

FIND DYNAMITE NEAR HOME OF SILK WORKER

Plot Thought Frustrated as Employee Shoots at Prowler.

Premature explosion of a cap and fuse attached to a quantity of dynamite said by police to be sufficient to cause considerable damage frustrated an alleged plot to blow up the home of Richard Radcliff, Real Silk hosiery mills worker, early today.

Police, called to Mr. Radcliff's home at 1125 North Dearborn street, were told that a prowler had been frightened away from the premises, early this morning, by Mr. Radcliff, who fired five shots at the intruder. The dynamite and exploded cap and fuse were found in the shrubbery, near the foundation of Mr. Radcliff's home. He told police he had been aroused by the noise of an explosion. Today's occurrence is the second since the start of the labor trouble that an alleged dynamite plot has been frustrated.

Similar explosive equipment was found by police near the home of John Madden, at 2614 East North street, May 4, after an explosion tore a small hole in the foundation of the house.

Mayor In Conference

With otherwise peaceful conditions taking the place of recent outbreaks of violence near the mills, conciliation of the labor trouble had not progressed any further today, it was learned.

At a conference called by Mayor Reginald H. Sullivan, at his office yesterday, William Smith, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Full-Fashioned Hosiery Workers, and G. A. Efroyson, president of the Real Silk hosiery mills, discussed the strike situation, it was reported, but failed to come to an agreement.

Three thousand handbills distributed among strikers today warned them that the leaders, seeking recognition of the union in the hosiery plant, would not tolerate any stonings or other outbursts of violence, on the part of the strikers.

Strikers and company officials anxiously waited today for the next move in the legal steps which have been taken by both sides in an effort to determine the matter of picketing the mills.

Police Restrainer Lifted

Yesterday, the Indiana supreme court temporarily set aside the order previously issued by Circuit Judge Earl R. Cox prohibiting the police from interfering with the union strikers and their sympathizers in picketing the Real Silk plant.

The hearing on the writ of prohibition, issued by the supreme court yesterday, was set for May 15, at which time Judge Cox will be summoned to show cause why the order of the higher court should not be made permanent.

P. A. Donoghue, federal labor expert, remained in Indianapolis today, following departure of Miss Anna Weinstock, his coworker of the United States labor department, who left for Washington yesterday. Miss Weinstock, it was learned, will report to Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, on the local situation.

COUPLE BURN TO DEATH

Chicago Man and Wife Trapped in Fire, Believed Incendiary.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Trapped in bed in their small apartment, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Anderson, 60, were burned to death today before firemen could gain entrance. Fire department authorities thought the blaze possibly incendiary. Seven other families escaped the burning building by leaping from windows.

TAX RULING ANNOUNCED

Nonresidents Exempt for Notes Issued to Them, Lutz Says.

Nonresidents of Indiana need not pay taxes on notes issued to them, according to an intangible tax law ruling to the state tax board from Philip Lutz Jr., attorney-general.

Mr. Lutz held that the law applies only to Indiana residents.
