

Derby Will Be Seen by City Folk

Several Parties Already Formed to Attend Sport Classic.

BY BEATRICE BURGAN
The opening of the sixtieth Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs May 12 is causing a stir in fashionable sporting circles. Many followers are making plans for traditional parties; others are going down to the internationally famous race for the first time.

Miss Burgan

Mr. and Mrs. Val Nolan will join a box party of members of their family. Seldom does Mrs. Nolan's father, Charles Covert, Evansville, miss a Derby with members of his family as his guests. This year Mrs. Nolan's sister, Mrs. Robert Craft, and Lieutenant Craft of the Chanute field, and Mr. Nolan's brother, Eugene Nolan, and Mrs. Nolan, Evansville, will be members of the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Val Nolan came to Indianapolis from Evansville last year when Mr. Nolan became United States district attorney. When they lived at Evansville they were followers of the races at Dade park, which annually attracts many visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Beach will join a group of out-of-town friends who will attend the Derby.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Test are planning to attend, as are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Showalter and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Slaughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shields of Foxcliffe, near Martinsville, attend the races annually with a group of their friends, usually stopping at French Lick for a few days before returning home.

Many patrons of the St. Vincent Hospital Guild will attend the supper-dance tonight at the Indianapolis Athletic Club in parties. Among the parties will be one composed of Messrs. and Mesdames Walter Stuhlreher, Ralph Lieber, Marshall Dale, Miss Mary Jo Pavey and Francis Bronan.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Desautels will attend with Messrs. and Mesdames George Hoster, T. Gordon Kelly and James Ray, Messrs. and Mesdames John F. Darnody, Peter V. Garstland, Leo McNamara, Frank Kottman, Maurice McGrath, Joseph McDuffee, George Grinstainer, Clarence Sweeney and Mrs. Carrie Rink will form a party.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore H. Dettlaff will bring the house guests, Mr. and Mrs. William Mulhern, Chicago.

Among the numerous hosts and hostesses will be Messrs. and Mesdames Leroy Keach, George Hilgemoier Jr., David Liggett, Myron McGeehan, Russell Pierson and Misses Frances Kottman and Mary Louise Conner.

Women golfers at Broadmoor Country Club will begin their season with an obstacle putting tournament next Saturday.

After the round of golf, players will attend the club luncheon before discussion of business and rules for the year's playing. Mrs. Carl McCaskey will talk on "Golf and Good Sportsmanship."

STATE GROUP WILL ATTEND MEETING

Mrs. Paul E. Tombaugh, president of the Indianapolis Y. W. C. A., will head the local delegation to the national convention of Young Women's Christian Associations May 2 to 8, in Philadelphia.

Others to attend will be Mesdames R. H. Graves, E. D. Moten, and C. H. Brackett; Misses Marian Davis, Thelma Houser, Edith Turner, Mary Ellen Smith, Irene Harris, Evelyn White and Helen Siseover.

They will be joined by representatives of the Y. M. C. A. branches of Gary, Muncie, Marion, Ft. Wayne, Bloomington and Evansville and will travel by bus. Caravan chairman for Indiana are Mrs. Russell E. Adkins and Mrs. Tombaugh.

OHIO ALUMNAE TO CHOOSE OFFICERS

Officers will be selected from a list to be presented by the nominating committee of the Indianapolis Ohio State Alumnae Association at a luncheon meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Hillis L. Howie, 4443 Guilford avenue. Mrs. Donald C. Drake is chairman of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Albert H. Hinkle and Mrs. Ernest Cohn.

The following slate will be presented: President, Mrs. Arthur E. Focke; vice-president, Mrs. James C. Schoenlaub; and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Frank D. Koehne.

Mr. Howie will describe his expeditions for the children's museum. Mrs. Charles T. Harman, president, is in charge of acceptance of membership petitions.

Cotton Shop at Ayres to Open Soon

Wide Choice of Fabrics Will Be Feature of New Unit.

BY HELEN LINDSAY

THE opening of Ayres cotton shop Monday will be a revelation to Indianapolis women, for choice of fabrics is extensive, and wash materials have been introduced in wear for all occasions. The popularity of shorts for the coming summer is reflected in a variety of styles. One striking costume consists of abbreviated black linen shorts, buttoned down the back with large white buttons, and a red handkerchief top with a pleated halter neck.

Shorts are seen also in plaid seersucker active sports dresses, fastened to the shirt top. This dress, like one in Mexican striped broadcloth, made in the same style, has a skirt which buttons down the front.

All-white shorts are shown in gaberdine, with a high-necked shirt. The shorts lace down the back with a navy blue fastening, like sailor's trousers.

The black and white checked suit, seen first in tweeds, has been converted into a spectator sport's costume in checked linen. It is worn with a plain colored dark blue linen double breasted blouse.

Schiaparelli's suit is shown in natural colored crash, with pointed revers, fastened together in front with huge black buttons, giving a wind-swept front. The short jacket is belted all around.

Mrs. Lindsay

Red Gingham Noted
Spectator sports costumes include a red plaid gingham dress, worn with a plain, bright red Russian jacket. The jacket has a stand-up collar, and closes at the throat with a frog fastening. Mainbocker's influence is seen in the jacket, which is slit at the sides like a kimono.

Another costume in the shop is a brown linen suit, with white waffle pique revers on the coat to match the blouse worn with the suit.

A red jacket is worn with a print afternoon dress. The print has a small white and red figure on a dark background. The dress and coat both are sleeveless, but the coat has an Anthony Adverse cape, giving it a covered shoulder.

Cotton lace is shown in dark blue in a suit for afternoon wear. Cotton lace suits are shown also in pastel shades.

A shirtwaist dress is included in printed sateen, with a pleated shirt front, high neck and pearl buttons down the front. Dotted Swiss gingham are included in sheer active sports dresses. One dress in checked seersucker is made to button at the shoulders, with pointed ends standing up.

Dinner Models Offered
Dinner dresses are shown in cotton fabrics, also. One is a plaid organdy, with full sleeves and a tailored collar, with a bow of grosgrain ribbon. Another is in navy blue organdy, with lace polka-dotted in red braid edging the neck, armholes, and the neck, which is cut in a deep, narrow V to the waist in back.

A black organdy dress has a ruffled cape over the shoulders, and the only trimming is white organdy gardenias edging the neckline in front.

Red and white diagonal striped organdy is seen in another evening dress, made with a square neck. The Chanel silhouette is noticeable in a black striped organdy, the shirt sheathlike in front, and full below the knees.

The puffed sleeves are trimmed with a ruffle, and a ruffle also is used in a band about the knees.

A brown organdy dinner dress is made with a deep fichu cape collar. The skirt is ruffled to the waist in spirals in the back, and a brown velvet girdle is worn with the dress.

The Coca-Cola bar at Ayres also will be opened Monday. It will be located between the cotton shop and the colligence shop.
