

SCORES HURTIN ACCIDENTS HERE DURING HOLIDAY

Fireworks and Toy Cannon Take Heavy Toll as City Celebrates.

Celebration of the Fourth of July here yesterday resulted in the annual toll of scores injured, more or less seriously, with accidents of almost every sort recorded.

Plunging from the east turn at the Walnut Garden race course, a race car piloted by Kenneth B. Fowler, 28, of 839 South Rybolt avenue, careened through the underbrush for forty feet, causing Fowler to suffer a fractured hip.

Fowler had won considerable local note as a dirt track driver. He lost control of the car when the steering wheel loosened during the qualifying trials.

A few minutes after Fowler's injury a miniature racer driven by Johnny Shuder, 11, with his brother Don, 4, as a passenger, threw a wheel on the west turn of the track and plowed twenty-five feet through a field.

Neither boy was injured. The car was built by their father and only measured six feet in length.

Fireworks Toll Heavy

Casualties resulting directly from pyrotechnics were numerous. Tamping powder into a toy cannon at his home, Martin Fisher, 25, of 2026 West Vermont street, suffered severe burns and lacerations of the left hand when the gun exploded. He was taken to city hospital.

The cork stopper of another small cannon, which exploded, tore a hole through the palm of the left hand of Norval Sharp, 19, 1425 Olive street, while he was attempting to load the toy with black powder at his home. He was sent to city hospital.

Boy Hit by Bullet

Donald Weathers, 7, of 1617 Hoefen street, was wounded in the left hip by a stray 22-caliber bullet, while playing in the rear of his home. He was taken to city hospital. Police conducted a search throughout the neighborhood, but failed to find any one with firearms.

Miss Jeanette Kerns, 30, of 1921 Howard street, suffered severe burns of the right hand when a firecracker, which she was holding while riding in a truck near Martinsville, exploded unexpectedly. She was taken to city hospital.

Among those reported injured while using blank cartridges to celebrate were Edward Manlove, 15, Negro, 556 West Twenty-eighth street; Clifford Robinson, 27, Negro, 114 Paterson street; Willard Forest, 14, Negro, 1333 North West street; and John Wilson, 15, Negro, 509 Hawthatha street. All were treated at city hospital.

Others Injured

Injured while holding firecrackers in their hands were Don Stephenson, 18, 959 Eugene street; Robert Allen, 12, of 4046 Bellefontaine street; Robert Clellan, 10, of 1143 North Beville avenue; Kenneth Reamer, 6, of 209 Koehne avenue; Charles Zipoff, 9, of 310 Hilton street; Joe Zunk, 12, of 947 North Haugh street; and Ray Moseby, Negro, 2221 North Arsenal avenue.

Robert Pivett, 14, of 2033 Langley avenue, was treated at city hospital last night in an effort to remove a fragment of firecracker which lodged in his eye.

Bryce Lavett, 8, of 425 North Oxford street, suffered severe lacerations of the head when he slipped and fell on the edge of the pool at Ellender park. Raymond Lifford, 5, of 1226 Pleasant street, suffered lacerations of the forehead when he was struck by a swing while playing at Willard park.

HOLIDAY BLAZE DAMAGES APARTMENT HOUSE

Flames leaping skyward furnished unexpected pyrotechnics for Fourth of July celebrants last night when the roof and second story of the apartment house at 1726-28 North Meridian street were badly burned. Damage amounted to between $8,000 and $10,000, Thomas D. Scanlon, owner of the building, stated.

Thousands, watching the conflagration, blocked traffic in all directions for several hours.

The picture shows the house as it looked immediately after the fire department had extinguished the blaze.

Conservative? Yes, But Von Papen Is Germany's Chief Trouble-Maker

Storm center of German politics, Vice-Chancellor Franz von Papen again finds himself in an important role as the man who warned Hitler of the impending result. Milton Bronner, European manager of NEA Service, now in America for a brief visit, here sketches his turbulent career.

BY MILTON BRONNER
European Manager, NEA Service

NEW YORK, July 5.—Franz von Papen, wealthy, middle-aged, west German junker, military officer and politician, may never go down in history as either a great statesman or a great soldier, but he certainly will have his page in German history as the champion hot-water kid.

Between periods of complete obscurity, he always is getting into fluid situations at boiling point and, consequently, finding his place in the flaring newspaper headlines.

For a conservative, he has had an unusual share in exciting crises. His speech on June 17, criticizing the regime and assailing radicalism within the Nazi party, brought about the showdown in Germany's factional wrangling. And during the sanguinary smashing of the subsequent revolt, he had to undergo arrest for his own protection.

Up to the time of the world war, Von Papen was just another well-to-do young officer in the Prussian army. Then he came to America as military attaché to the German embassy and soon found his way right into the midst of plenty of trouble.

Chased by Wilson

To him and his coadjutor, Captain Boy-ed, German naval attaché, were attributed many of the violations of American neutrality before the United States entered the war. In no uncertain terms President Wilson let it be known that their room was better than their company, and they left. The absent-minded Franz before that had lost some papers which made exceedingly interesting reading for the American secret service.

But Von Papen was forgotten, and his country sent him as a soldier to the Oriental front to serve with the Turks, battling against the English. The war over, twilight enveloped him. Then one fine day in 1932, Chancellor Brüning resigned and the aged President Hindenburg tossed a bombshell on the German public. He named Von Papen, the untitled political novice, as chancellor. The Socialists and the Centre stormed.

But the worst hurricane of all was raised by the infuriated Nazis. Dr. Goebbels, Hitler's right-hand man and chief propagandist, scornfully denounced him as a reactionary. He was faced by an almost totally hostile Reichstag and soon quit his job to be succeeded by a man who the other day fell in disgrace before the guns of police—General Kurt von Schleicher.

Put Hitler in Power

Von Papen seemed all through. Then suddenly he reappeared as the good broker for Adolf Hitler, the very man whose party had been bitterly assailing him. The smooth Franz got the chancellorship for Hitler and the vice-chancellorship for himself.

But once the Nazis climbed into the saddle, they diverted all the limelight to Hitler, Goering and Goebbels. Von Papen became a sort of super errand boy to run on missions to the Vatican and the Saar.

Now he is once more the storm center of German politics. In a country where most people are muzzled, Von Papen made a strikingly outspoken speech at the University of Marburg. He castigated the youthful revolutionaries who called men of his type reactionaries. He pleaded for full right to indulge in justified criticism.

He seemed to slap at the tendency of some Nazis, who seek to bend the Christian churches to their will. He boldly asserted that the is inability to find a strong candidate for national commander. Under the legion constitution, a commander can not hold the office a second term, either consecutively or after an interval.

Legion leaders say there are only two veterans of national commander calibre. They are Frank Belgrano, California banker, and Ray Murphy, Iowa.

Belgrano is a Republican, but is reported a strong Roosevelt adherent.

Belgrano Has Edge

Mr. Murphy is a Democrat, and he, too, is reported cold to any overtures by the "king makers."

Persons close to legion affairs say Mr. Belgrano has the inside track in the commander race, so it is up to the McNider-Collins-McKee faction to beat the bushes vigorously for a strong entrant, if they expect to continue their control of legion affairs.

The so-called reform element of the legion is prepared to fight vigorously any attempt in the Indiana state convention to elect "king maker" delegates to the national convention.

Since the visit here in May of McNider and Collins, there have been reports that suites have been taken in a downtown hotel by persons spending money rather freely on pre-convention politics. However, no headquarters have been established openly yet.

Close Race Predicted

As usual, the Indiana convention promises a hotly, but not bitterly, contested race for state commander. Only a few candidates have done any campaigning so far, but there are a half dozen possibilities being mentioned, the majority of whom are Republicans.

Possible candidates are Judge Cleon Mount, Tippecanoe; Bruce Peters, Cambridge City; Frank Kossa, Jeffersonville; George Huish, East Chicago, and Sam Cleland and Plus (Butch) Haas, Ft. Wayne.

The state commander race, however, relatively is unimportant. The real issue will be any bid made for Indiana help in the "king makers" national drive on the Roosevelt administration and the New Deal.

Three Iowa Towns Plunged

Holiday Mishap.

By United Press

ST. ANSGAR, Ia., July 5.—An Independence day celebration left an aftermath of mourning in three communities today for five young people killed in the crash of a flaming airplane within sight of several thousand persons.

The victims were Edward and Van Libersky, St. Ansgar, brothers; Marvin Miller and Gladys Ueker, Graceton, Ia., and Fred Symington, Ackley, Ia., pilot.

The four passengers were being taken on a holiday taxi flight, as hundreds of others had been during the day. The plane circled over the town, then headed for the field. Witnesses heard the plane's motor backfire viciously, watched it lose altitude, and then saw it crash in the town's main street. Almost instantly it broke into flames.

BORAH ASSAILS BOTH PARTIES IN NEW CRUSADE

'Bureaucracy' of New Deal
Is Flayed by Idaho
Senator.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Senator William E. Borah, individualistic as ever, today dedicated himself to a fight against government by bureaucrats.

In the first of a series of addresses, the Idaho orator spared neither Republican nor Democratic policies. He attacked the new Republican leadership and cited bureaucracy as the chief threat of the New Deal.

What threatens today, he said, is: "Simply that meddlesome, irritating, confusing, undermining, destructive thing called bureaucracy. It is a form of government which steals away man's rights in the name of public interests and taxes him to death in the name of recovery."

Senator Borah fears that America was headed toward a dictatorial form of government.

"I do not call this Nazi-ism," he said. "God forbid. I do not claim it is Fascism or Communism. It is none of these."

"Monopoly," he said, "is the most vital problem before the American people today." He attacked Republican policies for leading to this condition and for continuing to ignore it.
