

FORMER KAISER PRAISES HITLER, FLAYS LEAGUE

Wilhelm Discusses World Problems, Scoffs at Geneva Parley.

LONDON, June 11.—Former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, in exile at Doorn, Holland, seemed today to retain the sweeping view of world politics that characterized him when, before the war, he sought "a place in the sun" for Germany. A special correspondent of the Daily Mail quoted the former emperor as reviewing the problems of China, Japan, India, the League of Nations, the wheat and coffee situations in Argentina and Brazil, modern youth and Nazism. Japan seemed to impress him most.

Approves Japan's Stand
"It is useless to think that the growth of Japanese power in China can be prevented," he was quoted as saying. "Japan is as capable of giving China peace and order as the British were in giving them to India. Moreover, Japan constitutes in the east a bulwark against Bolshevism as strong as Germany is in the west."

But he emphasized that he looked on the world entirely from the standpoint of a private gentleman. He was vigorous, alert and gay, the Daily Mail correspondent reported. He started out by discussing his own position and that of Germany. "The German people turned me out and if they want me back they will have to come and fetch me," he was quoted as saying.

"Hitler has done marvelously in putting new life and soul into the German people. If ever they felt right that his endeavors should be crowned by the return of constitutional monarchy, I am sure my family would not fail in their duty."

Amazed by Crop Destroying
Wilhelm expressed amazement and horror at what he called the folly of the world in attempting to restore prices by destroying goods, the correspondent said.

He thought no more of the League of Nations than does Chancellor Adolf Hitler, he indicated. "The talking circus at Geneva has done nothing but bring international co-operation to ridicule," he said. "The trouble with Europe today is that there are plenty of politicians but no statesmen."

DOLLFUSS ACTS TO CRUSH NAZI TERROR REIGN

Vigilantes Are Empowered to Suppress Terrorism Laid to Germany.

VIENNA, June 11.—Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss today invoked a national vigilante system to end an unprecedented reign of terror for which he blamed Austrian Nazis sheltered by Germany. He planned also to decree death for acts of terrorism. Angered by a wild thirty-six hours which left the country nervous, the cabinet early today issued the following terse communique: "Obviously the terrorism is intended to damage the tourist traffic. It has its central headquarters and we have positive information that the headquarters are in Germany."

"Throughout the country, organization of volunteer local defense corps is permitted to search for weapons and explosives and clear up terrorism under the direction of public security officials. "Insofar as volunteers act within reason they need not fear prosecution even if they unintentionally overstep the letter of the law."

Only a few hours before the communique was issued a group of Austrian Nazis entered the Tyrol from Germany, bombed a building at Seefeld, and fled back into Bavaria. Acts of terrorism ranged from an attempt to blow up the chancellery to throwing tear gas bombs at a performance of Wagner's Valkyrie at the opera house.
