

'NO STRIKE,' IS SINCERE PRAYER OF ALL GARY Whole City Is Fearful of Danger; Optimism Is Only on Surface.

where the steel worker plays at night. The story is the same. They don't want a strike.

I Don't Think They Will The merchants feel the same way.

Here's the way the owner of one of the leading stores feels:

"Of course, I hope they get things settled. It would be a terrible thing if we had a strike now—worse than in 1919. Why, I've done more business in the first five months of this year than in the first six months of 1929, and that's nice business. I don't think they'll strike."

His feeling is typical of the rest of the city's business men, but one can detect more than a faint anxiety beneath the optimism.

There are approximately 22,000 steel workers in Gary whose destinies will be at stake in the strike convention Thursday.

There are approximately 48,000 steel workers in the Calumet. This region is the Fourth district of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

12,000 at Illinois Steel

There are twenty-three locals in the district, which includes Gary, East Chicago, Indiana Harbor, in fact, all of the Calumet, and Joliet and South Chicago.

Illinois Steel is big steel, not only in Gary, but in the world. It employs about 12,000 workers now.

About 6,500 more Gary workers toll in the two plants of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company. The remainder commute to plants in nearby cities.

Take Illinois Steel for example. Mill officials will tell you that their men are satisfied and do not want a strike. They place the unionization of the company at 10 per cent.

The mill is operating at 60 per cent of capacity against 10 to 15 per cent in January.

Queries about whether the company is setting up machine gun nests at strategic points and electrifying their fences are met with incredulity.

Flood Lights Installed

There's nothing like that, you're told, and there is no evidence of it. The only preparations made here at the mills for a strike are the installation of some floodlights and setting up of a sort of temporary barracks so workers need not leave the plant.

Union officials will dispute the unionization figure.

You can see why the steel mills don't want a strike. It's a costly business.

Ernest Curtis, Pittsburgh, the Amalgamated organizer, places the union membership at 75 per cent, or 36,000 of the workers in the area.

Another union worker has more impressive figures on the Illinois Steel. He figures the coke furnaces, the open hearths and the blast furnaces are 85 per cent Amalgamated-organized.

Membership Is Mounting

Those three units are the mill, as far as steel-making is concerned. There's no doubt the union membership is mounting. This writer saw two workers come into headquarters, one to pay his dues and the other to join, in the space of a half hour. The increase started month ago, union workers say.

The Gary union men disavow adherence to the preachment of the "rank and file committee," which is the left wing of the Amalgamated.

Ray Kelsey, Gary, the Fourth district representative, has been credited in wire dispatches with "putting in" with the "rank and filers" in some of the Washington negotiations.

However, the local union men insist he is "100 per cent" back of President Mike McGuire and the rest of the national officers.

Not Wanted: A Strike

Let it be repeated—Gary doesn't want a strike, and doesn't believe there will be one. On the surface, all is calm. There is only that underlying fear that the "rank and filers" will swing things and then—in the words of one worker—"hell will pop."

The most outward sign of labor trouble in this bustling and polyglot city that makes steel and was made by steel is in the downtown section.

A picket patrols the sidewalk in front of a meat market.

His sign announces that "this store is unfair to union labor" and in particular to the meat cutters local.

NOW EATS ANY KIND OF FOOD, AND NO CONSTIPATION

Mr. Durigan Finds Relief in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here is his enthusiastic letter:

"Am 70 years of age, and for 40 of these years there never was a week but what I had to take a pill or some kind of cathartic.

"I took everything, but gained only temporary relief. Until last spring my daughter, who is a nurse in a hospital, brought me some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

"At the end of the week, I knew I had something that was it, and I kept on taking it. I haven't taken a cathartic since. I can eat meat any time, as often as I like, or any other kind of food, and no constipation." Mr. L. M. Durigan, 6811 Buffalo Ave., Jacksonville, Florida.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help muscle tone. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much safer than patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
