

Enthusiastic Committees Report Preparations for Saddle Horse Roundup

Chairmen Meeting at Columbia Club Voice Willingness to Co-operate Fully for Annual Event Oct. 14.

BY BEATRICE BURGAN
Times Woman's Page Editor

THE Indiana Saddle Horse Association, sponsor of the second annual roundup at Gregg farm on Oct. 14, is ready for the show today. Every one left the meeting of committee chairmen last night at the Columbia Club with willingness to co-operate to the extent of riding a horse bareback if that were needed to make the party a success.

Maurice L. Mendenhall, president, started the pep meeting with the gratifying announcement that the roundup for the pleasure type of horses, ridden daily on the bridle path, was the only one of its kind in the country. Incidentally, if it wasn't of the most exclusive nature, association members last night were convinced it would certainly be the most successful.

While show horses will be expected, in order to exhibit Indiana prize winners, the roundup primarily will be a sort of picnic for horse lovers; a funfest where the man who owns a horse for the pleasure he personally derives from riding it may show it in the ring against similar entries. It's to be a show, M. H. Fuller, program chairman, pointed out, in which professional riders may not compete, or a horseman may ride his favorite mount belonging to a livery stable. A pony class has been added to the program.

Gregg farm has been dressed up for the occasion; the meadows have been mowed, 120 boxes have been erected; 2,000 bleacher seats have been put in place; a show ring 300 by 400 feet is in readiness for the horsemanship, specialty and stunt events. Clouds of dust which discouraged attendance of some last year will be missing this year, as the roads are being oiled. Adjutant-General Elmer Straub has promised that traffic complications will be reduced to a minimum. Major-General Robert H. Tyndall is prepared to lead a grand parade, which will be a memorable event in the colorful day's program.

Mrs. Perry Lesh, president of the Junior League, brought her delegation of committees, which will be in charge of box, program and ticket sales and ushering. Mrs. Ewing Sinclair, general chairman of the league activities, announced Miss Sybil Stafford will be in charge of a crew of team captains for ticket sales; Mrs. George T. Parry will lead box sales; Mrs. Carl Vonnegut will oversee gate sales; Miss Josephine Madden will direct ushers and Mrs. Henry Frenzel will see that programs are available.

The reception committee has resolved to make the honor guest list representative of the industrial, social, labor and governmental life of the city.

Reports revealed every committee in readiness, waiting for a large entry list. William H. Wemmer reported food and concession negotiations; Wallace O. Lee, music; Mrs. E. Martin, attendance; George M. Bailey, judges; Clayton Mogg, prizes and awards; Pose Denning, ring steward; in general every one attending was ready for the "show to go on."

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams were there. Nathan Davis, Major J. K. Boles, Mrs. William Low Rice, Samuel R. Harrell, Mrs. Mendenhall, Alex Metzger, J. R. McNutt, Earl W. Kiger, Mrs. Charles Cropper, Don Bone and Charles Latham were among the workers on hand.

CHAPTER LUNCHEON TO FETE PRESIDENT.

Mrs. John F. Ruppert, president of Australian chapter, International Travel-Study Club, Inc., will be honored by members at a luncheon next Tuesday. Mrs. Ruppert will be assisted by Mrs. Chester Castor and Mrs. Vaughn Cook.

Mrs. Frederick Ray will read a paper on "Principal Eastern Cities"; Mrs. A. C. Broecker, a talk on "A Trip to the Rockies" and Mrs. Woodring, "News of the World." A new member, Mrs. R. H. Stewart, will be initiated.

Sororities

Delta chapter, Phi Sigma Tau sorority, will entertain with a card party Saturday in Ayres auditorium. A style show will be presented. Misses Margaret Moylan, Athalene Gascho, Irene Losh and Mrs. Dorothy Ali will be in charge.

Alpha chapter, Omega Nu Tau sorority, will hold installation services tonight for Mrs. R. C. Morgan, president; Mrs. S. C. Johnson, vice-president; Miss Edith Hulse, recording secretary; Mrs. George F. Callahan, corresponding secretary; Miss Eloise Amacher, treasurer; Mrs. Russell Wattleworth, representative; Miss Mildred Wabnitz, society editor, and Miss Nellie Larkens, sergeant-at-arms. Dinner at the Antlers will follow.

Grand officers of Theta Mu Rho sorority will be elected at a joint meeting of Alpha and Beta chapters of the sorority tonight at the home of Mrs. Ellsworth Stucky, 2246 Bellefontaine street. Plans will be discussed for a supper to be held for rushees Sunday at the home of Miss Florence Schaffner, 412 Dearborn street.

Miss Mildred Hunter, 1063 Cotage avenue, will be hostess for a meeting of Sigma Sigma Kappa sorority at 8 tonight.

Miss Madelyn Rardon, 3938 Graceland avenue, will be hostess tonight for a meeting of Lambda Gamma sorority.

Chi Beta Kappa sorority will hold a business meeting at 8 tonight at the home of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Mildred Benton will preside.

Alpha Nu chapter, Alpha Zeta sorority, will meet at 8:15 tonight at the Y. W. C. A. Miss Mildred Benton will preside.

Mrs. Brown to Speak

Mrs. Demarous Brown will lecture on "The Life of Ann Hutchinson" at 8 Saturday, Oct. 13, in Speedway Christian church under auspices of the choir. Mrs. C. F. Dillenbeck, soloist, will be accompanied by Mrs. J. H. Compton during a musical program.

3XB ATHLETE'S FOOT

(Ringworm, Itching between toes)
New Discovery Ends OR MONEY BACK

Remarkable new preparation now being used in the treatment of ringworm, cooties with amazing success—attacks and kills the fungus of athlete's foot per bottle—one bottle is worth a dozen.

At All Books' Dependable Drug Stores, Haas Drug Co. and Other Leading

Owen M. Calvert, 411 Sanders Street, Indianapolis, Indiana distributor of 3XB. A product of Russell Inc., 330 Madison Avenue, New York City

The Croquignole Gigolette Permanent

An outstanding wave at an exceptional price. The choice of the amateur woman in Indianapolis. Complete in every detail.

Spiral If Desired

Pandora Oil Wave $7.00 2 for $1.33 Venetian Steam Oil $1.39 2 for $1.43 Universal Tonic $2.00 2 for $2.01

2 for $1.15 Complete

24c

BEAUTIFAI

201-202 ROOSEVELT BLDG.

RI-2930

Silk Shows Gold Thread

Guest Speaker to Be Heard at Club Luncheon

Miss Helen Allyn of the Cleveland Press, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, will be guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Woman's Press Club of Indiana at 12:15 Tuesday at the Columbia Club. Mrs. Jeannette Covert Nolan is chairman of reservations.

Mrs. Elizabeth Branson is chairman of the program, which may be attended by guests of members.

The executive board will meet at 11 with Mrs. Florence Herz Stone presiding. Announcement will be made of the date of a card party to be held in November.

MISS FLETCHER TO BE HONORED GUEST

At Miss Alberta Gerlach's party tonight for Miss Eileen Fletcher, delphinium and red roses will decorate the serving table and appointments will be in blue and red.

The marriage of Miss Fletcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Fletcher, and Howard F. Murphy, son of John Murphy, will take place at 9 Saturday morning in St. Philip Neri Catholic church.

Mrs. Adam W. Gerlach will assist her daughter with hospitalities. Guests will be Misses Irene Neill, Helen Wanner, and Betty Haley; Mesdames Margaret Wanner, Hermine C. Rembien, Herbert R. Fletcher Jr., Marvin Haley, Fred Meyers and John W. Gerlach.

MOTHERS' CLUB TO TENDER LUNCHEON

Mothers of new pledges of Delta Zeta sorority will be guests of the Mothers' Club at a 1 o'clock luncheon Friday in the active chapter house, 545 Berkley road. Mrs. C. M. Bohmstadt will describe the history and aims of the club, and Mrs. C. W. Wright will preside.

Manners and Morals

BY JANE JORDAN

Write to Jane Jordan for help with your problems. Her interest in you does not end with the first letter. If there is something which you do not understand, write again.

Dear Jane Jordan—We have been divorced going on three years, but neither of us seem to find any one else whom we particularly care about. We still care for each other, but there is no trust between us, as we are constantly accusing each other of different things. Is there any way that two people who care about each other, yet who are unable to trust to rebuild a trust and be happy together? We would like to return, but afraid of the outcome.

Dear Jane Jordan—We have been divorced going on three years, but neither of us seem to find any one else whom we particularly care about. We still care for each other, but there is no trust between us, as we are constantly accusing each other of different things. Is there any way that two people who care about each other, yet who are unable to trust to rebuild a trust and be happy together? We would like to return, but afraid of the outcome.

Answer—If I knew the nature of the accusations you make against each other I could make a more intelligent answer. Is your mistrust based upon fact or fiction? Do you lie, cheat and deceive each other, or do you torture yourself with groundless suspicions? If neither of you actually is guilty of dishonest acts, I should think you could laugh your silly troubles out of court. You could make an adult agreement and stick to it. But if you delight in punishing each other by untrustworthy behavior, I should say you are a couple of psychological misfits who stick together merely because you can't find any one else who will put up with your cruelties.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the four of diamonds.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.

The king of spades was played next, West discarding another diamond and the declarer made a nice play by trumping his good trick with the six of hearts.

A diamond was returned and won in dummy with the king and now the declarer has the ten-eight of hearts over West's ace-nine.

The lead is in dummy, and regardless of which is played, West must ruff and declarer is bound to make one of his trumps, which gives him his contract.