

LATE MASONS OPEN ANNUAL MEETING HERE

500 Expected at Gathering of Grand Lodge of Indiana.

Annual state meeting of the grand lodge of Indiana, Free and Accepted Masons, opened today in the Masonic temple. Five hundred delegates are expected to attend.

Frank G. Laird, who served two terms as grand master and retires this session, presided.

Official opening was at 10. At noon the Scottish Rite cathedral was to serve dinner.

Annual election of officers was to be held this afternoon.

Many living past grand masters attended the ceremonies.

Tonight a dinner will be given by Oriental lodge No. 500 at the Scottish Rite cathedral in honor of Grand Master Laird.

Following the dinner the lodge will hold a special exemplification of the Master Mason degree.

The grand lodge program tomorrow calls for a visit to the Masonic home at Franklin. A special train will leave the Union station at 8 a.m.

New officers will be installed upon the return of delegates from Franklin.

Officers of the grand lodge in addition to Mr. Laird, are: Harry Yeo, Muncie, deputy grand master; Rudolph H. Borst, South Bend, senior grand warden; Thomas J. Wilson, Corydon, junior grand warden; Frank E. Gavin, Indianapolis, grand treasurer; William H. Swintz, Indianapolis, grand secretary; the Rev. Warren W. Wiant, Indianapolis, grand chaplain; Ivory C. Tolle, Lebanon, grand lecturer; Lee Whitehead, Attica, grand marshal; D. Burns Douglass, Ft. Wayne, senior grand deacon; William H. Morrison, Indianapolis, junior grand deacon; Charles E. Lucas, Indianapolis, grand steward and tyler.

GAS EXPLOSION VICTIM TAKEN FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. Springer Removed to Home;

Mrs. Clara Springer, injured seriously in a blast that rocked the north side last Thursday, has been removed from city hospital to her home.

Mrs. Springer is said to have attempted suicide by placing her head in a gas oven in her home, 3232 MacPherson street. The explosion was caused when her son, Wayne, turned on an electric light, a spark igniting the escaping gas.

Mr. Springer still is in city hospital in critical condition.

Women's Relief Corps to Meet

George H. Chapman post, Woman's Relief corps, was to meet at 1:30 this afternoon in Ft. Friendly, 512 North Illinois street. A card party will follow the meeting.

STATE DENTISTS READY TO PICK NEW OFFICERS

Dr. W. C. Hessler Assumes Duties as Leader of Association.

New officers were to be elected and clinics were held at the Indiana University's school of dentistry today at the second day's session of the Indiana State Dental Association.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

UNCIE, May 22.—James M. Gleason, 21, will be given a sanity hearing here next Monday to determine whether he shall stand trial on a charge of murdering his father, Lloyd C. Gleason, Yorktown business man, on Feb. 26.

Dr. Orville Spurgeon and Dr. L. R. Mason have been appointed as a commission to pass upon the mental state of the alleged slayer, said by authorities to have confessed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in the slaying, but a grand jury refused to indict her. An affidavit which charged her with being an accessory before the fact has been dismissed.

The father, the purported confessor, was shot while he and the son struggled for possession of a bottle of whisky.

Mrs. Dora Gleason, widow of the elder man, was involved by the son in