

ANTI-LYNCHING BILL AMENDED BY COMMITTEE

Van Nuys Expected to Read
Favorable Report to Senate Soon.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—With in a few days Senator Frederick Van Nuys (Dem., Ind.) will bring before the senate the judiciary committee's favorable report on the Wagner-Costigan anti-lynching bill.

The bill was amended yesterday before the committee ordered the favorable report without a dissenting vote.

The provision which would have assessed an arbitrary tax of $10,000 against the country in which a lynching occurs, the money to be distributed among dependents of the mob's victim, was modified to permit determination of the penalty by a federal court jury, not less than $2,000, nor more than $10,000.

The committee also changed the definition of a lynch mob to read: "Three or more persons acting in concert, without authority of law, to kill or injure any person in the custody of any peace officer, with the purpose of consequence of depriving such person of due process of law or the equal protection of the laws."

Under this new definition, according to Senator Van Nuys, the proposed federal statute would not apply in a case where a mob seizes its victim before his arrest by local officers. Although this seems a vital curtailment of the powers of the bill, the senator said he understood the new definition is satisfactory to the groups sponsoring federal anti-lynching legislation.

Another committee amendment makes two counties jointly liable when a prisoner is seized in one county and lynched in another.

— 4½ miles of warehouses

Everything that Science knows about is used in making Chesterfields.

One thing we do is to buy mild, ripe tobaccos and then lock up these tobaccos in modern storage warehouses to age and mellow like rare wines.

It takes about 3 years to age the tobaccos for your Chesterfield, for Time does something to tobacco that neither man nor machine can do.

It means something to keep 70 million dollars worth of tobacco in storage. It means just this:

We do everything possible to make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.
