ROOSEVELT DYNAMITE PLOT FOILED

LAXITY IN PRISON CONTROL CHARGED IN COY'S REPORT

Negligence Attributed to Guards by Wayne Coy After Investigation of Break at Michigan City.

FREES WARDEN KUNKEL OF BLAME

Eleven Recommendations Are Made to Governor by Undersecretary; 'Tip' Was Received Early, He Asserts.

Governor Paul V. McNutt today was studying recommendations of his undersecretary, Wayne Coy, for a drastic shakeup of guards at the Indiana state prison as result of escape last Saturday of five prisoners, four of whom have been recaptured.

Mr. Coy's report was made public yesterday at Michigan City following a several days' investigation of conditions at the prison. Mr. Coy returned to Indianapolis last night and was expected to confer further with the Governor on the matter.

His report failed to criticize Warden Louis Kunkel, but laid the blame for the prison break on alleged negligence on the part of Captain W. C. Griswold and guards William Netzel, Harry Parker, N. E. Burns and B. C. Ferguson. Two of these men, Griswold and Netzel, already have been dismissed.

Suggestions that discipline be strictly for both prisoners and guards, and that structural improvements to prison building be made were made in the report.

The five prisoners who escaped last Saturday fled from the prison hospital.

In his report, Mr. Coy charged Captain Griswold with failing to assign officers to guard the outer wall after a report the prisoners were attempting to escape.

Tip Received, Is Report

Netzel, who was on guard duty in the hospital, was charged with failing to report finding a skeleton key, prior to the escape.

The report accused Parker of failing to notify guards on the wall of the break and Burns with not having notified superior officers when he heard footsteps of the five escaping prisoners on the hospital roof.

Ferguson was charged with a tip that the escape was to be attempted at least two weeks before it took place, and failed to notify other authorities, it was charged.

The escape was rehearsed July 7 during a baseball game, Mr. Coy said he learned.

Accompanying Mr. Coy's report was a statement from Governor McNutt attributing the escape primarily to alleged failure or negligence of old employees and lack of proper equipment.

Governor Makes Statement

"Conditions at the state prison, as revealed by the reports of the American Prison Association and other investigating bodies, have not been satisfactory for several years," the report said.

"The two deplorable deliveries during recent months were due primarily to negligence of old employees and the lack of proper equipment."

Continuing, the Governor commented:

"Management of the state's penal institutions has been a matter of deepest concern. The advice of the nation's leading experts has been sought. Their recommendations, as well as those set out by Mr. Coy, will be followed as soon as funds are available.

"Changes in personnel will be made when and where indicated. Nothing short of the best in methods, management and equipment will satisfy this administration."

YOUNGSTER PULLS A 'DILLINGER' IN BANK: SHOWS REAL PISTOL

A 6-year-old youngster played "bad man Dillinger" yesterday afternoon, much to the surprise and annoyance of clerks and clients of the Live Stock Exchange bank.

Walking into the bank, the youngster pulled out a .25-caliber automatic pistol and brandished it at the startled people.

John Mahoney, 117 Pleasant Run boulevard, who was in the bank, took the gun away from the boy and called police. When police arrived they found the gun, but the youngster had vanished.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 4.—Six deputy sheriffs guarded a stretch of railroad track where a box of dynamite had been found four days ago until the special train bearing President Roosevelt and his party passed safely over it at 1 a. m. (Pacific standard time) today.

Four days ago a signalman reported to Sheriff G. G. Miles that he had seen two men leave a box containing eight sticks of dynamite and caps along the tracks two and one-half miles south of here.

Sheriff Miles said he rushed two deputies to the place. They removed the explosive immediately.

A LITTLE MISS DEMPSEY ARRIVES

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dempsey

By United Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—A nurse slipped from a room at Polytechnic hospital today and whispered something to Jack Dempsey.

"It's a girl!" exclaimed the former heavyweight champion with a smile of relief. "Seven and three-quarters pounds and, oh, boy!"—he mopped his perspiring brow—"am I glad it's over."

Dempsey brought his wife, the former Hannah Williams, singer, to the hospital last night. During the early morning hours he nervously passed the corridor, apparently taking more punishment than he did in his celebrated bouts with Gene Tunney.

"I sure hope it's a boy," he said at one time. "I want to match him with Tunney's kid."

A few moments later the nurse hurried out.

"Disappointed?" she asked.

"Not a bit, not a bit," said Dempsey. "I love little girls."

Truck Employers Warned Full Military Force Will Be Used to Smash Strike

By United Press

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 4.—Governor Floyd B. Olson will smash tomorrow with all the power of a military dictator at recalcitrant employers of 6,000 striking truck drivers, he announced today.

Promptly at midnight Sunday, the Governor said, he will rule all but the most essential trucks off Minneapolis streets. He threatened yesterday to make the order effective today.

The delay was requested by the Rev. Francis J. Haas and E. H. Dunnigan, federal mediators. Both said a strike of 6,000 truck drivers which provoked the ultimatum may be ended before that time.

Governor Olson warned both union leaders and their employers, however, that an embargo which would leave 316,000 persons with transportation facilities for only the bare necessities, would not be further altered.

Employers Are Warned

Only trucks carrying bread, ice, milk and gasoline trucks in interstate commerce and trucks whose owners subscribe to the so-called "Haas-Dunnigan" proposal for settling the strike will be permitted to use Minneapolis streets.

Employers were warned that the ban will not be lifted until striking drivers obtain "decent" terms. Union leaders likewise were sternly told that national guardmen and a provost court will mete severe punishment to any one violating any martial rule.

The government's new ultimatum followed on the heels of a night raid on offices of the Citizens' Alliance, a secret membership group of business men which has backed the employers' advisory committee in fighting the union.

Seized Records Studied
Ten picked guardsmen acting under personal orders of the Governor seized documents and records of the alliance and held the offices for four hours.

Records were turned over to accountants for analysis. The mediators' hope for an early settlement of the 19-day-old, riot-filled and bloody strike was based on progress in negotiations yesterday.

NEW ORLEANS CLASH LOOMS

Troops and Police Face One Another Across 30-Foot Street.

By United Press

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 4.—State troops wearing steel helmets and gas masks defended the registrar of voters' office for Senator Huey P. Long today in defiance of a court order.

City officials alarmed at the new antics of militiamen rushed 100 special policemen to the city hall to defend it. They were armed with pistols.

The hostile armies faced each other across thirty-foot Lafayette street.

The city's legal advisers convened to debate how they might jail Senator Long and Adjutant-General Ray Fleming troop commander for contempt of court.

Newspapers charged that registrars under troop protection were harassing anti-Long persons who came to register for the Sept. 11 congressional primary.

The Times-Picayune alleged many were being denied the right to vote, their registration cards torn up because of such trivial errors as failure to dot an "i" or cross a "t."

ONE BADLY INJURED IN CAR CRASH HERE

Two Autos Wrecked; Victim's Father Held.

One man was injured and two autos wrecked this morning in a crash at Minnesota and South East streets.

Elijah Brandon, 36, of 758 Pleasant Run boulevard, suffered lacerations and possible internal injuries when the car in which he was riding collided with a telephone pole after striking a car driven by Robert W. Schultz, 22, of 704 Terrace avenue.

He was taken to city hospital. James E. Brandon, 57, father of the injured man, was arrested by police on charges of having no certificate of title and improper license plates.

Schultz's car crashed into a building at 1708 South East street, after being struck by the Brandon auto.

POT HUNTERS BARRED FROM NATIONAL PARKS

By United Press

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Aug. 4.—"Pot hunters" and "vandals" have been ordered to "get out and stay out" of the national parks in this state that have Indian ruins.

The order has been issued by E. G. Miller, supervisor of the Coconino National Forest, who threatens prosecution to anyone arrested digging in Indian ruins without a permit.

"These pot hunters' excavations are not only valueless to themselves," Miller pointed out, "but they destroy valuable evidence that could be classified by trained men."

That famous "wooden pistol" with which John Dillinger "toy-gunned" his way out of the Crown Point jail has been discovered.

The "weapon" which created ironic laughter throughout the nation when the Hoosier desperado herded attaches in the "strongest jail in Indiana" into a cell, and made his getaway in Sheriff Lillian Holley's car last March 3, is right here in Indianapolis.

PRESIDENT SEES POWER PROJECTS

Roosevelt to Take Trip to Grand Coulee Today by Motor.

By United Press

ABOARD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S SPECIAL TRAIN, EN ROUTE TO EPHRATA, WASH.,

Aug. 4.—President Roosevelt struck out into the heart of rugged Washington state today to see for himself the government's $60,000,000 power, navigation and irrigation project at Grand Coulee.

On the last lap of his 15,000-mile trip inspecting the workings of the New Deal, the chief executive planned to motor to the Grand Coulee workings from Ephrata, a tiny dot on the map in this mountainous and wooded country.

He entered Washington last night from Oregon, where he visited the Bonneville dam site near Portland, one of the yardsticks of his "power for the people" policy.

In a brief address during his inspection of the $20,000,000 Bonneville workings, Mr. Roosevelt said that the development of the Columbia river there should be just a starter for a much greater expansion in the future.

As the train passed the border into Washington, several hundred persons were on the station platform at Arlington to welcome him. Farther along the line, Indians in full war paint danced around a large log fire in his honor as the train glided by.

The President watched the scene from a window of his private car. With him were Mrs. Roosevelt, who joined him yesterday in Portland; his son James, who flew to Portland from Wyoming; younger sons, John and Franklin, who had accompanied their father on his trip from Annapolis through the Panama canal to the Hawaiian islands, then back to the continental United States.

ANCIENT FLOUR MILL IS READY TO CLOSE

Eleventh Century Plant Passed Through Illustrious Hands.

By United Press

LONDON, Aug. 4.—An eleventh century flour mill, dating back to 1086, will close when the venerable mill loses its workers and milling to new works at Victoria Docks. At one time the property of the ancient Syon Monastery, the mill has passed through many an illustrious hand, including that of Henry VIII, who, after he dispersed the monastery, gave it to the ancestors of the duke of Northumberland.

With the aid of his accomplice, according to Mr. Lutz's version, Dillinger got out of his cell. The rest was easy because of the laxity of the guards, he says. Dillinger merely scared the turnkeys with his whittled pistol and seized the real weapons which had been left about carelessly by the large force of special deputies hired especially to guard Dillinger, Mr. Lutz continues.

"When Dillinger got out of the cell," Mr. Lutz declares, "he knocked the wooden pistol against the cell door, must have been about 'broke' when he was killed in Chicago."
