

LABOR READY TO TAKE ACTION ON CRUCIAL TOPICS

Reinstatement of Ousted Unions Chief Cause of Dispute.

By United Press
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—The parade of guest orators almost ended, delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention came to today's session prepared to act on controversial questions which may cause rifts in labor's united front.

Most bitter of the disputes was the one involving one of the federation's strongest units—the building trades department, to which three unions have been denied re-admission.

Also in the front ranks were efforts of the advocates of the industrial type union to steer the A. F. of L. into that field on a larger scale and the proposal of John L. Lewis, mine workers' union head, that the executive council should have a program committing labor to fight and to fight hard for the thirty-hour week, social security legislation and more rigid enforcement in the operation of the NRA. Delegates were not unanimous on this militant program. Some consider the shorter working week impracticable. There was some argument on the extent and the form the security plans—old age pensions and unemployment insurance—should have.

The building trades dispute rested presently with the committee on adjustments, to which was referred the executive council recommendations that the electricians, the bricklayers and the carpenters be readmitted to the department. The committee held hearings, weighed the arguments, and prepared to report to the convention floor. It was said the report will sustain the executive council. If the convention backs it up, the "ins" in the department may bolt.

Hearings on the 200 resolutions presented the first week are almost completed and the committee headed by Mathew Woll, A. F. of L. vice-president, was nearly ready to report. The resolutions ranging from communistic ultra-conservative propose enlargement of the executive council, criticise the operation of the NRA and take up the industrial vs. craft unions debate.

It was considered likely that one of the first reports from the committee will be on the cigarmakers' union's proposal to ensure the labor record of Clay Williams, whom President Roosevelt appointed chairman man of the new administrative setup in the NRA.

WEIRTON STEEL NRA TEST TRIAL RESUMED

Workers Summoned by U. S. to Charge Coercion.

By United Press
WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 8.—More steel workers were summoned by the government today in an effort to prove that the Weirton Steel Company resorted to coercion to keep an American Federation of Labor union out of its plant.

It was beginning of the second week of trial of the government's suit against Weirton, which is charged with violation of the collective bargaining section of the national industrial recovery act.

It is estimated the trial will last about four more weeks.

FOR COLDS

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine stops a cold and stops it quickly because it is four-fold in effect. First, it opens the bowels. Second, it checks the cold germs and fever in the system. Third, it relieves the headache and grippy feeling. Fourth, it tones the entire system. It is a safe and effective remedy for further attack. Only Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine supplies these four effects. 30c and 80c at all drug stores. Buy the 80c size as the more economical. Resent a substitute.

Indiana in Brief

By Times Special

COLUMBUS, Oct. 8.—The old St. Louis Methodist church, which celebrated the one hundred fifth anniversary of its founding yesterday, dates back to real pioneer days.

The church was formed in August, 1829, about ten years after the first white settlers came to Bartholomew county, and eight years after Columbus, then known as Tiptonia, was platted.

For eighty-four years, the present church building has been in use. Erection of the building was started in 1849 and completed the following year. Dedication speaker was the Rev. Edward R. Ames, who later became a Methodist bishop.

The Rev. A. H. Rumbley is the present pastor of the church.

FRANKLIN, Oct. 8.—Newspapers in Oklahoma directed by two former Franklin men, Davis Vandiver and Leibert J. Minor, have been adjudged the best among the six daily papers published in the state.

Mr. Vandiver is the owner of the Chickasha Daily Express, one of the papers, and Mrs. Miner is manager of the other winner, the Mangum Daily Star.

Judging was on the basis of all points accepted as essential to a newspaper's value to its community, reader and advertisers.
