

FT. HARRISON TROOPS DRILL FOR INSPECTION

Annual Event Is Saturday;
Commandant Named for Recruiting District.

Colonel Eben Swift Jr., Eleventh field artillery, Schofield barracks, Hawaii, has been transferred to Indianapolis as commandant of the recruiting district, it was announced today by Brigadier-General William K. Naylor, Ft. Benjamin Harrison post commander.

At the same time, plans for next Saturday's annual corps area tactical inspection of troops were announced. The Third field artillery and Eleventh infantry have been preparing for the inspection engaging in separate and combined maneuvers.

Major-General Albert J. Bowley will be inspecting officer.

Promotions at Ft. Harrison include: Major George S. Gay, post quartermaster, to lieutenant-colonel; Captain F. V. Edgerton to major; Lieutenant Stanton T. Smith to captain; Lieutenant-Colonel Benjamin E. Gay, on duty at Culver Military Academy, has been advanced to the rank of colonel.

Colonel Luther R. James, Eleventh infantry executive, has been transferred to Ft. Hayes, Columbus, O.

Ready for Celebration

Soldiers of the Third field artillery, stationed at Ft. Benjamin Harrison under the command of Major John K. Boles, today were polishing equipment and currying horses in preparation for an extensive celebration tomorrow of the twenty-seventh anniversary of the regiment's organization.

The celebration should have been held July 1, but the regiment was participating in summer training activities at Camp Knox, Ky., at that time.

While the history of its batteries covers more than a century of war and peace and includes such events as the firing of the first shell at Gettysburg, July 1, 1863, and at San Juan Hill, July 1, 1898, the regiment's record as such did not begin until May 31, 1907, when coast and field artillery were separated in an army reorganization. Prior to that date, the artillery had been organized by batteries and not by regiments.

Tomorrow morning's program includes athletic and equestrian events to be followed by a special dinner in all mess halls. The Eleventh infantry band will play the artillery to the post review field at 7:45 and

QUIZ TEACHER IN SLAYING OF SCHOOL CHIEF

15-Minute Loophole in Alibi
of Veteran Faculty Member Clew.

By United Press

NORTHFIELD, Mass., Oct. 22.—A fifteen-minute loophole in the alibi of a veteran faculty member was regarded as of major importance today by ace state detectives doggedly tracking the shotgun slayer of the Rev. Elliott Speer, headmaster of Mt. Hermon preparatory school.

Not a tangible clew has been uncovered since Mr. Speer was killed by a charge of double-O buckshot fired through a window of his campus home, Sept. 14.

But authorities, knitting together bits of circumstantial evidence, have concluded that Mr. Hermon's campus holds the secret of the crime.

Of chief importance in their view was the imperfect alibi offered by a prominent educator who had been interviewed repeatedly. Detectives pointed out that the quarter-hour unaccounted for would be ample time in which to commit the crime. Jealousy over Mr. Speer's rapid rise to power at Mt. Hermon and fear that his liberal ideas soon might lead to replacement of older faculty members by youthful educators, might have inspired the murder, they theorized.

SOPHOMORES LOSE

The rhinies at Butler university are on top now, as result of having won over the sophomores yesterday in a glorious free-for-all, the annual flag rush. Sophomores defending the flag pole melted when a phalanx of husky frosh swung into the battle.

Bob Hendrickson, a freshman, succeeded in climbing the pole and yanking down the sophomore flag. As a result, the freshmen do not have to wear "rhinie caps" this term.

The freshman sophomore scrap, an annual affair, was held in connection with the annual homecoming for alumni and friends of the university yesterday. A parade, dinner and dance were other features of the homecoming.

YOUTH ADMITS 33 BURGLARIES, POLICE CLAIM

Homes of Prominent Citizens on North Side
Looted, Is Charge.

Police continued today to pile up burglary charges against Thurman J. Swan, 21, of 2211 North Gale street, captured last week as an alleged looter of north side homes.

Early in the day, they announced that Swan had confessed to thirty-three burglaries, mostly of jewelry, between Aug. 20 and Sept. 13. Detectives working on his case quoted him as saying he could remember no other "jobs."

Later, however, Leo Traugott, 3615 Washington boulevard, Fair store secretary-treasurer, appeared at headquarters and identified two

Virginian Also Praises Thor's
Vitamin B Compound to Skies.

When a medicinal product is of such unusual value that scores of well-known men and women voluntarily write letters of praise about its remarkable benefits, there can be no doubt concerning its value. All over the country Thor's Vitamin B Compound, the new yeast vitamin combined with other health-building ingredients, has won enthusiastic praise.

"Several months ago my stomach went back on me and everything I ate seemed to turn as sour as vinegar," says J. R. T., well-known market manager of Atlanta. "Gas, bloating and dizziness kept me miserable. Frequently I had to knock off work during the day and lie down. Thor's Vitamin B Compound overcame my trouble entirely. I feel like it was worth a fortune to me."

From Danville, Va., Mr. H. N. P. writes, "I have used several boxes of your tablets and have gotten fine results from same. I am taking several more because I am certain they will do the work."

If you are weak, thin and run-down, suffer from acid stomach, poor digestion, constipation, auto-intoxication, worn out and irritable, ask your druggist today for Thor's Vitamin B Compound. It costs only sixty cents, and the very first bottle is guaranteed to produce satisfactory results or your money refunded (adv.)

watches as having been stolen from his home April 7.

Prominent citizens whose homes, according to detectives, were in Swan's confession list included Alexander L. Taggart, 4715 Washington boulevard; Edson T. Wood, 34 East Forty-third street; Albert F. Pierson, 7002 Park avenue; Irving Favre, 4430 North Pennsylvania street; John Hollett, 4002 North Meridian street, and Frank E. Dell, 4527 North Pennsylvania street.
