

STATE MASONS TO STAGE TWO SESSIONS HERE

Grand Council and Chapter Will Hold Convention in City.

Seventy-ninth annual convocation of the grand council, Royal and Select Masters of Indiana and the eighty-ninth convocation of the grand chapter, Royal Arch Mason of Indiana, will be held at the Masonic temple here Oct. 16, 17 and 18.

The council and the chapter, two important bodies in York Rite Masonry, have not held their convocations here since 1921.

The Marion county Royal Arch Chapter Association will be hosts to the sessions. The grand council will meet Oct. 16, and the grand chapter Oct. 17 and 18.

Former Senator James E. Watson will deliver the address at the annual convocation dinner Oct. 17. Officers of both grand bodies, visiting representatives of out of state subordinate bodies will be guests.

Committee members in charge of arrangements are Karl V. Ammerman, general chairman; Carl A. Ploch, vice-chairman; Karl C. Wolfe, programs; Carl F. Gierke and W. E. Lyst, reception; Guido Schlott, secretary; Luther J. Shirley, programs; Charles S. Murphy, hotel reservations; Joseph Hill, entertainment; A. Ross Manly, treasurer; John F. Carroll, council banquet; Clayton C. Marsh, publicity; and Mrs. Carl A. Ploch, Mrs. Stanley G. Myers, Mrs. Fred R. Clark, Mrs. Edward B. Raub and Mrs. Charles S. Murphy, entertainment for women.

Indiana in Brief

EDINBURG, Sept. 29.—Mrs. Jane Records Clarke will hold open house Tuesday at her home in the Mt. Auburn community, north east of here, in celebration of her one hundredth birthday. She has asked friends and relatives to call.

She is a daughter of William Records, one of the pioneers of Shelby county, who before locating there cleared sufficient virgin forest near Columbus to provide a site for a home and small farm. In the home, a log cabin, Mrs. Clarke was born.

Free School Set LAFAYETTE, Sept. 29.—A fire school will be held at Purdue university Oct. 2, 3 and 4, when members of the fire departments throughout the state will see demonstrations of all phases of fire fighting and salvaging damaged property. The school is under joint auspices of the university and the state fire marshal's office.

Socialists File Tickets COLUMBUS, Sept. 29.—Socialist party candidates will have places on the Columbus city and Bartholomew county ballots in the November election. The city ticket, complete except for a second ward councilmanic candidate, is led by Walter F. Santisteban, who aspires to be mayor.

Heading the county ticket is Samuel Thornburg, candidate for state representative. There are no socialist aspirants for prosecuting attorney and surveyor.

RODEO BRONCOS GETTING 'MEAN'

Steers Are Also Harder to Manage, Riders Claim; Blame Weather.

There were complaints from both cowboys and cowgirls last night at the Indiana state fairground coliseum, where the world's championship rodeo series is being conducted, that the broncos and steers were "gettin' mean."

The cause for the change in the animals' temperament was attributed to the sudden drop in temperature. But the riders rode just as hard as in the two previous performances.

Winners in last night's contests were:

Shorty Hill, bareback bronco riding; Opal Elliott, cowgirls' bronco riding; Herman Linder, cowboys' bronco riding; Bill Bickley, steer riding; Gene Ross, steer wrestling; and Elmer Pardee, calf roping.

Competition will be close during the next three days of the rodeo, according to John Birdsong, business manager of the show, since the riders are entering the home stretch of this part of the series, and no one contestant has attained any definite lead on the field.

DE PAUW PLAYS HOST OCT. 19-21 TO JOURNALISTS

Scripps-Howard Executive, John H. Sorrells, on Program.

GREENCASTLE, Ind., Sept. 29.—John H. Sorrells, New York City, executive editor of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, will be among the outstanding newspaper men to appear here Oct. 19 to 21 at the national convention of Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity, on the De Pauw university campus.

At a luncheon Saturday, Oct. 20, celebrating the founding of Sigma Delta Chi at De Pauw twenty-five years ago, Dean Carl Ackerman of the Columbia university journalism school, will speak on modern newspaper trends.

Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago Daily News publisher, will make the principal address at the convention banquet that night. He will be introduced by former Governor Chase S. Osborn of Michigan.

Guid Discussion Listed On the opening day of the convention, Tom Wallace, Louisville Times editor, will speak on "Is Journalism a Profession or a Mistake?" Jonathan Eddy, American Newspaper Guild executive secretary, will discuss "The Guild—What It Stands For, Where It Is Going," and Steven G. Noland, editor of the Indianapolis News, will answer with "Is the Guild the Answer?"

Following the addresses, Mr. Sorrells will lead a round table discussion on general newspaper problems.

Kenneth G. Hogate, New York Wall Street Journal editor, also is on the program. Mr. Hogate formerly lived in Danville, Ind.

Founders to Be Honored Convention delegates and newspaper men will be entertained Friday night at the Athenaeum in Indianapolis by alumni chapter members. The program is being arranged by Eugene R. Clifford of the Indianapolis Star; Griffith B. Niblack of the Indianapolis News, and William H. McGaughey of the De Pauw chapter.

The journalistic fraternity plans to celebrate its silver anniversary by honoring nine of the living founders at a special ceremony.

Eugene Pulliam Jr., De Pauw chapter president, is a son of Eugene Pulliam, editor and publisher of the Lebanon Reporter, one of the nine.

BASH OFFERS SHIPMENT OF DUTCH TULIPS

Both Standard and Newest Varieties Included in Importation.

To obtain those beautiful tulip blooms in the early spring it is necessary to plant the bulbs during the fall. Bulbs may be planted all through October and November, but those who plant early run less chance of encountering bad weather.

Bash's Seed Store Company, 141 North Delaware street, announces the arrival of a shipment of imported Dutch tulip bulbs, containing more than 100 varieties of the finest tulips, and undoubtedly the largest selection coming into Indiana.

All the popular varieties are included along with many new varieties which are certain to give the growers a real thrill when they bloom next spring.

Some varieties of particular interest are Fantasy, the popular Parrot type tulip which is very large, ruffled, and resembles the Oriental poppy; Miss Blanche, a true pure white Darwin; Monsieur Meisel, the multiflora type tulip which produced several blooms on one spike; Indian Chief, a new and exceptionally tall and large tulip; and Sirene, the lily flowering type.

It is unnecessary to order bulbs out of the city as Bash's undoubtedly can supply the variety and quantity desired in first quality bulbs.

Mr. Bash states that although there is plenty of time to plant the bulbs, it is best to purchase them now while stocks are complete.

Other bulbs for fall planting which Bash's now have in stock are hyacinths, crocus, daffodils, hardy lilies, Dutch iris and rock garden bulbs.

The Bash company also carries

High Honor Achieved by City Insurance Salesman

J. W. Schwab, Representing Indianapolis Life, Sells $1,000,000.

J. W. Schwab of the Indianapolis Life Insurance Company is an honorary life member of the Million Dollar Round Table, and has just returned from Milwaukee after attending a meeting of the group. The round table is an organization composed of individual life insurance salesmen from the various states who write a minimum of a million dollars of life insurance during a year.

Mr. Schwab is an honorary life member of the round table, an honor that can be achieved by qualifying for this group three consecutive years. He is one of a very small group of men throughout the entire United States who holds an honorary life membership.

He joined the Indianapolis Life company in November, 1928, and has been in the million dollar group since. He writes small cases as well as large ones and has insured an average of approximately two hundred persons each year. His business includes many different types of policies from the complete line of life insurance and annuities written by the Indianapolis Life. Mr. Schwab also was a delegate from the Indianapolis Life Underwriters Association to the National convention of life underwriters held this month in Milwaukee.

The production records show that Schwab's paid business for the first eight months of 1934 exceeds his entire volume for 1933.

Concerning the future, Mr. Schwab voices optimism. "The fundamentals back of life insurance, the reasons why people need it have not changed during recent years. In fact, changed conditions have intensified the need for the competent insurance underwriter. I am very optimistic as to the possibilities in the life insurance business during the years ahead," he comments.
