

Miss Adams Betrothal Announced

Debutante of Last Winter Will Be Boston Man's Bride.

BY BEATRICE BURGAN
Times Woman's Page Editor

TODAY Miss Sarah Adams received her diploma from Sarah Lawrence college at Bronxville, N. Y., and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ray Adams, announced her engagement to Louis McClellenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. McClellenn, Boston.

Her fiancée, a graduate of Harvard university, attended her commencement today and shared the engagement congratulations of Miss Adams' classmates.

Before Sally, as she is called by her intimates, went to Sarah Lawrence, she was graduated from Tudor Hall. Last Christmas she came home for the holidays, and was the center of a series of dances and teas before she made her debut Christmas night at the Indianapolis Athletic Club.

Miss Adams is a talented young artist. At Sarah Lawrence she was secretary of the College Arts Club and studied subjects helpful in training of her talent. Several of her colorful and promising pictures hang in the conservatory of the Adams home.

Miss Adams has a keen interest in current events and economics and was co-chairman of clubs devoted to those subjects. She was leader, too, in campus dramatic projects and in school publications.

When Miss Adams returns with her parents to Indianapolis for the summer, she will be an active figure in the younger social set parties and will spend much of her time at her parents' lodge at Lake Maxinkuckee.

Miss Alma Lyons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gelman, received her diploma in the same commencement exercises in which Miss Adams was graduated. Her parents and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Block, attended. Miss Lyons, also a graduate of Tudor Hall, was managing editor of the Campus, weekly newspaper, and co-editor of the yearbook.

More than a decade ago Dr. Owen Davies Odell was pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, before he took charge of the fashionable Sewickley Presbyterian church, in Pittsburgh. On June 30 Dr. Odell will officiate at the wedding of his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Lawther Odell and Philip Chabot Smith, London, England.

Dr. and Mrs. Odell and Miss Odell have been prominent in the Sewickley community since they left Indianapolis. Mr. Smith arrived last week on the Britannic and spent the week-end at the Manse. Miss Sally Odell will be the sister's maid of honor, and Mrs. Robert Robb, Washington, Matron of honor. Bridesmaids will be Miss Doris Smith, London and New York, sister of the bridegroom-elect; Miss Mary Fry, Richmond, Va.; Dorothy Jarvis and Susan Potter O'Neill, Sewickley.

PI BETA PHI TO HONOR SENIORS

Seniors of the Butler university chapter of Pi Beta Phi will be entertained at 6:30 Monday at a dinner, to be given by the Indiana Gamma Alumnae Club at the Blueberry Muffin tearoom. Sixteenth and Meridian streets. Mrs. Burchard Carr will be chairman of the party.

Honor guests will be Misses Helen Carson, Helen Gearen, Anna Marie Dungan, Janet Jerman, Mabel Espey, Evelyn Kellogg, Luana Lee, Martha Shirk, Betty McCracken and Betty Barone.

Officers of the alumnae club for next year are Mrs. Ralph Gery, president; Miss Sally Bosman, vice-president; Miss Dungan, secretary, and Miss Martha Metcalf, treasurer.

SHOWER TENDERED TO RECENT BRIDE

Mrs. John B. Dillon, formerly Miss Edna Mae Ayers, was honored at a miscellaneous shower given last night by Mrs. August J. Osterman and Mrs. Forrest Lee Harris at the home of the latter, 6116 Dewey avenue.

Yellow and white appointments were used. Mrs. Martha Jo Schumaker and Delores McDuffy presented gifts to the bride.

Guests included Misses Nina M. Layne, Helen E. Rush, Lois Tilley, Minnie Wilson, Helen Wiwi, Jean Callahan, and Mesdames Herbert Meister, Fred D. Tucker, Joe N. Cline, Earl M. Hoover, Wilbur H. Miss Kittle Wedded in Simple Rite

Bishop Ritter Officiates at High Nuptial Mass Today.

Wearing the point Venice wedding veil of her sister, Mrs. Burton Hart Jackson, Greenwich, Conn., Miss Marjorie Kittle, in a deep ivory satin gown, and Biagio Lapenta received the blessing of the Most Rev. Bishop Elmer Ritter in a high mass wedding ceremony this morning at St. Peter and Paul Cathedral. The Rev. Joseph Tieman assisted Bishop Ritter.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sloane Kittle, and Mr. Lapenta's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Vincent A. Lapenta.

The ceremony was one of the loveliest of the season because of its simplicity. Tall cathedral tapers lighted the scene, and clusters of daisies, delphinium and peonies marked the entrance of the pews reserved for the immediate families and friends seated by the ushers, John Sloane Kittle Jr., the bride's brother; Mr. Jackson, Arthur Julian and James Nicolai, Terre Haute. Shortly before the services, the aisles were closed with white satin ribbons.

Miss Kittle walked to the altar with her father. The altar was banked with ferns and palms and blue urns were filled with large shasta daisies, peonies, gladioli and delphinium. The altar rail was covered completely with lilies, forming a background for the abundance of flowers interspersed. The top of the rail was covered with clusters of shasta daisies.

A program of bridal airs was sung by Elmer Steffen and H. E. Calland and Miss Louise Dauner, violinist, played. During the ceremony Miss Helen Shepherd played at the organ.

Simplicity Marks Gown

The bride's gown was of Grecian simplicity. The crossed bodice lines were emphasized by narrow bands of seed pearls. The bell sleeves were long, falling over the hands in points, and the neckline was designed with slight cowl effect. The point Venice lace veil was over tulle, which fell the length of the court train. The lace of the cap formed a halo, and orange blossoms were arranged across the back.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade of lilies of the valley, gardenias and Canhamiana orchids, tied with an eggshell satin bow with streamers falling to the floor.

The attendants, Mrs. Jackson, matron of honor; Miss Elizabeth Heiskel, and Miss Catherine Lapenta, sister of the bridegroom, bridesmaids, wore gowns alike of light mousseline de soie. Fichu capes were held together in front by large flowers of the dress material, and fell from the décolletages in back into three-tiered cascades which trailed the floor. The bridesmaids wore large white rough straw hats, with flowers matching their dresses.

The bridesmaids carried light blue satin muffs, completely covered with delphinium, shaded from deep blue to baby blue, with showery of blue satin ribbons, tied with blue pansies. Mrs. Jackson carried a peach satin muff, covered with flame gladioli bells and painted daisies in colors shading from flesh to deep peach, and with showery of peach satin ribbons tied with small peach violas.

Almsworth, Wade, Sturgis, Mich., was best man.

Mrs. Kittle's gown of brown net was designed with a short jacket, with collar and cuffs of white shirred organza. Her hat was of brown bangkok. Mrs. Lapenta's gown was of blue chiffon, and both wore corsages of gardenias.

Breakfast Follows Rite

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Kittle home for the immediate families. Daisies, delphinium and peonies were arranged in vases throughout the house. The mantle was banked with ferns, palms and clusters of flowers in the bridal colors of peach and blue. The wedding cake centered the dining table and was mounted on a garland of white flowers. Flowers in the dining room were white.

Out-of-town guests for the ceremony were Mrs. H. B. Sweet, Memphis, Tenn., who is visiting Mrs. Kittle's mother, Mrs. Rose B. Jordan; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Libbon, Pittsburg; Dr. and Mrs. Paul Campbell, Major and Mrs. Russell Throckmorton, Culver; Miss Sally Morris, Chicago; Mrs. Almsworth, Wade, Sturgis, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Donato, Albert Donato, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Cortese, all of Bloomington.

The couple left for a motor trip east and will be at home for the summer after July 15 at Crooked Creek house, Kessler boulevard and Michigan road. The bride's going away dress was of brown and white pin stripe sheer, trimmed in white organza. Her accessories were brown and white. She wore a corsage which had been arranged in her bridal bouquet.

The bride attended Tudor Hall, Stoneleigh and was graduated from Miss Hare's school in Chicago. Mr. Lapenta attended St. Xavier college and Indiana university.

ARTEMAS CLUB WILL MARK ANNIVERSARY

Eighth anniversary of the Artemas Club will be observed Tuesday with a dinner and program at the Quaint inn, on the Noblesville road. Business meeting is scheduled for 12:30 and followed by dinner at 12:30 and bridge.

Mrs. Fred Brown is chairman of the program and Mesdames George Stiles, Donald Page and T. E. Hanika, hostesses.

Meeting Scheduled

Catherine Merrill Tent, Daughters of Union Veterans, will meet Monday at Ft. Friendly, followed by initiation services and a birthday dinner.

Card Party Set

Liederker Ladies Society will hold a card party at 8:15 tomorrow night in the hall, 1421 East Washington street, with Mrs. Jacob Feller, chairman, Mrs. Paul Kulte and Mrs. Bartl Brandmaier are in charge of reservations for the luncheon and card party to be held at 12:15 Thursday at the Food Craft shop.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Niedhamer announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Niedhamer, and Francis A. Dransfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Dransfield. The wedding will take place June 28 in St. Roch's parish.

A Woman's Viewpoint

BY MRS. WALTER FERGUSON

DON'T you think we often underestimate the intelligence of brides? The lies we dish up to them are quite enough to turn the stomach of a full-grown ostrich. Here, for example, is a perfect specimen:

"Let me make my husband's coffee and I care no who makes eyes at him."

"This bit of hooey has the brevity of a proverb, but it will not sound convincing to any girl with natural sense. The chances are she has learned to discredit nine-tenths of everything she hears and reads on the subject of men, women and marriage. And well she may."

If she's half bright, of course, she will have sufficient original instinct to know that a good cup of coffee sits well with any man in the morning. Being a normal individual, she'd want one herself—which, I think, is reason enough for having good coffee around. But she'll also be well aware that no man ever shied away from her good eyes only because he had good food waiting in the breakfast nook at home.

A man can get excellent coffee around every corner these days, just as he can find a woman to make eyes at him at every street crossing.

Cooking is a desirable accomplishment for a bride, insofar as it adds to her self-respect as an individual who wants to qualify for her job. But never in the history of the race has it halted masculine sallies down the dimmest of primrose paths. Good food may bring a husband running back to mamma for a while, but domestic virtues have never had a fair chance in any competition with sirens, whatever the authorities may say.

When a man wants to stray, the only thing that will keep him at home is a severe case of rheumatism.

Anyway, the neat manner in which we pigeon-hole our men irritates me. Who wants to be married to a person whose moral behavior is based entirely upon whether he dines well or not? Certainly no self-respecting modern woman wishes to waste her life making coffee for any such purpose.

If matrimonial fidelity hinges upon such trivial accomplishments, then we have no cause to congratulate ourselves when our husbands love us, or to praise men when they practice rectitude.

WED IN JUNE

Mrs. Henry Lewis Davis

Before her marriage, June 2, Mrs. Henry Lewis Davis was Miss Effie May Jackson.

LUNCHEON SET FOR ST. MARY'S ALUMNAE

Miss Norma Deluse will be chairman of the annual state luncheon to be held at 1 Saturday, June 16, at the Highland Golf and Country Club by Indianapolis alumnae of St. Mary's College at Notre Dame. Miss Frances Kottman is alumnae president.

Assisting Miss Deluse will be Misses Helen Carroll, Virginia Jobs, Mary Katherine Slattery and Doris Whelan and Mesdames Robert Dinnin, Charles Mason, J. B. Lanagan, and William Kohling McGowan.

SHOWER ARRANGED FOR MISS JUDKINS

Miss Josephine Ragsdale will entertain tomorrow afternoon at her home, 5618 Lowell avenue, with a personal shower for Miss Rosemary Judkins, who will be married to Richard G. Grabnoh, June 24.

Appointments will be in yellow and blue. The hostess will be assisted by her mother, Mrs. O. E. Ragsdale. Miss Mary Elizabeth Woods will sing. A miniature bridal party will form the table centerpiece and garden flowers will decorate the tables.

Circus Decor Employed in Tap Room Adjoining Variety Club's Lounge

Reproductions of Animals, Ringmaster and Other Familiar 'Big Top' Figures Used to Embellish Lamps.

BY HELEN LINDSAY

A REAL circus atmosphere has been created for members of the Variety Club in the taproom adjoining the club's lounge in the Claypool. Decorations just have been completed for the opening tonight. Because the club follows in titles and entertainment the circus theme, red, white and blue were chosen as colors for the room. The floor is painted red, and a blue cotton rug with white fringe partially covers it. The overhead light shades through a parchment shade, shaped and colored like a drum, and the same idea has been used in floor lamps around the room. Reproductions of circus animals, the ringmaster, and other familiar circus figures are used as decorations on these lamps.

The bar is built in representation of a section of a huge red, white and blue drum, with low-backed high chairs in front of it.

Settees around the walls are finished with blue base, and covered with red fabric. Along the broad edges, wooden, jointed circus animals are placed in parade formation.

The ceiling of the room has been covered with canvas, to represent the "big top." Grey and red Venetian blinds are used at the windows, and draperies are red linen with a design of white elephants. The same material has been used in cushions on the settees.

The small liquor-proof top tables are designed so that they can be placed together, making a convenient table for larger groups. The chairs are simple wooden ones, with seat covers of blue fabric.

In a prominent place on the wall of the bar is a picture of Catherine Variety Sheridan, "the adopted child of Variety." The child was adopted by the club when she was found, a deserted baby, several years ago.

Silver and Blue Decorate Lounge

COLOR also has been used in the furnishings of the spacious lounge through which guests pass into the taproom. Silver and blue are the predominating colors. The walls are blue, the ceiling silver, and doors and other woodwork are finished in glazed silver.

White and blue Venetian blinds have been used
