

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS NOT TO RUN AGAIN

Citizens Committee Seeks Five New Candidates for Fall Election.

The citizens school committee must put an entire ticket into the field this fall because of refusal of all five of the incumbent commissioners to run again.

The present board is comprised of Mrs. Maude Miller, Russell Wilson, Samuel E. Garrison, Merle Siderer and Julian Wetzel.

The school committee, comprised of 150 representative citizens and taxpayers from all parts of the city, elected the present board in 1929, and now has an investigating committee at work on qualifications of several candidates.

Praise for the record of the present school board was voiced by Edgar H. Evans, school committee chairman.

"They have worked hard and without salary," Mr. Evans said. "They have kept politics out of the schools and have maintained a high standard of education for the children. They have cut the debt, inherited from past administrations, from $11,000,000 to $10,000,000."

"The present school board has improved the school city's financial condition by a total of $1,738,856, while at the same time costing the city property taxpayer $2,286,053 less in 1933 than in 1930."

"I am mighty sorry none of the present board will run again. They have made good public servants."

DEAN CONDEMNS CURTAILMENT IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Smith of I. U. Speaks of Dangers in Collapse of Education.

BY DANIEL M. KIDNEY

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Curtailed of public education to save taxes was denounced here today by Dean Henry Lester Smith of Indiana university, new president of the National Education Association.

"An educational collapse, which threatens because of lack of proper financing, is far more dangerous to this country than any financial collapse," Dean Smith declared.

"We can not trim our schools to the needs of a frontier period and expect them to make adequate contributions to the present age. Never before was it so essential that the schools continue to progress."

Dean Smith cited new demands on the schools created by recent social and economic trends. Abolition of child labor, he said, will keep in school many pupils who would otherwise have gone to work. New courses should be created to hold their interest, he believes.

Another new problem is offered by those retired from industry in middle life. Here, Dean Smith said, is a fertile field virtually untouched by the adult education movements.

Exploration by experts is needed to find these new fields, he said. "It will take time and money to do these things after a course is charted," he said, "but to save our youth and build a more satisfying life for the aged is worth the sacrifice."

Dean Smith was born fifty-eight years ago in Bloomington, east of Indiana university, and his entire life has been devoted to education.

ZARO'S SWEETIE, 120, DIES OF SHOCK WHEN TOLD OF HIS DEMISE

By United Press

LONDON, July 10.—Amie Anet Mustafa, Rumania's oldest woman died of shock when she learned of the death of Zaro Agha, the ancient Turk, who was her girlhood sweetheart, the Exchange Telegraph Bucharest correspondent telegraphed today.

Amie was 120. When she was 20, she asserted, she was betrothed to Zaro, then a young blade of 64. But her family, she said, objected and forced her to enter the harem of a rich Turkish merchant, who brought her to Rumania.

In recent years Amie tried to correspond with Zaro, and wept when the ancient Turk, always fickle, refused to answer her letters.
