

U. S. JOINS IN INTERNATIONAL LABOR LEAGUE

Nation Active Member of Geneva Group for First Time.

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
Scripps-Howard Foreign Editor

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Fifteen years after its founding through the efforts of Woodrow Wilson, the League of Nations today for the first time numbers the United States among its official, active, permanent and paying supporters. President Roosevelt formally has notified the international labor organization, one of the league's most important branches, of America's acceptance of membership.

This does not constitute membership in the league. The I.L.O., as it is called, is an autonomous section of the league. But its charter comes from the Treaty of Versailles and it has a permanent secretariat sitting side by side with the league at Geneva and co-operating with it for the peace of the world.

The next step will be to appoint Americans as permanent officials of the I.L.O. and dispatches of the Geneva secretariat. Then, for the first time in history, the United States will co-operate with the League of Nations with power to vote in a branch thereof and pay its way as an active member.

Membership Is Important

Membership in the Geneva labor body, in many ways, is vastly more important than membership in the world court which sits at The Hague. The world court likewise is an autonomous segment of the league, but it prides itself upon being utterly independent, whereas the international labor organization is intimately associated with the work of the league.

In fact, part XIII of the peace treaties virtually creates a league within a league to carry out a very important part of its task.

"Whereas," says section 1 on the "Organization of Labor," "the League of Nations has for its object the establishment of universal peace and such peace can be established only if based upon social justice. . . .

"And whereas conditions of labor exist involving such injustice, hardship and privation as to produce unrest so great that the peace and harmony of the world are imperiled. . . .

"And whereas also the failure of any nation to adopt humane conditions of labor is an obstacle in the way of other nations which desire to improve the conditions in their own countries. . . .

Perkins to Represent U. S.

"The high contracting parties . . . agree to the following:" What follows is a charter for a world labor League of Nations complete in itself.

It is this which the United States has just joined. All league members must be members of the I.L.O., but all I.L.O. members are not necessarily members of the league. Germany was a member of the labor body several years before entering the other.

The I.L.O. has a governing body which meets four times a year. The next meeting will take place in October. Like the assembly of the league, it has a conference annually, generally in June.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins likely will make every effort to attend either the October meeting of the governing body or the June conference.

By United Press
CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Capitalism was described as the cause of Communism by the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit priest, in an address at the World Fair last night sponsored by the American Legion.

Twenty thousand persons stood through a thunder shower in the fair's court of states to hear the priest denounce the banking system and predict that the federal reserve system will be nationalized within a year.

Heads Up! Dionne Quintuplets Pose for Their First Portraits!

Personality palm among the Dionne quintuplets goes to Marie—prettiest, smallest, liveliest of the world's most famous babies. Pert is the word for Marie. She's the type that will grow up to be an actress, say her nurses, who already are guessing at careers for the quintet.

Peaceable, steady-nerved and calm—that's Annette, second in size of the Dionne infant quintet. She just takes life in her stride and the nurses vision her as a typical farm woman, hard-working and uncomplaining as they are in the Ontario bush, but with a spark of temper.

New Area to Be Served by Trackless Car Line

Latest Type Trolleys to Inaugurate Service Tomorrow.

With the opening of the South East street trackless trolley line tomorrow morning, Indianapolis Railways will give service to a section of the city formerly not provided with transportation facilities, James P. Tretton, general manager, announced today.

The new line will be combined with the Northwestern avenue route to form a cross-town line, known as the Northwestern-South East line. The new line will run south on South East street to Garfield park, replacing a part of the present Garfield park street car line.

The Madison avenue section of the old Garfield park line will continue to be used, but service will terminate at Lincoln and East streets. These cars will be known as "Lincoln" instead of "Garfield Park" as they have been marked in the past.

Arm Broken in Accident

What's the Best Thing For My Complexion?

"But," you say, "how can a tablet, taken internally, improve my complexion?" The answer is, that, "pimples, blackheads, sallowness, blotches and the like, are not surface conditions, therefore cannot be remedied with external treatments."

These conditions are due to impurities in the blood system, therefore, THOR'S VITAMIN B COMPOUND does correct them, because it goes right to the seat of the trouble. The blood is purified. THOR'S VITAMIN-B COMPOUND

Grave and circumspect, Cecile is one of the quietest of the quintuplets, joining only mildly in the clamor that goes up as mealtime approaches in the Dionne nursery. Of the unworried type that takes things as they come, one could imagine her a nurse when she reaches womanhood.

Least imperious of the five little Dionnes is Emelie, demure, self-contained, last to cry at mealtime, a plain little creature with tilted nose and narrow chin, but with a charm all her own. When the nurses who guard her so carefully look at her, they say, "Likely she'll be a nun."

Heaviest and sturdiest of the Ontario quintuplets is Yvonne and already she seems to "know her strength." A self-assured child, she expresses herself forcibly and demands her right when feeding time rolls around. She's the kind of baby who should grow up to be a strong farm wife.

Willie Mason Escapes From Noblesville Jail

Leads Four Others in Flight; Bars Are Cut With Hacksaw.

burst of machine gun fire, which cut down Sergeant Jones. The squad unwittingly had interrupted a holdup.

Sergeant Jones staggered across the street and died on the sidewalk.

The bandits escaped through the barn and ran west toward College avenue. There, they commandeered a taxicab. The patrolmen with Sergeant Jones shot at them several times. None of these shots are believed to have been effective.

Mason was captured near Covington, Ky., in a luxurious gang hang-out in a typical southern mansion. He had a festering leg wound at the time. Police believe this was received in a brush with Louisville (Ky.) police, but never were able to make Mason admit this.

The expense of amputating Mason's leg and of providing him with a wooden leg was borne by Marion county. Police believe this wooden leg may make his detection and capture easier.

The escaped prisoner was accused by police as being leader of the band of criminals accused in the car barn crime, where a comparatively small amount of money was obtained. The same gang was blamed for a series of holdups here and, police said, they escaped from Indianapolis after the Jones killing in an auto stolen during the holdup of a North Meridian street garage.

The car which the gang was forced to leave in the car barns with weapons and ammunition.

Fred Adams and George Schwartz were arrested as members of the gang along with Mason, Giberson and Dean. Adams and Schwartz pleaded guilty and were given life sentences.

Sheriff Is Contradicted
Sheriff Frank Hattery's story of his anxiety to get rid of Willie Mason was contradicted here today by County Prosecutor Herbert Wilson, who said that Hamilton county not only had insisted on keeping Mason, but also had attempted to regain custody of Ernest (Red) Giberson after the latter's recapture in Cincinnati.

Mr. Wilson said the sheriff pleaded with him, with Chief Mike Morrissey and with Sheriff Mike (Buck) Sumner for the chance to take Giberson back to Noblesville so the sheriff could "vindicate" himself.

Shortly after that, the prosecutor said, he asked the prosecutor's office in Hamilton county to aid in obtaining Mason's return and was told that the return would be impossible until Marion county settled its bills with Hamilton county for Mason's trial and jail stay.

Dean Trial Sept. 10
Criminal Judge Frank P. Baker returned to his office today after a vacation and announced that the trial of Edward (Foggy) Dean, alleged trigger man in the shooting of Police Sergeant Lester Jones, and accomplice of Willie Mason, would be held Sept. 10.

Mrs. Nicoli, for many years active in church and philanthropic work in Indianapolis, was born near Hamilton, O., and came here with her family in 1874. As a young woman she became a member of the old Third Presbyterian church, predecessor of the present Tabernacle church. She was a teacher in the Sunday school several years. Her husband, Lew Nicoli, to whom she was married in 1879, is an elder of the church.

Surviving Mrs. Nicoli are the husband, a son, Harry Nicoli, both of Indianapolis, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Compton, Columbus, Ind.

Mr. Campbell, a retired locomotive engineer, had lived here fifty years. He was born in Guilford and entered the Big Four railroad service when he was 21. He was chaplain of the local chapter of the B. O. E. O. of Locomotive Engineers, and attended the Presbyterian church. Surviving him are a step-son, a half-sister and two half-brothers. His wife, Mrs. Catherine C. Campbell, died March 1.

TINY TUMOR ON QUINTUPLET'S LEG IS HEALING
Complete Cure Expected As Result of Radium Treatment.

By Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance
CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 22.—The tiny tumor on Marie's right thigh is slowly shrinking as a result of radium treatment, Dr. Edmund Kelly, Baltimore radiologist, said today after an examination of the frailest of the Dionne quintuplets. The tumor first was taken for a birthmark.

"While it has not diminished to any appreciable extent in circumference, it has lost in elevation and seems to be in a receding, quiescent condition," he said. He explained this was a normal and satisfactory result of the radium treatment of two weeks ago. The growth has changed color from deep liver red to dull gray.

Dr. Kelly expects the tumor to shrink away entirely in a few months, leaving only a small white scar. If it doesn't, he will apply more radium, he said.

While not dangerous now, the growth if untreated might have led to a fatal hemorrhage.

Head Nurse Louise De Kiriline has come back to work bearing ugly red scars from burns received eleven days ago when a bottle of alcohol was ignited. "I see a great change," she said. "They're much bigger and better already. They're gaining weight. But I'll be glad when we get into the new hospital. Then we can do things right and they'll grow like mushrooms."
