

JEAN HARLOW RETURNS TO SCREEN AS WEALTHY HUSBAND-HUNTER

Lionel Barrymore Also in Cast of Palace Film

Franchot Tone, Lewis Stone and Patsy Kelly Support Blond Star; Rogers' Film Held Over.

"The Girl From Missouri," new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture now on view at Loew's Palace, marks the return of Jean Harlow to the screen after a long absence.

Miss Harlow is cast in the role of Eddie Chapman, millionaire husband hunter.

Lionel Barrymore plays the part of T. R. Paige, a financial and political power who tries to turn heaven and earth to prevent Eddie from marrying his son, Tom.

The son's role is taken care of by Franchot Tone, who was last seen with Miss Harlow in "Blonde Bombshell."

Lewis Stone appears briefly as Cousin, millionaire bachelor who commits suicide after proposing marriage to Eddie.

Patsy Kelly serves as a foil for Miss Harlow in her role as Kitty, Jean's showgirl pal.

The story, an original by Anita Loos and John Emerson, tells of Eddie's battle to find a husband with money.

Eddie trails the elder Paige to Florida and quite by accident runs across his son Tom. Tom is madly in love with Eddie but dodges the marriage issue.

Disillusioned, Eddie returns to New York and Tom relents and offers to marry her. But Tom's father "frames" Eddie and has her arrested. The manner in which Eddie gets her revenge provides a series of humorous incidents.

Charley Chase in "It Happened One Day," a Willie Whopper cartoon, another issue of Goofy movies and the latest news events complete the surrounding program.

Treasure Hunt Scheduled at Broad Ripple

Pleasure seekers at Broad Ripple park have a new thrill in store—participation in "Treasure Hunting"—during the last two weeks of August and the first two weeks of September, according to an announcement by Ralph L. Bennett, park manager.

Hidden in the sandy beach of the big concrete pool and elsewhere in the park will be small metal medallions, bearing stamped upon them various denominations, ranging from $1 to $50, which, when presented to the park office, will be redeemed for cash.

"Treasure Hunters" may begin their search for buried wealth on Sunday, Aug. 12, Mr. Bennett announced.

The medallions will be buried not more than five inches below the surface of the earth or sand, and those who seek to find them will not be permitted to use anything larger than an ordinary table knife blade," said Mr. Bennett.

Most of the medallions will be buried on the sand beach of the pool.

The "Treasure Hunt" is expected to bring thousands of seekers to the park. The contest will be open to all ages of persons, adults as well as youngsters.

ROUNDING ROUND THEATERS WITH WALTER D. HICKMAN

THE appearance of John Dillinger Sr. and members of his family on the stage of the Lyric theater this past week did not result in any big box office figures. Ted Nicholas, Lyric manager, told me today that "the theater made money and the gross was higher than a normal week, although the expenses were more than on a straight picture policy."

Mr. Nicholas maintained that he received no complaints from his patrons against the appearance of the Dillingers.

Repeatedly, I have taken the position that those persons who arrive on the stage because of the notoriety of a bandit and killer have no right in the world to be there. I can find no reason under the heavens why theaters should pamper to the morbid curiosity of a few thousand people.

Thousands of war mothers still are nursing the tender memories of their sons who are buried in Europe—the real heroes of the World war. Those mothers have not sought the stage for commercial gain.

In answering questions put to him on the stage Mr. Dillinger did not present a single fact that has not been published.

The performance I reviewed failed to show the father of the slain criminal in the light of deep remorse for the life he son led.

To me, the appearance of Dillinger Sr. on any stage is not theater for adults and, of course, never will be for family trade.

Mr. Dillinger and his family are not actors, but they appeared upon a stage here which has presented some of the greatest men and women of the theater.

Mr. Nicholas contends that the appearance of the Dillingers was not morbid and could not be compared with "the morbid pictures in some newsreels."

"I refused to book those reels," Mr. Nicholas said.

As far as I'm concerned I refused to see any reels showing the exploits and the body of the slain criminal.

LOUIS STOCKMAN of the Stockman studios left today for New York city, where he will teach at the fifty-first annual convention of the Dancing Masters of America.

This is the largest association of dancing teachers in the world and the annual conventions are attended by several hundred members from all parts of the United States and Canada.

'Chute Jumps Scheduled at Riverside Park

Three-cent day is being observed at Riverside amusement park this afternoon and evening, with the National Biscuit Company acting as host for the bargain outing.

Until midnight tonight all the big rides and other amusement devices in the park will operate at a fare of 3 cents, and a score of extra employees will be ready to look after the crowds expected to be on hand to enjoy the lowered prices.

Sunday will be a big day for balloon fans. Four parachute drops are scheduled to take place. Two riders will ascend with the big Riverside balloon. Miss Anna Phillips, newcomer to balloon jumping, will make her first trip into the skies and will attempt one parachute leap.

Free admission to the park at all times, in addition to free parking and free checking of baskets, is proving attractive to picnic crowds this summer at Riverside, and the big shady grove is the scene of scores of family outings every afternoon.

The free children's playground is open each day at noon.

Famed Comic Pair Stars in Lyric Movie

Wheeler and Woolsey Poke Fun at Old Timers as 'Cavaliers.'

Those madcap comedians, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, hold forth on the Lyric's screen for the current week in their latest funfilm, "Cockeyed Cavaliers," a comedy with music and girls, unique in that it turns back the dial of time some four hundred years, the story by Edward Kaufman and Ben Holmes being laid in the medieval era "when knights were bold."

The picture is a satire on the historical and costume screen fare now in vogue. It presents Wheeler and Woolsey as two roistering vagabonds who undertake to save petite Dorothy Lee from a forced marriage with the duke of Weskit.

Their wanderings take them to the duke's castle, where Woolsey falls in love with the duke's pretty niece, Thelma Todd, while Wheeler strikes up a romance with Dorothy.

All goes merrily until the nobleman discovers Dorothy's identity. Then he proceeds to bring affairs to an issue, the merriest reaching a hectic climax in a thrilling wild boar hunt.

Noah Berry, Robert Greig, Henry Sedley, Franklyn Pangborn, Alf P. James, Jack Norton and Snub Pollard participate in the funmaking.

Music and lyrics supplied by Will Jason and Val Burton include a number of catchy songs, among them being "I Love to Dilly Dally" and "I Went Hunting."

Mark Sandrich, who directed "Cockeyed Cavaliers," again employed his original "rhythmic dialogue" technique, which won a 1933 Motion Picture Academy award, in the production of the picture.

"Broadway Varieties," a Montone musical novelty, introducing Slim Trimblin, famous blackface star, the Mosconi Brothers, the Jim Wong troupe and a host of vaudeville and revue favorites, and a "Strange as It Seems" reel devoted to oddities culled from all parts of the world, are the short subjects completing the program.

Contract to Nugent Paramount today gave Elliott Nugent a new directorial contract to run until September, 1935, calling for six pictures in that time. Nugent's newest picture is "She Loves Me Not," starring Bing Crosby.

A Novelty
As a novelty in Samuel Goldwyn's production, "Kid Millions," starring Eddie Cantor, the song "Mandy" that Cantor introduced in the "Ziegfeld Follies" of 1919 with Marilyn Miller, Van and Schenck and Bert Williams, will be revived.
For this sequence, Cantor will resume his black face and sing the song as part of a mammoth modern minstrel show in which Ethel Merman, Ann Sothern and George Murphy also take part.
The show is part of a ship's concert, participated in by the conspirators on their way to Egypt to claim a buried fortune.
The ensemble numbers are being staged by Seymour Felix and the story is directed by Roy Del Ruth. "Kid Millions" is a United Artists release.
