Homers by Selkirk and Gehrig Put New Yorkers on Top; Rowe Wins as Detroit Splits With Boston; Cards Move Up on Giants.

BY THEON WRIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The Yankee faithful may be pardoned if they spill a tear into their soup. The past week should be recalled with sorrow by head man Joe McCarthy and his hired hands.

The pace-setting Detroit Tigers bogged down and the New York Yankees bogged down with them.

Detroit dropped four out of eight games—an average of .500. New York's average was a shade better—six wins out of ten—but on the losing side the Yankees moved step for step with the Detroiters. As a result, they are four games behind today, needing a sweep of their series with Detroit starting, Sept. 17, to get a fractional chance of overhauling the leaders.

Selkirk Clouts One

Yesterday a 29-year-old rookie, George Selkirk, and the redoubtable Henry Louis Gehrig pulled the Yankees out twice against St. Louis. Selkirk cracked a homer in the fourth inning of the opener to win, 6-5, and Gehrig's four-way blow drove a mate home in the sixth to win the second, 2-1. The game was closed out at the end of that inning due to darkness.

Schoolboy Rowe meanwhile was pitching Detroit to a shaky win over Boston, 5-4. Hank Greenberg drove in the winner in the tenth. Johnny Burnett's homer in the tenth inning of Cleveland's second game against the Athletics scored a 6-5 win and gave the Indians a double killing. Oral Hildebrand pitching the early win, 8-3.

Marty Hopkins Stars

Washington and Chicago broke even. Marty Hopkins' homer with the sacks full in the opener giving the White Sox a winning edge, 11-3, while the Senators scored a 2-1 victory in the nightcap. Dave Harris doubling in the tenth to score Bluge for the winning run. St. Louis continued to gain on the Giants in the National, taking a double header from Philadelphia, 6-1 and 7-3. Paul Dean gave only four hits and fanned ten in the opener. The Cards got a game and a half on the Giants, but still trail by five games.

Gusie Suh's Homer in Ninth

Gusie Suh's homer in the ninth gave the Pirates a 1-0 win over the Giants after Freddy Fitzsimmons and Larry French had each pitched five-hit ball for eight innings.

Reds Blanked Twice

Ray Benge and Van Lingle Mungo, the two leading men on Casey Stengel's pitching staff, each turned in a shutout over Cincinnati, Benge giving two hits in the opener and winning, 5-0, while Mungo went practically to pieces and gave three hits in a 3-0 shutout in the second game.

Chicago Split With Boston

Chicago split 4-1 on Billy Jungs' homer in his death by while the home in the opener. Guy Bush, Paul Malone and Charley Root for fifteen hits and an 11-1 win in the second game. Wally Berger and Art Whitney collected homers.

They'll Be Home Early

Johnny Corriden, Chuck Klein and Mike Kelly

THE Chicago Cubs have washed up as a pennant threat in the National League and there will be no Chicago city series with the White Sox this year. Hence, the Bruin players and others will make a quick getaway to their homes this fall.

Three of the Indianapolis men on the Cubs' roster are pictured above, coaches Corriden and Kelly and outfielder Klein. Andy Lotshaw, Cub trainer, also is from Indianapolis. Injuries stepped in the way of Chuck Klein this year and it has been a poor season for the former swat king of the National League.

Phil K. Wrigley, Chicago presy, has made it known that Klein won't be sold. Rumors were heard to that effect recently. Owner Wrigley said: "We paid a big price for Klein and we don't intend to part with him after one season. He will be with the Cubs in 1935. That's definite."

Western Rough Riders Ready to Dish It Out

Pony Polo Upset of 1933 Is Recalled When Eastern Favorites Were Outplayed.

BY HENRY M'LEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Somebody suggested that I start this story with a reference to four Lochinvars riding out of the west, but I don't see how I can because Lochinvar was a lovely boy who kept his hair slicked down with bear grease, manicured his nails, never split an infinitive, and kept his trousers creased.

The guys I'm going to write about came riding out of the west, all right, but they are tough hombres who spit on their hands, use bear grease after shaving, and like a rip-roaring fight.

I'm talking about the West pony polo team which goes against the East out on Long Island Wednesday. Before the sun goes down Wednesday the customers, most of whom will be the Long Island horsey set (which means they bleed the bluest blood, pack the fattest wallets and have the best table manners of anybody in the country) are liable to be horrified, outraged, shocked and plumed upset.

FOR the West team will be out to prove that their victory over the East in Chicago last year was no fluke. You remember that series. It was the one the East accepted reluctantly—the Long Island horsey set didn't believe a team could be gotten together that could give them a scrap. Well, what happened made pony polo history.

Cecil Smith, the 220-pound cowboy from some jerkwater town in Texas; Elmer Boeske, a strapping, six-foot-five bloke from California; Eric Pedley, another Californian who looks like Mussolini; and Alden Roark, a fighting Irishman, outright, out-fought, outplayed and completely outdid the effete gentlemen from the east. They banged 'em, bunged 'em, and beat 'em. Then they banged 'em and bunged 'em some more.

THE east, home of pony polo in this country, couldn't believe it. They just couldn't figure out how this bunch of uncouth westerners, mounted on cow ponies for the most part, could whip the pick of the east, mounted on sleek, imported $10,000-a-head horses.

It will be interesting Wednesday to see how the east, three of whose players are college boys, react to the rough stuff. One member of the East team you needn't worry about. I'm speaking of Winston Guest. Guest is built like a grand piano, only a bit more substantially, and he's been through the international mill, which means he's taken bumps and falls from the best in the business. He can give it and he can dish it. But just how the others will stand up is a question.

Allison and Stoeft Play Off Bitter Struggle at Forest Hills.

By United Press

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Allison of Texas, who went all the way to England to take Lester Stoeft's place on the United States Davis cup team, today when he defeated him in their continued quarter-final round match in the men's national tennis championship.

The score stood at two sets all when they resumed their match before 2,000 spectators, and Allison won the fifth and deciding set, 6-3, for an 8-6, 4-6, 11-9, 6-8, 6-3 victory and the honor of leading the field into the semi-final round.

By United Press

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—One of the sweetest tennis scuffles the west side turf has ever seen will be resumed today. The battle was stalled by dusk yesterday afternoon. The participants are Wilmer Allison and Lester Stoeft. Allison, who comes from Austin, Tex., is second ranked American and Little Rollo Stoeft of Los Angeles is third. But Stoeft was picked over Allison on the Davis cup team, and that's what put gore on the moon.

The boys collided in the west side stadium yesterday, and the welkin rang with cheers.

The boys slammed balls for three hours through four sets. Allison got the first and third sets, 8-6 and 11-9, and Stoeft took the second, 6-4, and then came back from a 2-5 deficit to take the fourth. The officials, delighted with the popular approval, decided to save the fifth set for today, despite protests of players and crowd.

Indiana in Brief

By Times Special
NOBLESVILLE, Sept. 10.—What is believed to be Indiana's largest cucumber patch is a forty-five acre area at the south end of Noblesville, owned by Harold McMahon.

When weather permits, fifteen men are employed to pick the crop, and as many as 100 bushels have been gathered in a day. If favorable weather returns, it is believed the picking may reach 250 bushels daily.

Mr. McMahon explains that raising cucumbers is a difficult undertaking, because of the inroads of insects. He says a 50 per cent crop is about the best he expects to average.

Swimming Profitable

By Times Special
FRANKFORT, Sept. 10.—Profit of $1,000 was earned during the last summer by Frankfort's municipally-owned swimming pool. During the season of 100 days, total attendance at the pool was 44,736, nearly 10,000 more than during the 1933 season. There was an increase in attendance of both adults and children.

Sunday Beer Banned

By Times Special
GREENSBURG, Sept. 10.—This city's beer regulatory ordinance will become effective at midnight Wednesday. Most drastic of the ordinance's provisions is banning selling beer on Sunday. Sales must cease at midnight Saturday, not to be resumed until 8 Monday morning. Fines of not less than $5 nor more than $50 are set as penalties.

Long Union Nears End

By Times Special
LOGANSPORT, Sept. 10.—Mrs. Emma Hughes, wife of William Hughes for twenty-eight years, is plaintiff in a divorce suit on file in Cass circuit court. She alleges cruelty. Alimony of $1,500 is asked.
