BABY LOVED BY NURSE IS SENT TO ORPHANAGE

Woman Released on Bond
Pending Report From Minneapolis.

Juliet Korth, 2-year-old blue-eyed, curly-headed baby for love of whom Mrs. Mabel C. N. McCane wandered over the middle west for a year and then endured arrest here, was placed in the Indianapolis Orphan's home today as a ward of the municipal court, before which vagrancy charges against Mrs. McCane are pending.

At the same time Mrs. McCane, buxom, 30-year-old proprietor of a Minneapolis (Minn.) maternity hospital, was released on bond pending a hearing next Friday. Police here are awaiting arrival of information from Minneapolis authorities.

Mrs. McCane was arrested on Wednesday night after police here had learned of her travels from Minneapolis to Chicago, to Cincinnati, to Indianapolis, and had heard reports that she feared she would be forced to return to Minneapolis and that the juvenile court there might take the baby from her.

Mrs. McCane, who was working as a nurse when she was arrested, is said to have had custody of the Korth baby since shortly after its birth in her hospital, though legal guardianship never has been awarded to her. She is said to hold an agreement from Juliet's mother, giving the baby to her.

WATER YOUR TREES. URGES ENTOMOLOGIST

Borer Menaces Timber Throughout
State, Says Wallace.

Trees of the state must be well watered if they hope to defeat the attack of a tree borer now prevalent in Indiana, according to Frank N. Wallace, state entomologist, today.

Newly planted trees are especially susceptible to the borer. The long dry summer has sapped the newly planted trees of their vitality. Strong, healthy trees are better able to resist the pests, Mr. Wallace said.

Frank J. Boatman, local civil service head, announced that other available positions open are senior biological aids and assistant leader in the predatory animal control service, both paying $2,000 a year, and chief economist in the bureau of labor statistics, paying $5,600 a year.
