

Why THE TIMES attracts new readers.

Reproduced are striking examples of important pages found every day in The TIMES . . . They are valuable for they speak with authority . . . The editorial pages of The TIMES are written by broad-gauge, open-minded men . . . The independent spirit of the editorials is censored neither by prejudice nor special interest . . . They stand rigid for good causes and justice to all. With no selfish ends to serve, The TIMES editorials are an increasingly potent force in this community. Turn now to The TIMES feature and editorial pages. You will enjoy knowing Westbrook Pegler, Walter Lippmann, Heywood Broun, William Philip Simms, Mrs. Walter Ferguson and many others . . . Read these pages every day and you will see interpreted the various currents of opinion on public questions.

Keep authoritatively posted . . . Read The TIMES!
Call Riley 5551 . . . Ask that The TIMES be delivered to you every day!

The Indianapolis Times

