

TWO BISHOPS REINSTATED IN CHURCH FIGHT

Leaders of Opposition to Nazification Victors
Over Mueller.

By United Press
BERLIN, Nov. 2.—Reinstatement of Bishop Hans Meiser of Bavaria and Bishop Theophil Wurm of Württemberg, leaders in the opposition to Nazification of the Evangelical church, was announced officially today.

The reinstatement consolidated an important victory for opponents of Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller, and was believed to foreshadow a sincere effort on all sides to effect reconciliation.

A few hours before, it was announced that Reichsbishop Mueller, in pursuance of his efforts to clarify the church dispute, had ordered the adoption of special measures. "It is especially intended," said this announcement, "to reinvestigate all disputed points concerning the legal status of the Evangelical church. Therefore, contact has been established with the proper federal departments. It is intended that the confessional status of the Reich church shall be unequivocally stipulated. As soon as possible a decree will be issued intended to create a basis for pacification of the church through the congregations."

The announcements, together, were taken to mean that Reichsbishop Mueller would not resign, as did his lay aid, August Jaeger. But there seemed no doubt the opposition had won the victory.

The Mueller-Jaeger church government, supported by the Nazi government, dismissed Bishops Meiser and Wurm and many opposition pastors from their posts. Bishop Meiser for a time was detained under guard in his episcopal palace or his home.

Influential members of the government, and some Catholic leaders, besought Adolf Hitler intervene. He was reluctant to do so. Then Bishop Meiser was released from detention. Jaeger resigned. Hitler cancelled an appointment he had made to talk with Reichsbishop Mueller. Bishops Meiser and Wurm announced they were coming to Berlin to try to see Hitler—and he saw them.

Through it was intimated that the church dispute was strictly ecclesiastical, in which Hitler thought he ought not to intervene, Dr. Rudolf Buttman, ministerial director of the church section of the ministry of interior and a skillful negotiator, quietly became the contact man between the disputants and hope that there might be a reconciliation seemed apparent.

Asserting that the Indianapolis school board election presents a clear-cut issue, Herman K. Kothe, an attorney, addressed an organization meeting of CITIZENS SCHOOL COMMITTEE workers at the home of Mrs. Marvin Curie, 2021 North New Jersey street, last night.

The audience, comprising workers from the Twentieth ward, also heard John L. Niblack, managing director for the CITIZENS SCHOOL COMMITTEE, explain the procedure to be followed on election day. "Let us ask ourselves," said Mr. Kothe, "why we have assumed this advocacy of the CITIZENS SCHOOL COMMITTEE. For myself, I can say that I have no reason or right, nor shall I impugn the motive of any candidate who opposes the group which we are sponsoring and supporting. But let me say vehemently that I am most assured with respect to our group of candidates because I know that in their case the office sought them and not they the office."

"The issue is clearly before the electorate. Shall a group of candidates drafted by an organization composed of as representative a group of citizens as ever gathered for the purpose of doing a public service, administer the affairs of our school city, or shall that trust be placed into the hands of candidates who either openly assert that they represent special interests or espouse their own cause?"

Discussing the election day proceedings, Mr. Niblack pointed out that all voters should demand, after certain their machine vote, the separate school ballot from election officers in event it is not handed them upon entering the polls. "No party emblems or any other designations appear on the ballot," he explained. "The voters will have to pick out the names of the five candidates and mark a cross in the square following each name. This will be done with an official blue pencil which the election officers will furnish."

The automobile committee of the CITIZENS SCHOOL COMMITTEE met at the Illinois building headquarters of the organization this morning to arrange for the use of automobiles election day. The committee is headed by Mrs. W. E. Tinney, chairman, and includes Mrs. Nellie Wangelin, Mrs. Howard Meeker, Mrs. Fletcher Hodges, Mrs. Robert Mason, Mrs. H. P. Willwerth and Mrs. J. W. Thompson.

Workers of the Thirteenth ward will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. Fred Krampe, 1439 South Alabama street, to receive final instructions for election day. A tea for Negro
