

Much of the social life of early Indianapolis was built around the activities of the old German House, which now is the Athenaeum. It was organized and built by members of some of the old German families and included in its early festivities dances, concerts, and elaborate programs on George Washington's birthday and New Year's eve.

The first directors of the German House served from 1892 to 1902. They were (left to right) Wilhelm Haueisen, vice-president; Albrecht Kipp, secretary; Henry Schnull, treasurer; Clemens Vonnegut, financial secretary, and Herman Lieber, president. All of these men have descendants living in Indianapolis today, many of them prominent in social and civic life, and still active members of the Athenaeum.

Below are reproductions of two daguerrotypes, taken about seventy years ago. Lower left, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwomeyer, with their baby daughter, who later became Mrs. Frank Trost, who lived at 3622 Grace-land avenue at the time of her death, a year ago.

The other shows Henry and William Schwomeyer, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Schwomeyer. These daguerrotypes are owned by Miss Mary Trost, 3622 Graceland avenue.

STRIKING TAXI DRIVERS RUN RIOT IN NEW YORK

Cabmen Make Shambles of City's Theatrical District.

By United Press

NEW YORK, March 22.—Broadway and the theatrical district were strewn with the pieces of wrecked taxicabs and partailed by extra police today following a wild night of rioting that came as a climax to efforts to settle the strike of taxi drivers.

Defying police, more than 1,000 strikers made the district a roaring playground last night. They stopped taxicabs, tore doors off, broke windows and assaulted drivers, all the while screaming insults at police and onlookers.

Two were seriously injured and seven others, including two policemen, were slightly hurt in innumerable melees.

MAE WEST CURVES AID GOOD EYESIGHT OPTOMETRISTS HEAR

By United Press
LINCOLN, Neb., March 22.—The Mae West concept of feminine beauty with curves replacing the svelte figure will result in better eyesight and more efficient office girls, Dr. Clarence R. Carlson believes.

"Curves and healthful conditions resulting from natural eating will give more eye comfort, more energy and cause luster and sparkle in the eyes," he said in an address to southeastern Nebraska optometrists. "Strenuous dieting is bound to cause harmful reaction on the eyes."

Another source said the cause of the break was over an article Mr. Smith rejected for the March issue which was composed of pledges taken from President Roosevelt's election speeches and his actions after he became President, set in parallel columns. This article, it was said, will appear in the April issue.

Mr. Smith has been both critical and sympathetic toward the new deal. His most celebrated criticism of the policies of the man who beat him out for the Democratic presidential nomination at Chicago, was his attack on administration monetary policies last fall when he coined the phrase, "Baloney Dol-

SMITH RESIGNS AS EDITOR OF NEW OUTLOOK

Democrat Reported to Be in Disagreement With G. O. P. Publisher.

By United Press
NEW YORK, March 22.—Following a disagreement with his publisher over editorial policy, Alfred E. Smith has resigned as editor of the monthly magazine, the New Outlook, it was learned today.

The resignation will be officially announced at the magazine's office probably today when copies of letters recently exchanged between Mr. Smith and Frank A. Tichenor, owner and publisher, will be released. It was understood that Mr. Smith gave as his reason the pressure of other business.

The real reason, however, was disagreement over the magazine's viewpoint toward the national administration, it was learned from sources close to both men.

Mr. Tichenor, a Republican, was understood to have wanted to handle Washington criticism "without gloves," while Mr. Smith favored remaining silent on some questions.

Mr. Smith and Mr. Tichenor disagreed most recently over the situation brought about by the government's cancellation of air mail contracts. Mr. Tichenor, it was said, wished to attack the cancellation. Aero Digest, another of his publications, contained a stinging attack in its last issue, but the New Outlook was silent.

STOCK MARKET BILL ASSAILED BY WHITNEY

Control Measure "Unworkable and Destructive," He Says.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, today called the new securities market control bill "unworkable and destructive."

He told the house interstate commerce committee holding hearings on the compromise substitute for the original Fletcher-Rayburn bill, that the New York Exchange opposed the new measure for the same reason it was against the old bill.
