

Groups Aid in Showing of Horses

State Association and Muncie Committee Unite Efforts.

BY BEATRICE BURGAN
Times Woman's Page Editor

THE Muncie fair horse show committee appreciates the influence of the Indiana Saddle Horse Association in equestrian circles, and the association approves the Muncie committee's successful activities to improve its horse show. Tangible evidence is the exchange of trophies for the Muncie show and for the Indiana state fair show stake, enlarged by the association's efforts.

Miss Burgan

George A. Ball, president of the Muncie fair board, has contributed to the purse for the fine harness class at the Indiana fair. The association's trophy will be awarded to the winner in the best child rider class under 16 at the Muncie show on Aug. 5. Entries in this class must not have ridden previous to March 1.

One of the association's aims is to encourage youthful riders. At Muncie Mrs. Harold Lahr of the Orchard Lawn Riding academy is training a class of boys and girls, who are riding for the first time this year. They are riding in preliminary competition to determine four or five riders who will compete at the show.

Several hunters and jumpers will be entered in the show by Indianapolis owners. Fred Sharp, Algonquin, will send several of his. Mr. and Mrs. Otto N. Frenzel, Algonquin; Robert Rhoads, Traders Point Hunt; A. Kiefer Mayer, Traders Point Hunt, and Dr. P. O. Bonham, manager of Algonquin, will send their jumpers and hunters. Dr. Bonham's Safe Home won in the hunters' class at the Dayton Junior League show held this summer.

From the Robert H. Brown riding stables will go fifteen saddle horses, and Laurel Hall farm will send eight.

New Ring Built

Mrs. William H. Ball is chairman of the show, and several of her saddle horses will be in the new ring, recently built by George A. Ball in front of the fair ground grand stand. The new layout includes school, make-ready and show rings.

Orchard Lawn's new clubhouse, built by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ball, will be opened the day of the show, and exhibitors will be invited to attend a buffet supper in the clubhouse. Stables of the grounds include twenty-two new box stalls in addition to thirty-seven old ones. Horses from Ft. Wayne, Indianapolis, Columbus, Kokomo, West Baden, Muncie and Anderson will compete against out-of-state show horses, including entries from Libertyville, Ill.; Springfield, Granville, Delaware and Toledo, O.; Middletown and Louisville, Ky., and Jackson, Mich.

Displays to Be Interesting

Exhibits at the Muncie fair will attract show visitors. E. Arthur Ball will have in the fair Balzac de Boagaerden, 1930 international grand champion Belgium horse. With Robert Whitney he will display four of the 700 registered Arabian horses of the country.

John A. George's Arabian high school horses will entertain with their special accomplishments, including the Spanish trot, cake walk and numerous other special tricks.

Another trophy included in the group to be awarded is one donated by George J. Marott of Indianapolis.

Card Parties

Relief committee, Gold Mound Council, Degree of Pochontas, will hold a covered dish luncheon and card party tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Stace Wicker, 1002 Villa avenue.

Francis Review, W. B. A., will hold a covered dish guest luncheon at noon Wednesday at 116 East Maryland street. Card party will be held at 2:30. Mrs. Fay Dorsett will be chairman.

Sororities

Miss Maxine Wilcox will entertain members of Beta chapter, Phi Theta Delta sorority, tonight at her home, 2055 Hoyt avenue.

Miss Clara Mootz, 1958 Carrollton avenue, will entertain members of Gamma chapter, Alpha Beta Phi sorority, tonight at her home.

Mrs. Glenn J. Pell and daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth Pell, have returned from a motor trip to Boston, New York and Washington.

Junior Stamp Exhibition Will Be Held Next Year

BY MRS. C. O. ROBINSON
Times Hobby Editor

THIRTY-SEVEN junior stamp clubs from every section of the United States, competed in the first national stamp exhibition, held in the Brooklyn children's museum the last two weeks in June. The grand trophy, here shown, which was offered by Stamps Jr., a national junior organization devoted to the interests of young collectors, was awarded to the Junior High School Stamp Club of Darby, Pa. William Irvine, 13-year-old member, primarily was responsible for this honor to his club as his exhibits won four firsts, two seconds and one third.

The show was such an unqualified success that the sponsor, H. L. Lindquist, editor of Stamps Magazine, announced it would be made an annual event. Frank L. Wilson, who conducts a department in stamps for junior collectors, advises junior club presidents to begin at once planning exhibits for the show next year, and suggests that they avail themselves of the help which is given in this department by affixing their clubs with Stamps Jr. There are no dues. Send name, address, age, school attended and grade to Stamps Jr., 100 Sixth avenue, New York, N. Y., with 10 cents to cover cost of badge and award stamp folder.

William Irvine was the first member of Stamps Jr. to win the twelve award stamps. The Indiana Stamp Club has an enthusiastic young member who should bring junior honors to the club. He is 12-year-old Goodwyn Elkins, who attends regularly with his grandfather, Oscar L. Watkins, 2415 North Pennsylvania street.

ON July 30 at the Yellowstone Park postoffice Postmaster-General James A. Farley will sell the first stamps in the 5-cent denomination of the National Park series. First day covers also will be dispatched on that day both from the Yellowstone postoffice and Washington, D. C.

The 5-cent stamp will be arranged vertically and the central design will show the geyser, "Old Faithful," in action. Covers not to exceed ten may be sent to the postmaster, Yellowstone Park, Wyo., or Washington, D. C., with cash or money order for the value of the stamps required.

The Mt. Rainier 3-cent stamp of the National Park series will be placed on sale both in Washington and at the Longmire (Wash.) postoffice on Aug. 3. This stamp will be arranged horizontally and the central design will be a view of Mt. Rainier with Mirror lake in the foreground.

The usual rules for first-day covers will be observed. Philatelists have been speculating as to whether the National Park series would be considered a regular or a commemorative issue. Postmaster-General Farley settled the question when, in presenting the first sheet of these stamps to Secretary Harold L. Ickes he said:

"Our purpose in issuing this special series of commemorative stamps will have been fulfilled if the panorama of scenes from the national parks to be displayed thereon serves to quicken public interest in the wonders that lie at our doors and which offer such rich returns at a minimum cost."

Relieved his Own Mother's Torturing Neuritis Pain

So quickly does Nartio ease the torturing pain of sciatica, rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago and neuritis that the head of the syndicate which purchased this eminent Specialist's prescription treated his own mother with it. Although 73 years old, she found great comfort through it.

Other sufferers the country over report the same quick and joyous relief from pain after a few doses of Nartio. Best of all—it has eased their suffering without the use of narcotics or opiates. If you're tired of using ineffective remedies, make this simple test: Go to your druggist and ask for Nartio. If the very first three doses do not relieve the most intense pain, your money will be refunded without question. Don't wait a single unnecessary minute—go to your druggist right now.

Manners and Morals

BY JANE JORDAN

Are you caught in a web of circumstance? Clarify your problem by writing to Jane Jordan and read her comments in this column. Helpful letters from other readers are invited.

Dear Jane Jordan—My life's problem started when I was eighteen. I was head over heels in love but after two years of courtship the man left me cold and married another girl. After being jilted I married a man 8 years older whom I did not love.

It wasn't long until I found I had married someone unsuited to me. He was a good worker but didn't have an ounce of intelligence. We lived with his parents for six years and that is when my last thread of respect died.

He has an over-devoted mother, who always has done his thinking for him. Now I have it to do. He never has an idea of his own. We have two children.

I had been married two years when I met the man I was later to call my husband. He was a good man, a little old, but I was falling in love with him for over two years. Then he swept me into his arms, pouring out a whole year's stored up love. He is married and has three children.

This happened over four years ago and we still love each other dearly. We always have tried to keep our love pure and clean, living for a day when God might grant us the privilege of marrying. His wife has known that he cares for me for about a year. She quarrels with him all the time, but their trouble started before I knew him. If my husband thinks anything he says nothing. We do not quarrel.

We have always wanted to do the right thing. We have stayed apart for weeks to end back where we started. I don't see why two people who love each other have to sacrifice their future to those they don't and never can love.

WONDERING.

Answer—When the lives of nine people are woven together inextricably can you arrange things to suit two of them without treading on the rights of the other seven? I doubt it. It is like expecting a royal flush every time you shuffle the deck.

We are so gratified by the pleasurable sensation of new love that we would willingly sweep aside all the responsibilities which we have voluntarily incurred in favor of a new deal, but it is not humanly possible.

Even when there is plenty of money to scrap old families and build new ones, the emotional influenced of old ties can not be wiped out, for the past always dogs the footsteps of the present. The most formidable enemies of any new deal are to be found in the unresolved conflicts of the past.

This does not mean that divorce is inadvisable after one has brought every ounce of intelligence to bear on making a success of marriage as a task. A woman who, by her own efforts, earns her emotional and economic independence from a partner who wilfully refuses to co-operate, is in quite a different position from the clinging vine who changes from one oak to another.

Such a woman is not apt to enter into a second marriage for romantic reasons alone. She is a socially responsible person who will not disrupt the lives of others, ignoring their emotions for the satisfaction of her own.

It will not be easy for you to escape the far-reaching effects of a marriage contracted solely for the prestige of a wounded personality. Relief will not come as a special dispensation from an indulgent God. The only advice I have to give is to accept the responsibility of your own acts and meet each problem squarely as it comes up until you work through to independence.

Casino Theater Patrons as Interested in Attire of Audience as in Play

Smart Set at Newport Shows Preference for White Clothes; Crepe, Taffeta and Net Favored Materials.

BY HELEN LINDSAY

THE fashionable colony at Newport, R. I., is attending the performances at the Casino theater which opened with "Ten-Minute Alibi." As interesting to the feminine members of the colony as the performances are the summer styles which are seen in the audiences, and which will be relayed to various parts of the country.

White is the predominating color worn, according to fashion dispatches, just as it is in the summer resort gatherings at our own Indiana lakes. Next in preference is blue, with varying shades being shown, from light to dark. Pastel pinks and yellows also are seen.

The materials range from crepe to taffeta and net. Satin is shown, sometimes in plain versions, and in a crinkled design. Coarse heavy lace gowns are also seen. Very few georgettes or chiffons are worn, the few seen being worn with capes and fichus.

Styles, as reported from Newport, still show the high front décolletage, with extremely low backs. The formal gowns have slight trails in back, with a few in taffeta or satin showing bustle effects. Matching jackets are worn with many of the gowns, from waist lengths to three-quarters. Occasionally in a contrasting color and fabric. One which was effective was a white satin jacket with a black satin brock, while a light green cotton lace dress was worn with a long-sleeved yellow taffeta jacket.

Ostrich feather capes are seen with many of the costumes. A white satin gown worn at the opening performance of the theater had a jacket of black curled ostrich, while a black crepe gown was worn with a cape of yellow curled ostrich.

Jeweled belt buckles and clips are seen on many of the frocks, with spangled trimmings on others. Younger women wear jeweled clips at one or both sides of the collar, and long diamond earrings are worn. Other jewels seen were strands of pearls and diamond bracelets in wide bands.

Jeweled frocks are seen in some of the smarter clothes, in clips at the shoulders.

Color contrasts are interesting. Pink chiffon, over matching satin, has a trailing panel of light blue. Matching blue net mittens are worn with this.

Black Tweed Worn by Marion Davies

MARION DAVIES is wearing an early autumn outfit, designed by Schiaparelli described by the Paris fashion writers. The ensemble is of black tweed, with a three-quarter length coat, bell shaped, hanging from molded shoulders.

With this coat, Miss Davies wears a simple dress with a bodice and scarf of white enich. Scarf ends fold over the coat collar, and the actress wears a hat which is a knitted Goya model, also designed by Schiaparelli.

Cooling Sandwich Introduced in City

SWELTERING in Indianapolis heat, patrons of the Claypool sandwich grill are intrigued by the new Edgewater Beach sandwich which is suggested as a hot weather ideal luncheon. The sandwich, introduced only a few days ago, is an open faced one, made with bacon and tomato and lettuce, over which a thick, rarebit sauce is poured.

Served on the plate with this sandwich is a stuffed melon mango, olives and dill pickles.

A favorite of the men patrons of the grill is the tart sandwich Claypool. Made on whole wheat bread, it consists of roquefort cheese, fresh grilled bacon and sliced tomatoes.

Other hot weather favorites at the grill are doctor salad, which is lettuce and tomato, cottage cheese, Lorenzo dressing and wafer; cold rice delicacy, made with cold rice, red raspberries and heavy cream; and the special frozen salad plate, with a frozen fruit salad with fruit salad dressing, and small sandwiches of minced ham and peanut butter.

Highland Club Supper Dance Begins Series

To begin the summer series of dances at Highland Golf and Country Club, a supper dance was held Saturday night on the club porches from 9 to 1. Other dances will be given Aug. 4 and Aug. 18.

On the committee were Messrs.

and Mesdames Fred I. Shumaker Jr., Ralph Burdick, C. A. Jaqua, John Welch, Harry Scott, John Rau, Stanley Disque, Le Roy Sanders, Frank Hawkins, John J. Kennedy, E. W. Zaizer, William A. Humphrey, E. M. Sellars, John Schumaker, J. R. McCoy, Benjamin Perk, Arch V. Grossman, A. R. C. Kipp.

Others were Harold Frances, Dr. and Mrs. B. K. Westfall, William Gavin, Michael Fox, John C. Ruckelshaus, Michael Duffey Jr., Dr. and Mrs. William J. Stark.
