

ARKANSAS AND ALABAMA LEAD MURDER POLL

States Top List in Survey by U. S. Department of Justice.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Chances of being murdered apparently are greatest in Arkansas and Alabama cities and least in Maine, Vermont, Rhode Island, South Dakota and Nevada.

This was indicated today by a compilation by the department of justice division of investigation of crime reports from 1,307 cities for the first six months of the year.

The report also showed that hundreds of killers and other dangerous criminals are being turned loose by parole boards and other agencies. In a tabulation by states the highest rate in the country for murder and the more serious types of manslaughter was recorded for the reporting Arkansas cities, with a rate of 17.6 per 100,000 of population. Alabama was second with 17.3.

During the six months, reporting cities in Maine, Vermont, Rhode Island, South Dakota and Nevada had no murders. New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Wisconsin reported a rate of less than 1 per 100,000.

For the entire group of 1,307 reporting cities, there were 1,840 murders during the six months, giving a general average rate of 3.2 per 100,000 of population. The same cities reported totals of 1,642 cases of manslaughter due to negligence, 1,380 criminal assaults, 22,711 robberies, 90,961 cases of breaking and entering, 174,747 larcenies, and 69,087 automobile thefts.

In general the picture of crime conditions presented in these figures showed little change from recent years. Robberies and automobile thefts have declined materially, but other offenses continue at a high rate.

DEPUTY SHERIFF ACTS AS 'LADY BOUNTIFUL'

Daughter of Pennsylvania Official Popular.

By United Press
SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 18.—Miss Elizabeth Williams is one deputy sheriff who is welcomed with open arms by the poor of Lackawanna county.

Appointed by her father, Sheriff George Williams, at a salary of $250 a month, Miss Williams earned $25 the first three days she was on the job—and spent $170.

Of that sum, $100 went to pay a judgment against a woman whose husband had been killed a year ago in a mine accident. Miss Williams had been ordered to sell the woman's furniture to satisfy the judgment, but she couldn't bear to see the woman dispossessed.

Then she also came to the aid of a woman whose sewing machine was reclaimed by the company because back payments were overdue. Because the woman's sole support of her family depended on her sewing, Miss Williams spent $70 for another machine, which she had delivered to the woman's home with her compliments.

GOLD SOUGHT IN TRY AT SUNKEN TREASURE

Century Old Ship May Have to Be Dynamited.

By United Press
HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 18.—An attempt to wrest treasure from the hull of an unidentified ship which sank off Portuguese Cove, near here, a century ago, is to be made by a party being organized by C. S. Gould.

The ship lies in an inlet near the entrance of the Halifax harbor. Reports that a fortune in gold lies in the vessel's hull have been confirmed by the recovery recently of a quantity of the precious metal by a lone diver.

The diver said the wreck is hard to reach and will have to be broken up with dynamite before the treasure can be taken out.

CUSTER'S FRIEND DIES

Guard Against Prowlers at Home of 80-Day-Old Dionne Quintuplets

Every day is wash day at the Dionnes'. Here is the unpainted and simple frame house that holds the medical marvel of the day . . . with the plentiful washing of baby garments that hangs perpetually before it . . . Notice the woodpile plentifully stacked up in the foreground. . . . It takes a lot of stove wood to keep the improvised hospital at a constant temperature of 75 degrees.

By Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance

CALLENDER, Ont., Aug. 18.—Special precautions are being taken to guard against prowlers at the weather-beaten cottage which houses the Dionne quintuplets. The little frame home on the winding Callender-Corbell road is being illuminated at night and a special guard is maintaining an all-night vigil.

Four gasoline lanterns are hung from the house corners, under orders of W. H. Alderson, Red Cross executive and one of the four legal guardians of the 80-day-old sisters.

Several warnings against kidnappers have been received. Electric lighting service would cost $3,300, an Ontario hydro survey showed. The hydro commission has no funds to provide this equipment.

Other equipment for up-to-date child-rearing continues to arrive. A manufacturer has sent five little metal beds for the little hospital that is being rushed to completion. Woolen blankets and tiny mattresses have been sent, too.

Indiana in Brief

By Times Special

PITTSBURGH, Ind., Aug. 18.—Plans are under way for the observance of Pittsburgh's centennial on Sept. 28 and 29. The celebration is being sponsored by the Pittsburgh Study Club. Mrs. Frances Fisher, club president, has written an historical pageant for the occasion. The pageant will be given Friday evening, Sept. 28, and Saturday afternoon there will be a parade exhibiting floats and antiques. Saturday afternoon there will be a home-coming gathering devoted to historical reminiscences. The pageant will be repeated Saturday evening.

Miss Eva Peabody is general chairman, and Chester Parker is chairman of the historical committee. George Wall has charge of finances and Mrs. Helen Williams will direct the pageant.

Nearby towns have been invited to participate and many former residents from outside the state are planning to return for the festivities.

Urge Temporary Silos

By Times Special

LAFAYETTE, Aug. 18.—The use of temporary silos by Indiana farmers to provide a ready means of conserving the entire corn crop for feed during an emergency of food shortage is advocated by S. A. Anderson, of the division of agricultural engineering of the Purdue university agricultural extension department.

As a temporary silo, the trench silo, which is merely a long trench usually constructed by the removal of soil, but sometimes constructed partly in the ground and partly above ground, is recommended. The trench can be filled with forage crops like an ordinary above-ground silo, and the silage removed from the open end of the trench. It is pointed out that this type of temporary silo can be constructed with very little, if any, cash outlay.

Complete instructions have been prepared for the construction, location, filling, covering and removal of silage from the trench type of silo, and may be obtained from county agents or by addressing Purdue university agricultural department.

Hunter Has Close Call

By Times Special

HAMMOND, Aug. 18.—Fred Morton, local printer, who recently decided it would be good fun to bring his 3-year-old son along on a hunting trip today owes his life to a metal cigarette case which he carried in a pocket over his heart. All day the youngster had experienced a desire to shoot off his daddy's gun, but his parent ruled against him.

Opportunity came when Mr. Morton was standing alongside his car leaning on the rifle stock. The youngster, who was seated on the running board, reached over and pulled the trigger. The bullet pierced the cigarette case but failed to penetrate the chest, merely causing a slight bruise.

Factory to Open

Finds Tarantula

By Times Special

ROCHESTER, Aug. 18.—While trying on a suit of clothes recently returned from the cleaners, Ray Petty, Fulton, discovered a tarantula in the sleeve. He captured the huge, poisonous spider which made no attempt to harm him and imprisoned it in a fruit jar. Later it died from the effects of too much sun, the jar having been left on a window sill in line with the sun's rays.

NARCOTICS VIOLATOR SENTENCED TO FARM

Six Month and $100 Fine Given Prescription Forger.

A six months state farm sentence was begun yesterday by Percival R. Deighton, 72, of 309 East Ohio street, who was found guilty Thursday in municipal court four of violating the state narcotic law.

It was charged that Deighton forged a prescription to obtain narcotics. He was fined $100, in addition to the prison term. Deighton, police said, admitted serving prison sentences on similar counts.

CHEVROLET CO. HEAD INSPECTS PLANT IN CITY

President M. E. Coyle Is Busy Man, Reporter Discovers.

"Industry is a simple formula of buying commodity and labor, fabricating a product and selling above cost," said M. E. Coyle, pleasant, hard-working president of Chevrolet Motor Car Corporation, visiting here yesterday.

An energetic, soft-spoken executive who has a complete grasp of his company's activities by personal inspection, Mr. Coyle visited the offices of the Chevrolet Commercial Body Division, 1100 West Henry street.

"An executive can not expect to control or understand his business from an office in Detroit," Mr. Coyle said.

Asked to predict the future of the automotive industry, Mr. Coyle smiled and said, "It is almost impossible to prophesy correctly the future. Industry has new standards and problems. However, I may say that our business for 1934 was above that of 1932 and 1933 and probably will top that of 1931."

Mr. Coyle carefully went into various phases of the industry supplying from an accurate memory details that would escape the ordinary person.

His day is longer than that of the laborer, for Mr. Coyle worked late at night interviewing local Chevrolet officials and was up for breakfast at 7 for inspection of the Henry street plant.

Later in the day he stopped on his way to Detroit at a sales meeting at Lake Wawasee, where he will join W. E. Haller, vice-president, and general manager, and E. W. Berger, Indianapolis zone manager.

FLYING BISHOP SETS NEW RECORD IN TRIPS

Minister in Arctic Travels 1,301 Miles in Day.

By United Press

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Aug. 18.—A record in Arctic flying has been established by Bishop A. L. Fleming, popularly known as "The Flying Bishop of the Arctic."

Bishop Fleming has as his Arctic diocese an area of 3,250,000 square miles, and uses an airplane in traveling from one part of it to another.

One day he left Aklavik, flew south to Ft. Norman and then eastward over the Great Bear lake to the Coppermine, where he conducted a service. He returned to Cameron Bear, on Great Bear lake, the same day, completing a flight of 1,301 miles.

DAISIES DON'T TELL SECRETS, BUT SEATS DO

Romantic Couples Discover They Are Telling 'World.'

By United Press

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—Daisies may not tell romantic secrets, but the semicircular granite benches that form part of the Civil war monument in Fairmount Park here tell in a big way.

By some freak of construction, the benches, which are backed by high granite walls, have an echoing quality which reproduces a whisper as a fairly loud shout by the time it reaches the end of the seventy-five-foot seats.

The benches once were a popular rendezvous on moonlit nights—until the romantic couples discovered they were telling the world.

DIVORCE BAN LIFTED BY JUDGE BEFORE TIME

Ohio Jurist Changes Mind About Fall Moratorium.

By United Press

ASHLAND, O., Aug. 18.—Common Pleas Judge C. C. Chapman, who declared a "moratorium" recently on divorces until Sept. 1, has announced he might hear a few cases before then.

"There may be a few exceptional cases that call for immediate attention," Judge Chapman said, "but the majority will be delayed until fall." The jurist declared the moratorium, he said, because "too many divorce cases are being filed in the courts." He believes there would be fewer divorces if more care were taken in the issuance of marriage licenses.

Delving in the Occult

Man's curiosity about the unknown, about the future, about the mysterious, dates from prehistoric times. There never has been a race of people without its medicine man, fortune tellers, seers, prophets, crystal gazers and those who claimed special ability to foretell the future. Mankind has grown wise enough to laugh at most of these efforts. But they continue to intrigue them. Our Washington bureau has ready for you a group of eight of its interesting and informative bulletins on all phases of the occult. The titles are:

1. Astrological Horoscopes.
2. Meanings of Dreams.
3. Gems and Their Meanings.

ENGRAVERS HAIL BETTER TIMES

Union President Cites 14.1 Per Cent Gain in City Re-Employment.

Definite improvement in employment conditions in the photo-engraving industry since June, 1933, will be shown in figures that will be presented to delegates to the annual convention of the International Photo-Engravers Union of North America when it convenes Monday at the Severn.

Figures compiled under the supervision of Edward J. Volz, New York, union president, indicate that 3,143 journeymen were without employment in June, 1933, while only 2,199 were unemployed in June, 1934.

Indianapolis shows a decline from 40 per cent unemployment in June, 1933, to 25.9 in June of this year, according to Mr. Volz.

Mr. Volz's message to the delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada will point out that while the NRA codes fell far short of the effect anticipated by labor, they produced definite improvements and were almost "revolutionary" in their effect upon industry.

COURTHOUSE WOMEN GO 'BATTY' OVER NEW LUNCHEON COMPANION

The sanctity and quietude of the courthouse luncheon was invaded by an unwelcome visitor yesterday, much to the distress of female employees who were enjoying their morning coffee.

Unannounced, save for the silent flapping of its gray-black wings, a bat swooped over the heads of several women at the lunch counter.

Squeaks and screams accompanied the scurrying of high-heeled shoes as the frightened breakfast customers sought escape from the terrifying "monster."

After several wheels and dives, the bat made its exit through an open door. It last was seen flying across Washington street in the direction of the police station.

HINDENBURG-HITLER TESTAMENT VALIDITY IS DOUBTED IN PARIS

By United Press

PARIS, Aug. 18.—Doubt about the validity of the Hindenburg political testament, which was hailed in Germany as bequeathing power to the Nazi leader, was expressed today in the Paris newspapers.

"The testament contains a paragraph with reference to Hitler which perhaps is not authentic," said L'Intransigeant. "Certain correspondents seem to think it was added after negotiations with the heirs, which would explain the tardiness with which the document was published."

Le Soir said: "There was a visible added paragraph referring to himself. In inserting himself into the testament, Hitler reveals the transition toward the final stage."

"There seems to be a strange style of phrasing," said the Echo de Paris. "The codicil is much more modern than the first part of the testament."

Judge Directs Money Be Refunded to Wawasee Investor.

Guy B. Stone, Wawasee, is richer by $4,011 today by virtue of a check for that amount payable to Mann & Co., alleged bucket shop, which was ordered returned to him yesterday by Robert Coleman, judge pro tem, in probate court.

The securities firm has been under scrutiny by both federal officials and the county grand jury since it closed its doors following the death, July 17, of Milton D. Ullmann, president.

In seeking return of the check, Mr. Stone testified that he had sent it to Mann & Co. about the time it closed in final payment for 500 shares of General Electric Company stock. He said that he never had received delivery of the stock.

He testified that a salesman for the firm sold him 100 shares of G. E. stock in December at 20¢, for which he made a payment of $1,000. Later, while in Miami, he was induced to buy 400 additional shares at 20¢ on which he had a payment of $8,000. He later sent the check for $4,011 as final payment.

The check was found by Louis A. Markum, administrator of Mr. Ullmann's estate, under a blotter on a desk in the Mann & Co. office, he told the court.

He said that records of the Fletcher Trust Company show that the securities company had $36,000 on deposit from Jan. 1 until the closing day. No money is on deposit now. The Merchants National bank, Mr. Markum said, has declined to reveal how much the firm had on deposit with them without a court order.
