

Tigers Lead by Full Game in American League Race; Giants Split With Phillies

Schoolboy Rowe Cops Second Tilt in Two Days for Detroit, Scoring Victory Run With Homer; Rhem Pitches One-Hit Shutout as Braves Take Two.

By THEON WRIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 30.—Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, who pitches for the Detroit Tigers, accomplished something yesterday, which, although it probably is not a record, should entitle him to time and a half for overtime.

The lanky young man from El Dorado, Ark., who may be remembered as the fellow who beat the Yankees twice in four days a short time back, personally ejecting them from first place, played in three games in two days. Not only that, he won two.

He beat the Chicago White Sox Saturday, and yesterday relieved Eldon Auker during a stormy period in the eighth. He checked the Sox onslaught, and then banged out a homer in the ninth to win the game. If that didn't entitle him to a bonus, he took up Jo-Jo White's batting chore in the ninth, going in as a pinch hitter.

Hubbell Produces

It was quite a day for the pitchers of both leagues. Flint Rhem missed no-hit, no-run immortality by a whisker, shutting out the Brooklyn Dodgers with a single hit—a meagre scratch by Joe Stripp. Carl Hubbell, top hand of the Phillies' throwing staff, shut out the Phillies in a performance that indicated Herr Carl is returning to winning ways.

Rowe's win for Detroit could scarcely be called a pitching classic. Thirty-seven hits were recorded, including six home runs—two to Zeke Bonura—seven doubles and four triples, and it was Rowe's bat, not his pitching arm, that won, 16-15. Chicago took the second game, 6-4, but Detroit increased its lead to a full game. There were twenty-one homers registered in both leagues, fifteen in the American.

Yanks Lose Chance

The Yanks lost a chance to go back into the lead when they succumbed to the Athletics, 6-3. Eric McNair's homer led a five-run spree in the third, enough to win. Cleveland tightened its grip on third place, blasting the St. Louis on.

Out for Year

Joe Hauser

MINNEAPOLIS pennant hopes received a severe blow yesterday when the mighty Howitzer Joe Hauser, first sacker and home run king of the minors, received a fractured kneecap when struck by a batted ball while rounding third base. He slipped and fell and was carried off the field. The Millers were playing in Kansas City.

Physicians stated that Hauser will be out of the game the remainder of the season. A similar injury several years ago wrecked Joe's career as a major leaguer. The popular pastimer posted a new record for all organized leagues when he collected sixty-nine homers in 1933. Joe wall on the way to a new mark when the jinx stopped him. He had wallowed thirty-three this season. Hauser's home is in Milwaukee.

twelve inches long but they were all small mouths and they fought mightily well in those spring-fed pools. Finally I connected with a three pounder under a big root and my arm was tired before he floated in, belly up. My host insisted that I take him along and, after a lot of arguing, I did.

"Did I ever go back? Do I look crazy?"

By United Press
CHICAGO, July 30.—Davey Day and Frankie Sigilio, two young Chicago aspirants to Barney Ross' lightweight and junior welterweight titles, will meet in a ten-round bout at Mills stadium tonight. The keen rivalry between the two home town boys is likely to draw 10,000 persons, largest outdoor crowd of Chicago's outdoor season.

Runyan Captures P. G. A. Tourney

Defeats Craig Wood 1 Up in Extra-Hole Match.

By United Press
BUFFALO, N. Y., July 29.—The most dramatic finish in the history of the P. G. A. tournament was written into the record books today. The crown rested on the brow of Paul Runyan, short shot artist from White Plains, N. Y.

Runyan won yesterday 1 up over Craig Wood, long driving pro from Deal, N. J., after two extra holes.

The two survivors of a crack field of 115 that began medal play Tuesday tied the P. G. A. record set by Gene Sarazen and Walter Hagen in 1923 when they went twenty-eight holes before a decision. Sarazen won then. He was eliminated in the second round this year. Wood missed a fifteen-foot putt on the thirty-eighth green. Runyan sank an easy five footer. Wood had evened the match on the thirty-fifth hole.

3 National Swim Titles Taken by Lenore Kight

Pennsylvania Girl's Triumphs in Free-Style Events Aid Her Club in Winning Team Crown.

By United Press
DETROIT, July 30.—Miss Lenore Kight, Homestead, Pa., today emerged from the N. A. A. U. swimming meet at River Rouge pool with three titles, winning the third, fifth and eighth mile free style races. She previously won the 440-yard and mile free style championships.

Her 15 points in the three triumphs aided greatly in winning the team championship for the Carnegie Library Club of Homestead, with 31 points.

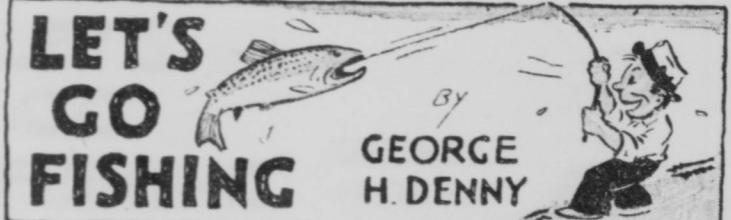

Other finishing teams and their points are: Miami Beach Club, Florida, second, 26; Washington A. C., Seattle, Wash., third, 15; New York Women's Association, fourth, 14; Los Angeles A. C., fifth, 8; Whittin A. C., Whitinsville, Mass., sixth, 6; Chisholm, Minn., seventh, 5; Detroit Yacht Club, eighth, 2; and Lake Shore A. C., Chicago, and Camden, N. J., W. C. A., tied for ninth, 1.

Miss Alice Bridges, Whitinsville, Mass., broke a world record in the 220-yard back stroke by seven seconds in a race against time, being clocked in 2:42. Miss Olive McKean failed to break the 50-yard free style by seven-tenths of a second, swimming the distance in 31.7.

Miss Anne Govodnik, Chisholm, Minn., edged out Katherine Rawls, Miami Beach, in the 220-yard breast stroke in 3:18.3. Dorothy Schiller, Lake Shore A. C., Chicago, was third.

Mrs. Dorothy Poynton Hill, Los Angeles, retained her platform diving title, scoring 90.64 points to beat Cornelia Gillissen, New York, with 81.07.

DEEP in the soul of every man who ever has baited a hook or cast a lure there is the hope that some day he may wander far enough from the smell of gasoline to find an unfished lake or virgin stream.

The average fisherman never will be granted that joy, but will go through his angling life prospecting every inch of water within a day's drive of home and getting up at unholly hours to dash ninety miles and find eleven cars parked around the pool that looked so lost and unsuspected three days before the season opened.

He will drive miles out of his way through side roads and tramp for hours along some unnamed creek to find a pool deep enough to harbor a bass, only to learn that the Scando canning factory has been using the once clear water for a sewer and there has been no living thing in that stretch since 1916.

Finally he locates a deep, cool spring hole with half a dozen nice small-mouths cruising slowly in the clear, shadowed water, but on turning two days later with his fly rod or bucket of minnows he is told by the farmer boy that a stick of dynamite or a forty-foot seine in the hands of some human polecat has cleaned the pool.

So it goes, but the fisherman, deeply infected by hook fever, forgets each disappointment and ever is willing to believe that this time he has located the angling promised land.

AND once in a long while some lucky person clicks. Here's a short story by one of them.
