Allotments for Projects Exceeds Collections in Indiana.

By Times Special

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Seventy-five percent more federal funds have been returned to Indiana than were collected by the United States government in 1934, a tabulation today by Editorial Research Reports discloses.

The figures cover the fiscal year ending June 30.

During that period, internal revenue collections amounted to $32,656,351 or $10.08 per capita, while emergency grants and allotments were $57,144,846 or $17.65 per capita. The ratio of grants to taxes was 175 per cent.

From May 23, 1933 to June 30, 1934, federal emergency relief administration funds paid to Indiana amounted to $12,653,335 and civil works administration funds $22,821,335, making a total of $35,474,670 or $10.95 per capita.

A total of $5,729,585 was collected in processing taxes, during the fiscal year 1934, and $1,441,939 paid back in farm rental and benefit payments. This amount is now being swelled by more than $1,500,000 being paid on corn-hay contracts.
