Way Back in the Days of Long Ago

This is the thirteenth of a series of pictures and scenes and people depicting "the good old days" in Indianapolis. Others have recalled sites and people belonging to the past.

One of the most famous baseball teams for which Indianapolis fans ever rooted was the one which won the pennant in 1908. Old-timers recall that under the management of Charles C. Carr this team produced some of the outstanding ball players of the country. Rube Marquard was sold following the winning season to the New York Giants for $11,000, a staggering figure for a ball player in those days.

"Bull Durham, known as the 'iron man' of the team, often pitched both games of a double header. "Owne" Bush, now manager of the Minneapolis team, was one of the best-known players on the team. He left the Indianapolis team to go to Detroit Tigers, where he was star shortstop for years. Later he managed teams for Indianapolis, Chicago,

Montgomery will advocate consolidation of governmental units and will strive to run his office courteously and efficiently, he asserts. He served as inheritance tax appraiser from 1923 to 1933.

CITY DETECTIVE SHOT IN BATTLE STILL CRITICAL

Police Press Search for Alleged Burglar in Shooting Affray.

With the discovery of the stolen truck believed to have been used by Ivan Coy, wanted for the shooting of detective sergeant John Welch in Indianapolis Tuesday, police today investigated reports that the alleged burglar suspect may have retraced his steps to this city.

The light delivery truck, property of Don Maxwell, Martinsville, was found abandoned today at High School and National roads by the police. Presence of the car in Indianapolis checked with reports that Coy was seen here last night, according to the police.

It is believed that Coy retraced his flight from Indianapolis to the south following the shooting and came back along National road to Indianapolis.

Detective Sergeant Welch, who was shot twice by Coy, was reported still in serious condition at city hospital today.

Detective Welch was shot in the leg and body when he chased Coy through an alley in the rear of 1515 Reiser street late Tuesday. With Detective Sergeant Charles Russell, Detective Welch had gone to the Reiser street address to arrest Coy, said by the police to be wanted for burglary in North Salem.

Orville Toler of R. R. 18, Box 364, told police early today that he was sure a man who came to his home last night was Ivan Coy from the description given by Mrs. Anna Toler, his mother. Toler was out when the man called, but Mrs. Toler talked to him for several minutes. Toler said he was well acquainted with Coy.

It's the talk of the town!

I'm glad to see the club has put in some decent Bourbon whiskey at last. That Crab Orchard is great!

Nothing like a good straight whiskey and I understand it's very reasonably priced.

Yes. I was surprised to know you could buy whiskey like that for so little money. I've had a case sent to my home.

Crab Orchard is winning friends everywhere. Distilled in old Kentucky, and bottled from the barrel, it's straight as a string. No artificial coloring and no fancy price.
