HOKE DEPLORES AID FUND LAXITY

Tells Builders State Lost $30,000,000 for Building Purposes.

Failure to obtain $30,000,000 to $35,000,000 in Indiana for public works is due to city officials' refusals to carry out their obligations.

This was the charge made last night by Fred Hoke, Indiana director of the National Emergency Council, at a meeting of the Indianapolis Construction League in the Architects and Builders building.

In many cases, he asserted, local officials in the state have failed to provide guarantees in the repayment of federal funds. In other cases, the federal government has refused bonds because of the $1.50 tax rate limit.

Mr. Hoke said he was working on release of these millions in funds in order to provide employment in the state.

E. D. Pierre was elected league president. Other officers are Charles Lutz, J. R. Fenstermaker, Carl Guepel and Otto Mueller, vice-presidents; J. Frank Cantwell, secretary, and Thomas Kaylor, treasurer.
