

NATION'S PRESS RAPPS SENATE IN UPSETTING VETO

Roosevelt Rigidly Upheld:
Action Seen as Blow to Recovery.

By United Press
Newspapers throughout the nation, commenting upon the senate's action in overriding President Roosevelt's veto of the independent offices bill, characterized it editorially as an attack upon the administration's leadership, but set forth varying views as to the importance of the "revolt." The New York Daily News even suggested this "is what leads to dictatorships."

Among the editorials:

New York Herald Tribune (arch Republican): "The Republicans in the senate who voted unanimously for this result, and the Republicans in the house, who voted for it, 97 to 2, perhaps feel they have rendered a brilliant service to their party. If so, it is impossible for us to agree with them. . . . The fact remains that here the President was right; and his overthrow on this question can not do other than profoundly shake the national confidence in the government."

Real Merits Ignored

Detroit Free Press (Independent): The decision against the veto was . . . largely an act of deference to clamorous, organized political demands which representatives in particular were afraid to refuse with re-election fights immediately ahead. It had relatively little to do with opinion about the real merits of the matter. . . . The ordinary congressman . . . was slow in understanding the force of an economy protest against the appropriation of a mere two hundred million . . . in the face of unprecedented recovery outlay.

Baltimore Sun (Republican): Congress has deliberately turned its back on the greatest good of the greatest number of American citizens in order to meet the requirements of a special group. . . . It swung far away from the President's budget estimates. It also bowed submissively to the demands of a minority of voters, supposedly possessing power of life or death over members of the house and senate in their own constituencies.

Seen as Downward Step

Hartford (Conn.) Courant (Republican)—For congress . . . the overriding of the veto is another step downward, for it demonstrates afresh the lack of responsibility, the yielding to selfishness and the degeneration of ideals that have caused it in the past to lose the confidence of the people.

New Haven (Conn.) Journal-Courier (Republican)—The senate . . . has struck at the federal credit unbalanced the regular budget, shattered the base on which the new deal rested, menaced what recovery we had achieved. It has done this to save its own neck in the elections now in the offing.

Albany (N. Y.) Knickerbocker Press (Independent)—A study and analysis of the veto in the senate . . . shows how devastating can be the work of "politics." . . . Timidity on one side, vindictiveness on the other, together make a wretched spectacle of politics at its worst.

Cleveland Plain Dealer (Independent)—"By a vote of 63 to 27

ENGINEER ENDS 44 YEARS OF SERVICE

Veteran Trainman on Last Run Today.

Jerry E. McGlaughlin, veteran engineer on the Peoria & Eastern division of the Big Four railroad, will end forty-four years of service at the throttle when he brings his train into the Union Station at 1:30 this afternoon.

Mr. McGlaughlin reached the retirement age on his seventieth birthday March 13, but following the custom of the road, his retirement did not become effective until the end of the month.

He began work with the line in 1882, and in 1890 he became engineer. He has lived in Indianapolis since 1900. He and his wife now reside at 2314 North Illinois street.

Mr. McGlaughlin has no plans for the future except to enjoy his leisure at home and possibly make a visit to Florida next year. Officials of the railroad plan to give him an elaborate reception as he completes his last run today.

WIRT CHARGES SPIKED IN BOOK BY ROOSEVELT

New Deal Springs from Masses, Says Author in Work.

By United Press
NEW YORK, March 30.—If there has been a revolution since the new deal was inaugurated it has been strictly peaceful, President Roosevelt says in the foreword of his new book to be published soon.

The chief executive's own feelings about the New Deal took on especial interest in view of the charge of Dr. William A. Wirt, Gary school superintendent, that a certain member of the brain trust regarded Mr. Roosevelt as the "Kerenky" of a Communist revolution. The proofs of the foreword were made public today by the President's publishers.

"Some people have called our new policy 'Fascism,'" Mr. Roosevelt said. "It is not Fascism because its inspiration comes from the mass of people themselves rather than from a class or a group or a marching army. Moreover, it is being achieved without a change in fundamental Republican method. We have kept the faith with, and in, our traditional political institutions. Some people have called it 'Communism'; it is not that either. It is not a driving regimentation founded upon the plans of a perpetuating directorate which subordinates the making of laws and the processes of the courts to the orders of the executive. Neither does it manifest itself in the total elimination of any class or in the abolition of private property."
