

NEW 'TARZAN' PICTURE IS FEATURE ATTRACTION AT PALACE THEATER

Johnny Weissmuller Is in Starring Role Once More

Maureen O'Sullivan Is Leading Lady to Famed Swimmer in Jungle Film.

"Tarzan and His Mate" is the new jungle thrill picture which has opened at Loew's Palace theater.

Johnny Weissmuller as "Tarzan" and Maureen O'Sullivan again are united in a jungle love story based on the famous fiction characters created by Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Herds of elephants are shown charging members of a safari followed by a mixed fight between elephants and fifty lions with Weissmuller in the middle of the struggle.

Other animal thrills include a battle to the death between Weissmuller and a giant crocodile at a depth of more than thirty feet under water, photographed by submerged cameras.

Herds of zebras, gorillas, ostrich flocks, and many smaller African animals also are shown.

Human drama in the picture is provided by a strong supporting cast with Weissmuller and Miss O'Sullivan, including Neil Hamilton in the role of Harry Holt, that he played in the highly successful "Tarzan, the Ape Man." He is said to repeat his performance with notable success.

Paul Cavanaugh is a powerful "heavy" as a jungle explorer with a craze for ivory. Forrest Harvey provides comedy as a Cockney store-keeper; Doris Lloyd, William Stack, Desmond Roberts, and Nathan Curry complete the cast.

Cedric Gibbons, noted art director for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, has adapted his ability to direction of the adventure picture with a maximum of power and vigor in each scene.

Also on the supplementary program is Walt Disney's latest Mickey Mouse cartoon, "Giant Land"; an oddity subject, "Trick Golf," and rounded out by the latest minute views of current news as pictured by Hearst Metrotone News.

Musical at Circle

Singing more songs than he has in any other motion picture, Bing Crosby's latest starring picture, "We're Not Dressing," is now on view at the Circle.

From the original by Benjamin Glazer, "We're Not Dressing" is a breezy, romantic song-fest, played against the background of a deserted South Sea island.

In addition to Crosby, the film features Carole Lombard, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Ethel Merman and Leon Errol.

The songs for Crosby, as well as those which the Merman sings, were written by Mack Gordon and Harry Revel, composers of "Did You Ever See a Dream Walking." Direction is by Norman Taurog.

Aboard a palatial yacht, Carole Lombard, a wealthy heiress, is touring the South Pacific with her two rich suitors and her foxy uncle, Leon Errol.

Bored with life in general, the young girl gets quite a kick out of watching the antics of one of her sailors, Bing Crosby, to whom she has entrusted the care of her pet bear, Droopy.

In his drunken moments one foggy night, Errol stumbles into the wheelhouse, opens a door through which all the charts are blown, breaks the compass and they all wake up, wrecked on a deserted isle.

With loads of work to do, the sailor takes matters into his hands and to the annoyance of every one, especially Carole Lombard, he puts them all to work.

Complications increase daily, and become quite serious when Burns and Allen, a couple of naturalists, join their camp.

How Bing sings his way through their troubles, eventually winning the heart of his wealthy employer, brings the picture to an entertaining climax.

Two at Indiana

The Indiana theater is presenting another double feature program this week, including "Come on, Marines" and "His Double Life."
