SOCIETY voiced its approval of polo last Sunday when hundreds visited the Rolling Ridge field to see the Rolling Ridge team play the Iroquois Hunt and Polo Club team of Lexington, Ky. From open roadsters, limousines and sedans spectators looked on in cartwheel hats and smoked glasses. Horns blared when the local team made its scores and when players made spectacular drives down the field.

Conrad Ruckelshaus was No. 2 man on the team and between chukkers he wrapped himself in a heavy black and white plaid coat and canary yellow scarf. His father, John C. Ruckelshaus, watched the game with another son's wife, Mrs. John K. Ruckelshaus and son Jackie.

Mrs. Samuel B. Sutphin saw her husband make the two goals for the Rolling Ridge team. She talked to her son, Dudley V. Sutphin, also a player, and watched the proceedings "behind the scenes" between chukkers.

Fred Sharp, former Franklin polo player, attended the game with Miss Martha Wheeler, who rides his hunters and jumpers in show events.

Spectators from Lexington were Mrs. Leo Butler, Mrs. Edwards Spears, wives of Iroquois players, and Mr. and Mrs. William C. McDowell, Mrs. William Wilson exercised her wire-haired terrier, Tresca, during the rest periods of the game.

Mr. and Mrs. William Krieg watched the game and cheered enthusiastically.
